Chinese Drive Shifts Battle Front Back to Shanghai Zone

Americans and Other Aliens Placed in New Jeopardy

JAPS CHANGE PLANS

Foreign Communities Endangered by Bursting Shrapnel

Shanghai (Saturday) —(AP)— The imperial Japanese third fleet, stung by the might of Chinese counter-attack, today proclaimed stern punitive action to "terminate Chinese activities in Shanghai."

The ominous and cryptic warning said merely that the Chinese activities would be summarily "terminated" and that Japanese objectives would be "furthered."

Friday's new maelstrom of shell-fire and shrapnel prompted French authorities to give blunt notice that they expected both sides to curb hostilities during evacuation of 650 French and American refugees.

While Japanese planes droned over the city dropping bombs on Chinese Pootung across the Whangpoo, French and consular and military officials prepared to safeguard the refugees down the river to the French liner Sphinx.

The Sphinx is scheduled to sail at 8 a. m. Many Americans have booked passage.

Shanghai — (AP) —China's armies surprised Japanese tonight with a smashing counter-offensive which shifted Shanghai warfare back to the city proper and placed in new jeopardy the lives of Americans and other foreigners.

The Chinese attack stalled Japan's long promised "big push" and forced a revision of Japanese strategy.

Chinese big guns and machine-gun nests sprayed shells and bullets on Japanese warships and troop transports. Eight Japanese transports fled downstream.

Shells crashed into the international settlement and the French concession. Shrapnel burst over the foreign communities.

One projectile struck the roof of the second United States marine battalion barracks, but failed to explode. Marine officers said it was a one-pound anti-aircraft projectile.

Cruiser Endangered

A heavy artillery shell burst at the junction of Peking road and Shanghai's bund in the international settlement. Shrapnel burst about the U. S. cruiser Augusta.

Even greater danger loomed for the Augusta and other foreign warships. A Japanese naval spokesman announced Japanese ships would fire across the foreign naval contingent lying in the Whangpoo in punitive bombardment of Chinese artillery positions.

Chinese gunners showed surprising improvement in marksmanship. They scored three direct hits on the Japanese consulate, seriously wounding three Japanese consular police and one Japanese newspaperman.

Many Japanese bluejackets on shore and on shipboard were killed or wounded.

Two big shells plumped into Bubbling Well road, one of them at the entrance of the world famous Shanghai Race club in the heart of the city. It wounded a British volunteer and two Chinese. Another shell fell next to the Italian consulate.

Shell Wounds 11

A heavy artillery shell exploded in the international settlement at the junction of Peking road and Shanghai's bund. Crossfire from Chinese and Japanese batteries sprayed about the Augusta.

Police estimated 11 persons were wounded, 2 seriously, by the shell which struck the foreign business district. Settlement authorities closed the bund and waterfront to traffic.

Shrapnel fell over a wide area, including the section containing the British consulate. At nightfall, six Chinese were wounded by shrapnel bursting over the French concession.

Chinese machine gun nests at Pootung, across the Whangpoo from Shanghai, peppered the decks

Chicagoan Tells Sheriff 2 Men Kidnaped His Wife After Robbing Him of $60

Tavernkeeper Fires at Burglar; Kills His Son

Chicago —(AP)— Jacob Duda, 63, heard a window shater in his tavern early today, fired one shot at two men standing outside, called police and went back to sleep.

Four hours later his son, Alexander, 29, was found dead of a bullet wound on a railroad embankment nearby. Police said he evidently had collapsed in flight.

Officers found the ax which the two men had used to break the window and seized a youth they said was Alexander's companion.

Dura became hysterical at news of his son's death.

Captain Martin Wojciechowski said young Duda was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of burglarizing the home of a neighbor.

The father said he had been sleeping in his tavern because it was burglarized several months ago.

Elkhorn, Wis.—(AP)—State and federal officers investigated today the reported kidnaping of the wife of a Chicago handbook operator.

Elkhorn, Wis.—(AP) — Sheriff Joe Dorr of Walworth county said today a man who described himself as John Borcia, 37, of Chicago, told him two young men in a sedan crowded his automobile to the side of the road last night, robbed him of $60, and at the point of guns forced his wife, Olive, to drive away with them.

The abduction took place about 11:45 p. m. south of Lake Geneva, Dorr said Borcia had stated. The men were between 25 and 27 years old, and drove a two-door sedan bearing Illinois license plates, Borcia told the sheriff.

Police in Milwaukee county broadcast descriptions of the men and their automobile from information supplied by Borcia.

Borcia said he and his wife had driven up from Chicago to visit Mrs. Borcia's mother, Mrs. James Goudi, at her summer home on the south shore of Lake Geneva. The couple was out riding when the holdup took place.

Demanded $5,000

Borcia told the sheriff the men, after taking $60 from him, asked him if he couldn't raise $5,000. When he said he could not, they told him:

"Well, we'll just take your wife along; you'll hear from us in a few days."

The robbers took the keys to Borcia's automobile and told him he would find them down the road. Borcia said he found the keys two blocks away.

"Don't report this to the police or we'll kill you and your wife both," Borcia said the robbers warned.

Borcia, who told the sheriff he operated a handbook in Chicago, said he did not know the robbers, and expressed the opinion that the abduction had not been planned. He said he believed that, disappointed at the amount of money they obtained from him, they decided upon the kidnaping when they learned his identity.

The sheriff sent patrols to nearby highways in an effort to find some trace of the robbers and their captive.

Hong Kong Harbor And City Strewn With Wreckage

Bodies Washed Up Along Waterfront; Large Ships Tossed Inland

Hong Kong—(AP)—Typhoon-battered Hong Kong today was a city and harbor strewn with wreckage, with bodies washed up along the waterfront and great ships pitched crazily inland.

The typhoon roared northwest, leaving a death toll ranging from 300 upwards. It was expected to strike the China coast midway between Amoy and Foochow, probably swirling on in proximity to bloody Shanghai. High gales still blew here.

The storm's havoc greatly accentuated the misery in this city packed with war refugees and fighting a cholera epidemic in which two-thirds of the cases have been fatal.

Canton was hit. Many ships were beached here and on nearby islands.

Among the shipping sunk was the hulk of the American yacht Shenandoah III, once owned by the American Millionaire, Gibson Fahnestock, and known then as the world's most luxurious pleasure craft. It was being broken up for salvage at the time.

Four men abroad were rescued, but two others were lost.

Two Foreigners Killed

The only foreigners reported to have perished were two Portuguese on a small yacht.

Several beached steamers were refloated today, one of them the Japanese liner Asama Maru, which was to have evacuated 200 Japanese. The Italian liner Conte Verde was still aground.

The storm spared the lives of 1,200 Choinese emigrant passengers abroard the Dutch steamer Van Heutsz.

Pan American airways' 2-room bungalo at the Kaitak marine terminal was demolished. Only its anchor ropes remained. The landing docks disappeared, resulting in a delay in clipper service.

There were extensive wash-outs along the Hong Kong-Canton railway. At Taipo market, 13 miles away, a huge tidal wave struck the line, also engulfing several villages. Possibly 200 residents perished.

Broken buildings were everywhere. Wreckage of hundreds of fragile Chinese houseboats was piled against the shore.

Lewis to Bid for Farm-Labor Party

CIO Leader Sees Farmers As 'Natural Allies' Of Labor

Washington —(AP)— John L. Lewis indicated today he will bid for a political alliance of farmers and labor in a broadcast address tonight.

The bushy-browed chief of the Committee for Industrial Organization said farmers were the "natural allies" of labor and added:

"Some of the means whereby labor expects to consolidate and further this natural alliance will be discussed in my speech."

Lewis' address will be broadcast by a radio network from 8:30 to 9 o'clock (central standard time).

His intimation of its character recalled his statement at the end of congress criticizing the Democratic leadership. It was interpreted by many congressmen as a threat of a third party in 1940. Senator Lundeen (F.L.-Minn.) predicted a national labor party in the next presidential election.

Lewis said he also will talk about the bloody steel strike of the early summer and mention some of "the public officials who betrayed their trust and used the forces of government against labor."

His speech will be the first of a series of weekend oratorical efforts by labor leaders which may set forth further policy in the struggle for supremacy between the CIO and the American Federation of Labor.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, will speak at Dallas, Texas, Monday.

Former Servants Fight for Estate

Maid and Butler in Late Mistress' Home Seek To Split Fortune

Goshen, N. Y. —(AP)— A maid and a butler stepped out of their servants' roles and settled down today in possession of the showplace Tuxedo park estate of their late mistress, Mrs. Julia Marshall Foster, ready to fight for the right to divide her $1,000,000 fortune.

Although the determined pair, Olivia Olsen and William Lowe, were definitely "at home," they refused to see callers. Police at the gates kept out visitors, telephone calls brought only an anonymous voice to say "nobody home." And the fashionable Tuxedo park colony gasped in amazement.

Chief fighting point in the servants' claim to all the Foster wealth, instead of the $35,000 bequethed to each in a will filed Saturday, was another will, purportedly in Mrs. Foster's own handwriting, which they offered for probate yesterday before Surrogate Charles E. Taylor.

The servants' document was dated Sept. 19, 1932, — the previous paper bore a July 26, 1932, date— and said "(I) leave all my real and personal property to be equally divided between Olivia Olsen, my maid, and William Lowe, my butler, because of their faithful service. I wish them a happy life."

Miss Olsen had been in Mrs. Foster's employ 29 years; Lowe had served her 17 years.

Suspect Facing Trial In Fatal Auto Accident

Madison —(AP)— August Haak, 88, retired grocer, died at a hospital last night soon after he was hit by an automobile while walking across a street.

The car driver fled, but police arrested Robert Busby, 24, who was found hiding in a basement coal bin several blocks from the place of the accident. Police said he admitted his car struck a man.

Busby pleaded innocent in superior court today to a charge of failing to stop after injuring a person. He was held under $2,500 bail for preliminary hearing Friday.

Busby, police said, was sentenced to the state reformatory at Green Bay Aug. 10, 1934, for 1 to 15 years on a charge of armed assault with intent to rob, and was paroled in September, 1936.

Contracts Awarded for New $1,000,000 Plant

LaCrosse —(AP)— Contracts for a new Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company plant here, the cost of which will be more than $1,000,000 when fully equipped, were awarded at the firm's West Allis headquarters yesterday.

The building, which will be 665 feet in length, will be under construction within the next week, local officials said today.

4 Destroyers Join in Hunt For Submarine

Britain Makes Bid for Unified Action by Other Affected Powers

ISSUE AT GENEVA

French Warships Already At Algiers; Soviet Ship Reported Sunk

London—(AP)—Four lithe destroyers of his majesty's home fleet furrowed a swift path toward the western Mediterranean today to help track down guerilla submarines that have terrorized international shipping with torpedo attacks.

The admiralty announced the Fury and Forester, sailing from Portsmouth, and the Fortune and Firedrake from Chatham, would join five other destroyers in a heavy concentration off Spain's east coast.

These trim warcraft will blanket a wide area of the Mediterranean about the spots where only two days ago the British destroyer Havock and the British tanker Woodford were torpedo targets. The Havock escaped; the Woodford was sunk.

The four destroyers comprised the 11th division of the sixth home fleet flotilla. The 12th division, which is the remainder of the sixth flotilla, was already on search duty off the Spanish coast—the flotilla leader Keith and destroyers Fearless, Foxhound, Fame and Foresight.

Others May Join

Naval experts said the 11th division could reach its destination in three days at forced draft or five days at cruising speed. The admiralty's speed order was not disclosed.

This direct naval action was but one point of Britain's double-barreled policy to curb the mysterious maritime outrages. The other avenue was through negotiation toward unified action by affected powers.

France, a pretty consistent ally of Britain through the troublous months of trying to keep the Spanish war in Spain, was expected to propose a method of collective action at a conference of Mediterranean powers late next week at Geneva.

France, herself deeply concerned over the threat to Mediterranean shipping and her own colonial communications, placed warcraft on patrol duty, augmenting the British naval force hunting the maritime marauders.

The French warships d'Iberville, Iphicenie and Verdun arrived today at Algiers to protect the French shipping lanes.

The situation was aggravated most recently by reports last night

Wauwatosa Wars on Infantile Paralysis

Milwaukee — (AP) — Wauwautosa joined with Milwaukee and Waukesha today in barring children from public gathering places in an effort to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis.

Wauwatosa's order barred children under 7 from churches, theaters, and Sunday schools, and from attending the opening of the fall school term.

A similar ruling yesterday by Health Officer Dr. F. M. Scheele of Waukesha ordered all children under the age of 9 to remain away from classes and public gatherings, the order to be effective until the middle of September.

Twenty-six persons were being treated for infantile paralysis in Milwaukee, three new cases offsetting three recoveries. Children under 7 were forbidden to congregate in public places by a health department edict.

Sleeping Potion Held Cause of Woman's Death

Rhinelander— (AP) —Sheriff Hans Rodd said today a report made to him by Frank L. Kozelka, Madison, state toxicologist, indicated an overdose of sleeping potion caused the death of Miss Ruth E. Schmidt, 33, of Milwaukee.

Miss Schmidt, a nurse, had been missed for several days before her body was found Aug. 21 in the woods near Rhinelander. Several tablets were found near the body.

Coroner Rudolph Carlson will present Kozelka's reoprt at an inquest late today.

PLENTY TOUGH

Gene McMahon, 13-month-old Des Moines boy, could truthfully say "I bumped my head on the sidewalk" in explaining this lovely black eye. Gene toppled from a second floor window to the sidewalk and suffered no ill effects, except this souvenir, giving him the appearance of a youthful Tommy Farr.

Alleged Slayer Of Boy Confesses Guilt to Police

Suspect Trapped While Being Questioned About Other Offenses

Boston —(AP)— By a police ruse, a 10-month hunt for the slayer of blond 5-year-old Chester Harris of Camridge was ended today. Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty said, with the confession of Joseph Pimental, 24, a tonic bottler.

Pimental who police said had served two jail sentences for sex crimes, faced arraignment today in Brighton district court on a murder charge.

Sergeant John D. Holes said Pimental blurted out his story unexpectedly, while under questioning concerning charges of three Roxbury mothers that he had molested their daughters.

Holmes said Pimental told police the boy smothered in a weedy field behind a billboard here, where he had attempted an attack.

"Yes, I killed him," Holmes quoted Pimental, "I buried him in a field and hid his clothes. Later, I went back and dug him up and buried him in another place."

The slain boy's father, slim Arnold Harris, who spent days and nights tramping Cambridge fields in search of his son after he disappeared last Oct. 30, said, "All I ask is the privilege of seeing the killer electrocuted with my own eyes. . . . I don't feel that's much to ask."

Norwegian Lutherans Seeking $1,000,000

Madison —(AP)— A conference of about 40 clergymen and treasurers from the eastern district of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America discussed here yesterday plans to raise a $1,000,000 budget for the church.

The eastern district, composed of churches east of Mississippi river and concentrated on the Atlantic coast, in Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, seeks to raise $260,000.

Among speakers at the conference were the Rev. H. O. Shursen, Minneapolis, church treasurer; Dr. Martin Anderson, Chicago, district president; the Rev. Constantine Neslande, Eau Claire, and the Rev. Einar Larson, Milwaukee.

Green Bay Man Knocked Unconscious by Icicle

Green Bay —(AP)— While Green Bay residents were sweltering in 80-degree heat this morning, Ray Rasmussen, 33, route 3, Green Bay was knocked unconscious when an icicle fell and hit him on the head.

Rasmussen was moving ice into an elevator at the Miller-Rasmussen Ice company early today. The storage room is kept at a low temperature and icicles frequently form on the ceiling. One of them suddenly crashed down on him and when he regained consciousness he found himself in the Bellin Memorial hospital with a scalp wound which required three stitches to close.

Hunt 15 Missing Men After Freighter Sinks; 9 Others Survive Disaster

Panama City, Fla.—(AP)—The story of a heroic 25-hour swim through choppy seas with the word of a steamship wreck was unfolded today while coast guardsmen pursued, with deadening hope, a search for 15 missing members of the crew of the freighter Tarpon.

The hunt unleashed by the exploit of Addley Baker, 25-year-old Mobile, Ala., oiler, resulted in the rescue of nine survivors of the crew of 29. Two Negroes drifted ashore on floating wreckage. The rescuers recovered two bodies, including that of Captain W. G. Barrow, veteran skipper who was making his 1,735th trip with the Tarpon when it foundered early Wednesday, 20 miles off East Pass in the Gulf of Mexico.

"I'd swim until I couldn't lift my arms," said Baker from a hospital bed in recounting how he covered the 25 miles to shore in quest of help, "then I'd float for a while and swim some more. The water was cold and I wondered if I could reach shore.

"I thought of my wife mostly. And I thought of my shipmates. I wondered if help had come to them.

Baker said the Tarpon had run into heavy weather late Tuesday and the freighter had been shipping seas for hours before the pumps failed. He donned a life preserver and fought his way to the

Warrant Out For Woman in Slaying Case

MAY CONFESS GUILT

Declares Victim Threatened to Shoot Her And Children

Lancaster, Wis. — ( ) — Circuit Judge Sherman E. Smalley of Cuba City, refused today to allow Mrs. Edward Heisz, mother of 12 children, to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of third degree manslaughter in the connection with the death of her husband early yesterday.

Judge Smalley appointed Attorney J. S. Earl, Prairie du Chien, as counsel for Mrs Heisz, and set no definite date for a further hearing. The judge said he believed she should have the benefit of counsel before entering a plea.

She waived preliminary hearing when taken into county court this morning and was immediately taken into county court this morning and was immediately taken to Lancaster.

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—(AP)—District Attorney James P. Cullen of Crawford county said today he had issued a warrant charging Mrs Edward Heisz with third degree manslaughter in connection with the death of her husband in their farm home, near here, early yesterday.

Sheriff Oliver White, who said the woman admitted she shot her husband upon his return from a dance at 3 o'clock a. m. Thursday and Cullen said the woman expressed her willingness to plead guilty to a third degree manslaughter charge.

Conviction on such a charge brings a penalty of two to four years.

The woman, mother of 12 children, told Sheriff White earlier her husband was killed accidentally in a struggle for the gun kept at the home.

Threatened Family

"Yes I shot him. I only wish I had done it years ago."

He said the family was impoverished and had been under the supervision of county officials because of marital difficulties.

"Mrs. Heisz said her husband came home drunk and abused her and threatened to shoot her and the children," White said.

He took a gun to bed with him. Mrs. Heisz said that when her husband closed his eyes she slipped up to the bed and pressed the trigger," the sheriff revealed.

He said the man was arrested several weeks ago on a charge of beating his wife with a whip. The case was to have come to trial at the November term of court.

White declared Heisz kept several hounds at his home, although there was only bread, potatoes and eggs in the house and no clothing for the youngest child.

Both Sides Claim They Won Battle

Spanish Loyalists and Insurgents Fight Along Aragon Front

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Border —(AP)—Both the Spanish government and its insurgent foes laid claim to victory today in a major battle of the struggle for domination of the Aragon front.

Together the contradictory reports filled in a graphic picture of combat centered on a huge circular battlefield, in a region of dried lakes about 12 miles south of Zaragoza, or midway between that insurgent stronghold and government-beleaguered Belchite.

Insurgent reports reaching the French border said a coordinated counter-offense had smashed government lines in the Belchite sector and that the Madrid-Valencia forces had been put to disordered flight.

Government reports from Valencia asserted, on the other hand, that the siege ring at Belchite had held fast yesterday and that government shock troops were already dynamiting their way house-to-house into the center of the town.

The Valencia advices told of violent insurgent counter-attack 14 miles north of Belchite, supported by massed artillery and bombing and machine gunning planes. They said the rain of shot and shell had failed to disperse the government militiamen who blocked the insurgents' path to Mediana.

The insurgent reports told of large scale use of infantry, artillery, tanks, aviation and cavalry to gouge a government salient out from between Zaragoza and Belchite—and asserted the salient had been smashed.

Two Ex-Kings Meet at Wasserleonburg Castle

Neetsch, Austria—(AP)—Two former kings—the duke of Windsor and former King Alfonso of Spain—swam, sun-bathed and chatted today at Castle Wasserleonburg.

Alfonso arrived at the duke's honeymoon retreat late yesterday for a short visit. The duke and his American-Born duchess plan to leave for Hungary about the middle of the month.

General Relief From Heat Seen For Wisconsin

Reindeer Industry Back in Hands of Eskimos, Indians

Juneau Alaska —(AP)—Coppery Indian braves and bland, round-faced Eskimos grunted satisfaction today and unlimbered their long-idle hunting rifles. The reindeer were theirs again.

By a stroke of his pen yesterday the great white father—President Roosevelt—returned to "the Eskimos and natives of Alaska" the 600,000 reindeer that roam Alaska's ranges.

The bill he signed authorized a $2,000,000 appropriation to buy up interest of the Lomen Commercial company, which for years has virtually controlled the reindeer industry.

Alaskan officials rejoiced with the Indians and Eskimos at the prospect of many years of plenty, with meat for all.

The bill also provides that ranges, slaughter houses and equipment be turned over to the natives.

Rain and Shift in Wind Promise More Moderate Weather

TWO ADDED DEATH

Little Abatement in Heat Today; Many Prostrations

Milwaukee —(AP)— Thundershowers and a shift of the wind to the north late today will snap the five-day heat wave in Milwaukee and bring general relief throughout Wisconsin, Frank H. Coleman, meteorologist, predicted.

Coleman said the weather would be cooler in Wisconsin tomorrow and Sunday. He did not predict the extent of the drop. The weather bureau based its prediction on the fact that a low pressure area was approaching from the northwest.

Meanwhile the scorching temperatures of yesterday, which caused two deaths and numerous prostrations in the last 24 hours, showed little abatement today throughout the state. Temperatures in the high 80's and the 90's were reported in many cities.

Dies in Court

Thomas F. O'Mearar, 59, of West Bend, collapsed and died in county court today. Thomas Sura, 54, of Racine, a former meat inspector, died yesterday at his home as a result of the heat.

The thermometer reached 90 degrees in Milwaukee at noon today, a southwest wind keeping the temperature up to the levels of four previous days. It was 93 in Wisconsin's largest city yesterday.

At La Crosse, where it was 98 yesterday, the temperature had mounted to 92 at noon today. Stevens Point reported 84 degrees during the mid-morning with high humidity and cloudy weather. A cloudless sky and temperature of 86 degrees was recorded at Madison, while Eau Claire reported the fall of .56 inches of rain last night and a temperature of 84 today.

93 at Noon Today

A breeze today eased the 93-degree temperature registered at noon on the roof of the Appleton Post-Crescent building and the death knell of the current heat wave has been sounded by the weather man with the prediction of showers tonight and cooler weather Saturday and Sunday.

Yesterday a maximum temperature of 97 degrees was recorded at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company and a low mark of 75 degrees at 5:30 this morning. Construction crews and trucking employes were permitted to lay off during the heat of the day and resumed work in the late afternoon and early evening.

A high humidity content in the atmosphere intensified the heat and business and household activities were at a practical standstill. Electric fans were brought into play in office and home and many persons sought relief in nearby swimming places. Picnic suppers in the various parks were the vogue last evening as residents sought cooling breezes.

One thermometer located in the sun and numbered up to 105 degrees was reported broken yesterday afternoon. Tarred spots in pavement sagged with the heat while motorists slacked to slow speeds as water in the radiators neared the boiling point.

California Woman First to Land in Bendix Air Derby

Other Starters Awaited at Cleveland Before Determining Winner

Cleveland—(AP)—Frank Fuller, second entrant in the Bendix transcontinental race to arrive, streaked over Cleveland airport at 2:50 p. m., (E. S. T.) today for an elapsed time of 7 hours and 55 minutes from Burbank, Calif., apparently a new record for the event.

Cleveland —(AP)— Jacqueline Cochran, of Indio, Calif., swooped over Cleveland airport at 12:33 p. m. (C. S. T.) today at the finish of her 2,042 mile grind from Burbank, Calif., in the Bendix trans-continental derby inaugurating the annual national air races. Her elapsed time was 10 hours, 29 minutes.

Pending arrival of six other starters in the race, for purses totalling $28,000, the winner of the derby could not be ascertained.

Miss Cochran, flying a Beechcraft with a wasp junior motor, was the only woman entry.

The record for the distance in the Bendix event is 8 hours 33 minutes, set by Benny Hoard in 1935.

By completing the event, Miss Cochran, wife of Floyd B. Odlum, head of the Atlas corporation, collected $2,500 in prize money. Her average speed was 194.4 miles per hour.

Los Angeles—(AP)—Seven fliers bid speed, courage and skill for a share in the $28,000 Bendix prize today as they streaked east across the continent with Jacqueline Cochran, only woman entrant, as pace setter.

One crash marked the staggered start, R. E. Perlick, Glendale, Calif., emerged unscathed from his ground-looping biplane at Union air terminal here.

Miss Cochran soared away at 3:04 a. m., E. S. T., the first to leave. Earl Ortman, his 1,200-horse-

Two Officers, Bandit Killed in Gun Battle

Springfield, Ohio—(AP)—Two officers and a bandit were killed, a third officer was wounded, and one bandit was captured in a gun battle today near Medway, 15 miles southwest of here in Clark county.

The shooting followed the $1,297 pay roll robbery of a Springfield cafe proprietor, who was abducted from a city street about noon. Two other gunmen escaped.

Patrolman Martin Randolph, 38, and Chief Deputy Sheriff Edward Furry, 45, were killed. Patrolman Martin Donnelly was slightly wounded in the furious exchange of shots. The dead bandit was unidentified

The cafe proprietor, Robert M. Smith, told police three bandits forced him into their automobile on a downtown street shortly before noon and carried him into the country, where they robbed him of money he had just obtained for his cafe pay roll.

V. F. W. Pick Oklahoma Man as National Head

Buffalo, N. Y. — (AP) — Scott P. Squyres, Oklahoma City, Okla., was elected national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars today. He succeeds Bernard W. Kearney of Gloversville, N. Y.

Eugene I. Van Antwerp, Detroit, Mich., was elected senior vice commander-in-chief.

The veterans voted today to ask the government to train America's 300,000 civilian conservation corps boys for national defense in the event of emergency.

Mrs. Laurie Schertle of Oakland, Calif., was elected national president of the ladies' auxiliary.

Boys Fought Like Men in Civil War, Commander Says

Madison—(AP)—C. H. William Ruhe of Pittsburgh, Pa., 87-year old national commander of the G. A. R., took cognizance today of published statements that "the Civil war was fought by boys" and commented that "it certainly was fought like a man's war."

War department statistics issued here showed that 1,151,435 youths under 18 years of age enlisted for the Civil war.

"It was pretty rough boy's play," Ruhe said after his arrival for the seventy-first encampment of the grand army of the republic to be held here next week. "Sure, they were young, but they fought like men," he added.

National heads of five affiliated organizations that will meet with the union veterans also are in the city making plans for the encampment.

Urge Motorists to Use More Caution As Schools Reopen

Students and Pedestrians Also Warned of Dangerous Traffic Habits

Reopening of schools next Tuesday today brought a warning to motorists, pedestrains and school children to use extreme caution in using highways from Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic squad. Radtke asked cooperation of motorists, students and pedestrains in keeping the city safe during the school term.

In his plea to the drivers, Radtke reminded them the speed limit in school zones is 15 miles per hour during the time children are going to and form school and during recess periods. He urged truck drivers to watch out for children trying to hook rides on the backs of slow moving machines.

Drivers were asked to keep their brakes in good condition, their windshield wipers working and their car window clean. All traffic signs should be obeyed, he said, and complete stops made wherever the signs warn drivers to stop. Safe drivers sometimes get out of their cars and become foolhardy pedestrains, the traffic officer said, as he warned against jaywalking.

Students are asked not to run out from behind parked cars or to run across the street in or at intersections. They should keep on the sidewalk and stay between the lines or on the crosswalks at intersections, Ratke said. Those who use bicycles are urged to exercise the same care as auto drivers, stopping at all traffic signals and using the hand to indicate stops, right and left hand turns. Bicycles should be used only on the roadways and should be driven on the right side of the road, the sergeant said. No more than one person should ride on the bike and the vehicles should be equipped with lights for night use, he warned.

Stunt and fast riding is dangerous and should not be attempted, Radtke explained. Bike riders should not use their machines on the school grounds, he said. Hooking rides by catching hold of the back of an auto or truck also is a dangerous practice.

"Remember hundreds of school children are on the streets. Help teach them public safety because they all watch their elders", Radtke said.

59 Motorists Lose Permits to Drive

Six Drunken Drivers From This Vicinity Included in State List

Fifty-nine Wisconsin drivers lost their auto operator's licenses during August, according to a report received by Police Chief George T. Prim from the office of Theodore Dammann, secretary of state. The list of revocations included six drunken drivers, one each from Kaukauna, Chilton, Brillion, Clintonville, Neenah and Menasha.

Also included in the report was a list of 44 drivers whose licenses were suspended. Included in these was a driver from Fremont whose license was suspended for using improper plates and one from Chilton for failing to stop and give assistance after an auto accident.

Sixty-two state drivers had their driver's license reinstated. This list included one each from Neenah, Little Chute, Appleton and New London and two from Chilton who furnished proof of financial ability and one from Waupaca whose 3-year revocation was terminated.

Debenack Is Delegate To State Labor Meeting

Charles Debenack, president and business agent of the Building Trades council, was elected a delegate to a state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor beginning Sept. 27 at Manitowoc when the council met at Trades and Labor hall last evening. Henry Bartz was named alternate.

Building Permits

One building permit was issued by the building inspection department yesterday. The permit: Elmer Desten, 1013 W. Commercial street, addition to garage, $150.

FIRE IN POOTUNG TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF LIVES, CAUSES $100,000,000 DAMAGE

This picture, flown to San Francisco from Shanghai on the Philippine Clipper, shows flames rising in Pootung, an industrial area of Shanghai, just prior to the bombing of the U.S.S. Augusta (indicated by arrow.) This photo was taken from the offices of the Associated Press in Shanghai, adjacent to the area where the disastrous fire claimed countless lives and damage estimated at nearly $100,000,000 to Chinese, Japanese, American, British and other foreign property. One sailor was killed and 17 were wounded when the Augusta was bombed on August 21.

Bohl Herd Sets High Production Record for Month

Cows Average 1,229 Lbs. of Milk Containing 44.7 Lbs. of Butterfat

Victor Bohl's herd topped the production records in the Outagamie County Holstein Herd Improvement association's No. 2 unit during August with a record of 1,229 pounds of milk and 44.7 pounds of butterfat per cow, according to a report of Leonard Eggleston, fieldman. The Fred Kaphingst herd was second with an average of 1,143 pounds of milk containing 36.5 pounds of butterfat.

Third on the list was Roy Bungert's herd with a record of 753 pounds of milk containing 31.5 pounds of butterfat. Louis Timm's herd produced an average of 953 pounds of milk with 31 pounds of butterfat to place fourth, while Edward Roessler and E. H. Knutzen tied for fifth place when their herds averaged 30.3 pounds of butterfat.

The high individual record was held by Victor Bohl's herd and the cow was credited with 1,696 pounds of milk with 81.4 pounds of butterfat. Second high record of 1,910 pounds of milk and 68.8 pounds of butterfat was in the Fred Kaphingst herd. A cow in the Arnold Lemke herd was credited with 1,125 pounds of milk and 68.6 pounds of butterfat and fourth high was found in the E. H. Knutzen herd with a record of 1,168 pounds of milk and 63 pounds of butterfat. Victor Bohl also had a cow that produced 1,789 pounds of milk and 60.8 pounds of butterfat.

The following men own cows that produced 50 pounds of butterfat or more; E. H. Knutzen 4, Victor Bohl 3, Fred Kaphingst 2, Joe Utschig 1, Arnold Lemke 1, Peter Griesbach 1, and Emil Fischer 1.

Cuts Suspension Order Against Blatz Brewery

Lansing, Mich. — (AP) — The state liquor control commission cut in half yesterday its 20-day suspension of the Blatz Brewing Co., Milwaukee, to do business in Michigan. The reduced penalty expires Friday at 5 p. m.

The commissioners agreed with counsel for the company 20 days "was perhaps too severe." The company was accused of having subsidized an Escanaba, Mich., tavernkeeper in assisting him to obtain bar equipment.

The Library of Congress was destroyed by fire in 1814, 14 years after its establishment.

Clam 'Strike' Results in Rush of Fremont Men to Little Wolf at Manawa

Manawa — The clam rush is on! Wise old clammers from that virgin mussel territory around Fremont have disregarded loyalty to their favorite stamping grounds on the Wolf river and hied themselves to a lesser known tributary, the Little Wolf river at Manawa.

When Snapper Bergstresser and Nig Verdun, a pair of web-footed veterans from Fremont, took their wives on an exploring expedition just a few short weeks ago and found a clam bed hidden away in wooded cover only a few hundred yards from the main streets of Manawa, they little knew what results would come from their pioneering.

Fremont has a button factory and for years many of its residents earned a good livelihood gathering clams in the summer time and cutting buttons from the shells during the winter months. The factory still operates at intervals but the clamming beds around the home village have become somewhat played out. Then, too, neither Nig nor Snapper had the proper equipment for clamming in deep water and both were looking for the right kind of work, which to a Fremonter means being near the river, to tide them over for the time being.

So the two natives from Fremont came to Manawa on the Little Wolf and began "pollywoggin;" which is Fremontese for the process of digging up clams out of the river bottom by hand. The water is shallow here at this time of year and "pollywoggin'" is possible. At Fremont clam bars are used to haul in the cargo and in other spots the clams are forked in, but right in this particular locality the workers have to "pollywog."

Verdun and Bergstresser gathered the clams early in the morning and floated them to the river bank in scows. Then their wives went on the job, built huge fires, and "cooked out" the clams to separate the meat from the shell. They didn't go home very often, having a campsite near the clamming grounds, but every time they hauled a ton or two of shells to Fremont, some of the natives would make embarrassing inquiries. They wanted to know where they, too, could get such a huge supply of clams, because shells sell for about $50 a ton this year, and the grounds at Fremont are becoming barren. If two couples can haul out two or three tons of shells a week—that's pretty good money in a slack season.

Despite all the precautions taken by the Verduns and the Bergstressers to keep their secret they were trailed one day by a quartet of Fremont clammers and the exodus from the town on the banks of the Wolf river to the town on the banks of the Little Wolf river began in earnest. This foursome was composed of Albert Sommers, John Kemp, Mike and Otto Gorges. They set up shop a little above the original sourdoughs and began to haul out clams from the river bottom.

Pretty soon some more Fremonters mysteriously disappeared from home and showed up at Manawa. There were Frank Spindler, Alton Billington, Art VanBoven, Cyril Looker, Dale and Foster Luedtke, Mark and Dan Mesaros, Elmer and Leland Zuehlke, Huck Brewster, Bob Pitt, Julius Prellwitz, George Brown, Harry Wellman, and even old Mose Verdun, himself, the granddaddy of all clammers along the Wolf river. Indeed, the only two who refused to desert their native waters were Art Hahn and Joe Swedesky, all that are left in Fremont of the navy that once plied up and down the Wolf river in clam boats.

Of course, the clams won't last long here at the rate they're being taken out, but the Fremonters are making hay while the sun shines, or, rather, making shells as long as they can find the raw material. Good ones, too, muckets and pocketbooks, along with the less valuable species known as squawfeet, three ridges, pig toes, warty backs, long johns, pancakes or elephant ears. These clammers have a jargon all their own, as picturesque as the rivers in which they make their livelihood.

Too, they find pockets and nuggets, fool's gold and dead claims, and he who works hardest gathers the most tonnage—if Dame Fortune brings him luck.

B. R. Goggins Dies at Wisconsin Rapids Home

Wisconsin Rapids —(AP)—Bernard R. Goggins, 79, pioneer Wisconsin Rapids attorney and senior member of the law firm of Goggins, Brazeau and Graves, died yesterday at his home after an illness of several months.

Mr. Goggins, who was born in New Holstein, Wis., was a school teacher before he entered the legal field, serving four years as principal of the high school here.

In 1900 Goggins formed his original law partnership with Theodore W. Brazeau. The firm eventually became one of the most prominent in the state and Goggins achieved a reputation as an authority on constitutional law.

Hugh W. Goggins, a son, is district attorney of Wood county.

Pension Payments Total $20,000 in County for Month

Treasurer Mails Out Checks for Old Age Assistance, Blind and Mothers

Checks for old age assistance totaling $11,578.15 were mailed out this week by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, Outagamie county treasurer. The checks represent August payments to 615 aged people, county pension records show. The county pension department's August report lists 615 persons receiving old age assistance, with three new cases added during the month and ten being discontinued, leaving 608 cases.

Mothers' pension payments to 321 cases also were sent out by the treasurer. The pension department reported addition of seven new cases and discontinuance of ten others during August. Payments to the mothers totaled $8,002.40. In addition to this amount there was a payment of $312 for medical aid.

Fifty-two blind pensions received aid during the month, toatling $1,131.99. One case was added and one taken off the list during August, pension department records show.

Fifteen renewals of mothers' pensions were granted at a meeting of the county pension committee Wednesday. Three applications were granted and five cases were discontinued. T. S. Davis, new pension admiinstrator, assumed his duties Wednesday and presided at the meeting.

Senior in College Passes Exam; Gets 8th Grade Diploma

Lambert Van Roy, route 1, Kaukauna, will enter Lawrence college as a senior this fall brandishing a grade school diploma secured three years after he was presented with a high school graduation certificate.

Van Roy wrote an elementary examination yesterday and was given an eighth grade diploma despite the fact he graduated from Appleton High school in 1934. He attended Oshkosh State Teachers college for three years securing major credits in chemistry and biology but had neglected to finish his grade school education when he dropped out of the Sixth grade at Holy Cross school at Kaukauna.

Designed for a half-day's work, Van Roy wrote the test in about two hours answering the readin', writin' and 'rithmetic questions. He left last night for Chicago, Gary, Ind., Detroit and Pittsburg where he will do research and observation work in various chemical laboratories.

A new branch of the Aid Association for Lutherans has been organized at Iowa City, Iowa, it has been announced by Alex O. Benz, president of the association. Edward Urbans was elected president.

3,000 Union Men To Take Part in Monday's Parade

Floats, Bands Combined in Labor Day Demonstration

About 3,000 men will take part in a parade Monday morning to be held in connection with the 3-day celebration at Erb park, Sept. 4, 5 and 6, by the Appleton Trades and Labor council. Gaily decorated floats and musical organizations will head the various labor units in a colorful demonstration.

The parade committee is composed of August Witzke, Charles Debenach and Herbert Mielke with Mike Steinhauer serving as marshall of the day. Nine sections will form on side streets at the west end of College avenue at 8:30 Monday morning and the parade will move eastward at 9 o'clock sharp.

Three judges have been selected to adjudge prize winning floats while the procession moves east on College avenue to Drew street, north on Drew street to North street, west on North street to Morrison street and north on the newly paved Morrison street to Erb park.

Section One

Section 1 will form on N. Bennett street with the police escort in the lead. The Appleton High school band will follow the policemen with the marshall of the day, president of the Trades and Labor council, city officials and general chairman of the picnic in cars behind the band.

Section 2 will be formed on N. Story street in the following order: common labor float, common laborers, masons, painters, and restaurant employes. The third section has been assigned to N. Badger avenue with the Eagles Drum and Bugle corps in the lead. Following the drum and bugle corps will be carpenters floats, carpenters, musicians, stage hands float, stage hands and maintenance of way workers.

N. Summit street will be the formation area of section four with the following groups in the order named: plumbers float, plumbers, firefighters, eletcrical workers float, electrical workers, auto mechanics.

Wire Weavers

The wire weavers float will head the fifth section which will form on W. Washington street facing Badger avenue. Wire weavers, letter carriers and bartenders will follow. Section 6 will form on W. College avenue north of Badger avenue in the following order: St Mary's High school band, pulp workers float, pulp workers, coopers, longshoremen, barbers float, barbers.

Section 7 has been assigned to S. Story street with the Electric City brewery float followed by brewery workers, meat cutters float, meat cutters and sheet metal workers.

The eighth section will be led by the Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps and will form on S. Pierce avenue with the bricklayers float, bricklayers, truck drivers float and truck drivers following.

Section 9 will be made up of about 75 miscellaneous floats representing local business establishments. Cars will be provided for those unable to walk the entire route and the units will disband at Erb park where picnic festivities will begin Saturday noon and continue through Monday night.

The Appleton High school band will meet at the Woman's club Playhouse at 8 o'clock Monday morning and march to its formation area on N. Bennett street.

Martha Raye to File Suit Today for Divorce

Hollywood —(AP)— Martha Raye, hi-de-ho film singer and bride of three months, will file suit today for divorce, her attorney said, charging Beautician Wallace "Buddy" Westmore with "extreme cruelty."

Attorney Vincent A. Marco's admission that the suit was prepared culminated days of denial by the wide-mouthed comedienne that she and her 21-year-old husband would part.

Marco declined to elaborate on the nature of the charges.

Westmore, youngest of the five Westmore brother makeup experts, took Miss Raye to Las Vegas, Nev., May 30, to be married. She is 20.

Explosion and Fire Take Life of Second Victim

Prairie du Chien, Wis.—(AP)—Mrs. Alta McNamara died in a hospital last night, second victim of an explosion and fire in which a daughter, Joan, 7, burned to death.

The explosion occurred Aug. 15 when Mrs. McNamara attempted to light an oil lamp in her home. A second daughter, Helen, 11, is recovering from injuries at a hospital here.

The Weather? Average in August Was 75.7 Degrees

Hot weather appears to be a chief topic of conversation nowadays and figures compiled by A. C. Braun, senior engineer of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, taken from recordings at the power plant indicate that August, with an average temperature of 75.7 degrees, was slightly warmer than July and a good deal warmer than August of 1936.

The average maximum last month was 87 degrees and the average minimum was 64.4 degrees. Figures for the corresponding period last year show an average temperature of 72 degrees with an average high of 82.7 degrees and an average low of 61.3 degrees.

In July, the average temperature was 75.1 degree with an average high of 85.9 degrees and an average low of 64.3 degrees. A high peak of 97 degrees was reached July 10 with a low of 51 degrees recorded during the month. The high point for last month wah 99 degrees on Aug. 17 and the low was 50 degrees on Aug. 22 while the high for August, 1936, was 97 and the low was 51.

With only 1.61 of an inch of precipitation reported, August this year was much drier than the same period in 1936 when 6.4 inches of rain fell. Only .91 of an inch of rain fell during July this year.

Fire Department Has Three Alarms in Hou

The fire department was called out three times in less than an hour shortly after 12:30 Thursday afternoon. Firemen put out a grass fire in the rear yard of 1326 W. Harrison street and then put out two fires in light poles, caused by high tension wires falling on the poles.

An extra silk dress at only $2 reduced from $7.95. On sale tomorrow. Geenen's.

Influence of Wisconsin Museum Now State-Wide

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Historical knick knacks, precious mementoes of Wisconsin's past, bought, found, donated and otherwise acquired over a period of 82 years, make the state historical museum one of the most interesting spots in Wisconsin for those interested in folk relics and reminders of Wisconsin's history.

Since 1855, when it began as a small glass case in the governor's office containing some Napoleonic relics, specimens of continental currency, and personal memorials of early American statesmen, the state museum has grown until today its influence and its work is statewide.

The establishment of house museums in different parts of the state has been stimulated and approved by the state museum. Historic landmarks, preserved partly through the efforts of the museum are the Tank cottage at Green Bay, the oldest house in Wisconsin, the hospital of old Fort Howard at Green Bay, the Dousman mansion at Prairie du Chien, the hospital of old Fort Crawford at Prairie Du Chien, the Indian Agency house build in Portage in 1831, the Grignon home at Kaukauna and the Governor Nelson Dewey farm home at Cassville.

Collect Folklore

Another important phase of the museum's work has been the collection and publication of Wisconsin folklore for the last quarter of a century, until now almost every nationality group in the state is represented in published booklets.

Work on preserving and marking Wisconsin Indian mounds began back in 1910, has expanded until now the museum is working with the archeological society in surveying the entire state to determine the location of such mounds in every county.

Visited by more than 100,000 people each year, who are guided through rooms filled with Indian relics, frontier fire arms, and innumerable rare pieces examplifying social customs of many generations ago, the museum receives most of its historical treasures as gifts. Last year 200 persons gave over 2,000 gifts. Unique among them was a large collection of early Wisconsin circus material.

Director of the museum is Dr. Charles E. Brown, who has given a life time to building up its contents, in the tradition of Dr. Lyman C. Draper, who is regarded as its father.

New Deal Policy Offers Threat to Cotton Industry

Price-Fixing Attempts Help Other Nations at Expense of United States

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington —Sometimes it takes years for facts to overtake government propaganda and for a governmental policy to be thoroughly "debunked."

Lawrence

Politicians, of course, who sit in the seats of government, never admit anything they do is wrong, and, when a policy is being debunked, squirm a bit and then shift the blame, trusting always to their 100 per cent followers to defend them blindly or help camouflage the mistake.

The most colossal error of the New Deal was and is its belief in a policy of restricted production and price-pegging.

Today the south—stronghold of the Democratic party—faces economic ruin unless the doctrine so sedulously taught the southerners by the New Deal is reversed by the Roosevelt administration.

This situation has come about through the subsidy paid out of the federal treasury to keep the price up by restricting the amount planted.

The Supreme Court of the United States, although not concerned with the economic or legislative wisdom of government policies, but their constitutionality, gave the New Deal an "out" when the AAA was held invalid, but the New Deal didn't take it, and, at the next session of congress, Mr. Roosevelt plans to go ahead with crop control, believing he now has a majority of the supreme court with him.

Exports Decline

But what has been happening in the last three years in the supreme court of world economics?

Eight years ago, the United States had 63 per cent of the world export of cotton. Today, it is 44 per cent.

Back in 1929, and for the five years preceding, the world bought 8,300,000 bales a year of American cotton.

Today, the annual volume of cotton exported by America has dwindled to 5,400,000 bales, and there are at least 1,000,000 persons unemployed in the south.

Where has our market gone? By pegging the price beyond the true economic level, we handed a big slice of our trade to countries which had never produced cotton at a profit but which could now easily make a profit at the artificial price set by the United States government.

Brazil is a case in point. She produced only 376,000 bales in 1929. Now she is producing annually about 1,530,000 bales. Other countries have been stimulated into production, too. Our high prices have created new competitors, just as a lower and lower price, with larger volume for America, will gradually wipe out the new competitors.

Amount Used Increases

But is the world consuming more or less cotton? The official figures show that the world buys 7,000,000 more bales of foreign cotton now than it did eight years ago. Not only has the south failed to get any of this increased market, but America has lost in addition 2,500,000 bales of the market it once had. For the world is buying 2,500,000 bales less cotton than it did from the United States eight years ago.

The New Deal has been camouflaging. Officials started reassuring the south three years ago, saying Brazil had a lucky break in weather, that other countries could not keep up production of cotton and so on, but the tell-tale figures reveal the tragic truth—the south is losing its traditional market for cotton.

The idea that a domestic price can be fixed at will and that this will benefit our producers was a fallacy which the old Hoover farm board encountered. Mr. Roosevelt spent a good deal of time in the campaign of 1932 denouncing government control of farm prices and so did the Democratic national platform, but the New Deal went ahead and repeated in another form the mistake of the Republican administration just the same.

Ruled by World Supply

Where there is a world supply and where a nation produces more than it can itself consume, the world supply and demand determine the true price. Restriction of output can force the domestic price up, but the risk run is that the export market will be gobbled up by other producing nations either through a freight differential or by slighly lower sale prices.

The American cotton farmer saw cotton at 18 cents in 1929. He saw it at 12 cents under the New Deal, with crop restriction, and now the price is down to 9 cents, and there is a big loss in his share of the world cotton market besides.

Mr. Roosevelt was imporuned to peg the price at 10 cents or even 12, but he fixed it at 9 cents through his use of the power of government to lend money on cotton. About 65 per cent of the cotton crop is to be subsidized at 3 cents in addition to the 9-cent loans. This is paid for by the taxpayers generally and by consumers in the extra coast of finished products.

There's a big cotton crop this year, something like 13,500,000 bales, which is about 3,000,000 bales higher than last year. Instead of letting the cotton farmer increase his income by selling more bales at a lower figure than fewer bales at a higher price, the New Deal is insisting on a continuance of its crop reduction policy. This inevitably will lead to more and more unemployment in the south, less and less total income for all the cotton farmers and hence less purchasing power with which to buy the products and goods of the other sections of the country.

Institute Statement

As if to cap the climax of New Deal folly, there comes a press dispatch from Rome, where the international institute of agriculture is meeting. The institute, composed of agricultural experts of a dozen nations, says there must be freedom from interference by government with the laws of supply and demand if the world is to achieve economic recovery. The statement says:

"Unless the world is to acknowledge utter intellectual and moral bankruptcy, and admit its planned economy is a system of bold economic suicide, it eventually—and the sooner the better—must change the direction of its planning efforts."

The experts then go on to condemn the policy of restriction and place the United States in the same category with the totalitarian states and Russia in imposing barriers to trade and exchange.

The truth is the United States went nationalistic under the Hawley-Smoot tariff law, and now under the New Deal, though a few reciprocity agreements have been put into effect, Mr. Roosevelt is at heart as nationalistic as any of the rulers of the totalitarian countries who believe political strength is best maintained by government price fixing, government subsidies, and an indifference to the law which says that production of larger and larger crops, better distribution of the earth's wealth through loans or commodity exchanges, makes a better world to live in, with less threat to democracy and less chance of war than a system of domestic rationing or allotment with its inevitable counterpart—regimentation and fascism.

1935 RYE IS GROWING

Valentine, Neb. — (AP) — It may take time to raise a crop on the Pine Ridge reservation, but it can be done.

Henry Krauss planted some rye in 1935, but hail beat it to the ground before it got a good start. It was so dry in 1936 it failed to sprout.

This year it finally made the grade. Krauss reported a yield of about seven bushels per acre.

State Convention Of X-Ray Society Opens at Hospital

Officers to be Elected This Afternoon; Banquet Tonight

With about 75 delegates present, the fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Society of X-Ray Technicians opened this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital. The convention will close tomorrow afternoon.

Election of officiers will be held at a business meeting late this afternoon following the day's series of speeches and discussions. Present officers of the society are O. E. Baldridge, Milwaukee president; R. D. Campbell, Marshfield, vice-president; and Ethel M. Miller, Appleton, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. E. A. Pohle, of Madison, former president of the American Registry of X-Ray Technicians, will be the principal speaker at the convention banquet which will be held tonight at 6:30 in the Crystal Room of the Conway hotel. Reservations havve been made for 100 persons.

Delegates participated in a golf tournament at the Ridgeway Golf club near Neenah yesterday afternoon and the winners will be announced and awarded prizes at tonight's bankuet. The trophy for first place will be donated by Baldridge, society president, and the second place cup by Frank L. Dixon, district chairman.

Will Seat Officers

The new officers elected today will be installed at the closing business session of the convention tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Committees for the next year will be appointed at that time.

Delegates started registering at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Elizabeth hospital. An hour later, the convention was called to order by President Baldridge in the doctors' staff room. Speakers at the opening session were Miss Etola Gorrow of Appleton, chairman of the third district, and Emil W. Beelman of Fond du Lac.

"Autotransformers and Rheostats, Advantages and Disadvantages," was the subject of a talk by H. W. Schallert of St. Lukes hospital in Marquette, Mich., at 10:30 this morning.

A half-hour later, G. J. Lalley of the Mercy Hospital in Janesville Spoke on "Hip Roentgenography". President Baldridge spoke at the first business session of the convention which was held at 11:30.

The delegates adjourned to the Hearthstone for a luncheon at 12:15 this afternoon.

Marquette Man Talks

The convention was resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock with a talk by Robert W. Larson of the Marquette University Dental School at Milwaukee whose subject was "Dental Roentgenogaphy.". Magdalene Dillenberg and Dr. E. L. Schroeder of Shawano spoke on "Mastoids" at 2:30 and at 2:45, R. D. Campbell, vice-president of the society, discussed "The Importance of Lateral Views and Related Things."

Dr. E. F. McGrath of Appleton read a technical paper at 3 o'clock and at 3:30 the report on the annual convention of the American Society of X-ray Technicians was given by Frank L. Dixon of Madison.

The final talk on this afternoon's program will be given at 4 o'clock by Melvin V. Schiaak of the radium laboratory at the University of Wisconsin. His subject will be "Radium and Radium Emanation."

Tomorrow's program is as follows: 9:30, "Optic Foramen," Katherine Sheedy, Milwaukee Children's Hospital; 10 o'clock, "Clinical Photography With a Miniature Camera," B. P. Anderson, Milwaukee; 10:30, "Contrast Media in the Examination of the Urinary Tract," Segrig E. Mattson, Raven Clinic, Merrill; 10:45, "Handling of Mental Patients In An X-Ray Department," D. G. Gage, Winnebago State hospital, Winnebago; 11:15, business meeting report of committees; 11:30, convention photograph.

The delegates will gather at the Candle Glow Tea Room at 12:15 tomorrow afternoon for a luncheon in honor of the retiring officers.

Tomorrow afternoon's program is as follows: 2 o'clock, "Focal Spots," Frank L. Dixon, Madison; 2:30, "Chemistry of Contrast Media," Alfred B. Greene, president American Society of X-Ray Technicians, Glen Lake Sanatorium, Oak Terrace, Minn.; 3 o'clock, "Problems in Technique," round table discussion, led by Robert Morrison, Minneapolis, Minn.; 4 o'clock, business meeting, installation of officers, appointment of committees, adjournment.

WOODEN 'LUNG' GIVES HOPE FOR LIFE

Two nurses and a physician hastily placed Shirley Krause, two and a half years old, in this home made "wooden lung" at Denver after it arrived by air from Toronto. The device was shipped when physicians said they might have to decide whether to save the life of Shirley, or Maybelle Outcalt, both victims of infantile paralysis. Later Shirley was placed in an "iron lung" rushed from Chicago.

Broughton Points to Roosevelt's Record in His Reply to Wausau Man

Sheboygan — (AP) — Replying to Charles F. Smith of Wausau, who asked him if he were a "black Democrat or a white Democrat," Charles E. Broughton, Democratic national committeeman, wrote Smith today:

"If backing an administration that has been four square in keeping faith with the people, lending aid and assistance to those in distress, encouraging industry through a works program to give needed employment which is later reflected back in substantial gains for industry, means I am a black Democrat then I am proud to answer, yes. Remember that color is only skin deep. What counts most is the heart, and whether or not it beats for humanity.

"We, as Democrats, recognize that the occupant of the White House has that kind of a heart."

Smith, keynoter in the 1936 Republican state convention, had written to Broughton criticizing President Roosevelt's administration.

"What laws would you abolish?" Broughton asked. "Do you disapprove of the insurance of bank deposits, protection, against worthless securities, modification of the Volstead act which has added another worthwhile industry, the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the farm credit administration, and the many others? All of this legislation spells achievement for the American people. Still you say Mr. Roosevelt has failed. He has failed to take orders from those who scuttled the ship."

Broughton also asked:

"Do you want to convey the impression that the works progress administration, the United States employment service, the civilian conservation corps, each providing a program of employment, were waste? The CCC has paid for itself many times over in conservation work, and in the conservation of human lives."

After mentioning conditions during President Hoover's administration, Broughton wrote:

"Today we see a rehabilitated United States, smoke belching forth from rejuvenated industry, employment equal to that of 1929, foreign commerce at the highest point in history, and better wages encouraging greater purchasing power."

Teacher's Son Plans To Enter College at 12

Austin, Tex.—(AP)—A mathematics professor's son plans to enter college a year from September at the age of 12.

The boy, Martin Ettlinger, began his studies in private elementary school when he was four and completed the grades in two years. Then he sprinted through junior high school in a year.

His parents decided to put him on a half-day schedule in high school so he wouldn't be graduated too young. He could have qualified for college entrance last year but broadened his studies to include many elective subjects.

Educators believe his speedy academic advancement is due to his ability to read rapidly and remember what he reads. Three years ago they discovered he could read backwards equally well.

Freedom Students to Register Sept. 6 and 7

Registration will be held at Freedom High school Monday and Tuesday, according to Ben C. Schraml, principal. Faculty members include John McCormick, Freedom, mathematics and science; Miss Marjorie Johnson, Stevens Point, home economics and English; Mrs. Ben C. Schraml, commercial instruction and girl's physical education.

Army Officers Prepare To Probe Plane Crash

Salt Lake City —(AP)— Army officials from Ft. Douglas, Utah, were expected today to investigate the plunge of an army reserve training plane into the Great Salt lake Tuesday. Private Henry Pearson, 38, was drowned but Lieutenant Lucian Powell swam two miles to shore. Pearson's body was recovered yesterday.

Duffy Is Silent on His Plans Regarding Election Next Year

Washington—(AP)—Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin talked readily today about the European trip of the American battle monuments commission, of which he was a member, but remained mum on whether he would seek reelection next year.

"I want to confer with the leaders back home before making any public announcement," Duffy said upon his return to the capital after arriving in New York city yesterday from Europe.

"I see no necessity for making any statement so early. I probably will announce my decision about the first of the year."

He said there had been talk of various coalitions among Wisconsin political factions but added "I haven't given those matters any thought."

He explained, however, he had received letters suggesting Wisconsin Republicans and Democrats join forces next year and other communications urging that a fusion be effected between Democrats and Progressives in the state.

Questioned about prospects for a national third party in the next presidential campaign, Duffy said his view is that the 1936 election "demonstrated one thing above all others—that a national third party would get nowhere in the presidential race."

The senator plans to leave Washington for his Fond du Lac home in two or three days. Mrs. Duffy, who accompanied the senator on the European trip, left New York yesterday for Wisconsin. Senator Duffy will drive home and expects to open his office there next week.

Spectacular Takeoff

It was the second straight year that ill luck forced him to withdraw from the classic he won in 1933 and 1934.

Ortman's takeoff was the speediest and most spectacular. A crowd of 500 which had dwindled from 10,000 or more enthusiasts at midnight cheered the bullet-like craft.

The immediate end of the skyway trial for the fliers was Cleveland, where $20,000 will be distributed, but another $5,000 could be won by continuing on to Bendix, N. J.

The Bendix entry list comprises probably the most formidable threat to long distance speed records in years.

More like projectiles than aircraft, some of the planes are capable of speeds of more than five miles a minute.

Of these, two modified Seversky army pursuit planes piloted by Fuller and Frank Sinclair can do 350 miles an hour. Ortman can travel more than 340 miles an hour. He did 300 the other day in a climb.

Woman Stowaway Faces Deportation to England

Houston, Texas —(AP)— Mrs. Esther Worman, 28-year-old Londoner and erstwhile nude stowaway, was deported today.

Fire drove Mrs. Worman out of the hold of the S. S. Hybert enroute here from England a month ago. She and a male fellow stowaway had discarded their clothes because of the heat. Mrs. Worman came to the United States in search of her husband, now awaiting deportation in New York.

No Need Seen to Speed Invocation Of Neutrality Act

Order Closing of Port of Shanghai Held as Effective as Embargo

Washington—(AP)—Persons close to the state department expressed the opinion today there is no immediate need for invocation of the neutrality act in the conflict between Japan and China.

They qualified their statements, however, by recalling that Far East developments have occurred so rapidly that the international situation has changed frequently in a few hours.

They said the neutrality act, although it would embargo shipments of arms and munitions to those countries, would not be any more effective safeguard against incidents involving American shipping than the order of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, closing the port of Shanghai.

Nor would the act afford a greater measure of protection for Americans in the international settlement, they added.

The administration has been represented as believing the act should not be invoked unless one of the nations declares war officially or breaks off diplomatic relations with the other.

One state department official hinted broadly that Secretary Hull is more concerned with problems other than that of American shipping in the Far East. He declined, however, to disclose them.

The state department continued, meanwhile, to leave decisions on emergency action to Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson at Nanking; Admiral Yarnell and Consul General Clarence Gauss at Shanghai.

V. F. W. DEMAND

Buffalo, N. Y.—(AP)—Veterans of Foreign Wars sent President Roosevelt today a copy of a resolution "demanding" neutrality legislation and withdrawal of American armed forces from foreign countries.

The resolution concluded with an "urgent request" to the president for a statement of United States foreign policy "in keeping with the declaration of this resolution."

Adopted at the V. F. W. national convention late yesterday, the resolution proposes that only enough troops be left on foreign soil to protect property owned by the United States government.

It said:

"We demand mandatory neutrality legislation."

"We demand that the existence of war be recognized whether formalities of declaration have been made or not."

The resolution then proposed that American naval vessels be used to protect American citizens leaving war zones "within a definite, limited period of time." After that has elapsed, the veterans said citizens should be forced to "accept the responsibility of the situation into which they have put themselves."

"We demand that the principles of mandatory neutrality shall be invoked even to the extent of not permitting the use of the American flag on any vessel violating any of the rules of the American government pertaining to trading with belligerents," it continued.

"We demand that the armed forces of the United States be withdrawn from all foreign soil except such as are needed at a minimum to protect American government property."

What to Do if Your Son Is Victim of Kidnaping

1. Telephone the Federal Bureau of Investigation either in Washington—National 7117—or at one of the 47 field offices.
2. Preserve all evidence.
3. Get as much information as possible from any telephone call the kidnapers may make.
4. Follow instructions of officials in charge of the investigation.

The head G-man, J. Edgar Hoover, recommends this course of action.

The "kidnaping switchboard" at Washington is open 24 hours a day, but Hoover urges you to try to compose yourself before calling so as to give essential information as completely, accurately and calmly as possible .

Be careful not to destroy fingerprints in handling ransom notes and other evidence. Try to check the cource of the call if the kidnapers telephone.

The G-Men's primary objective is to get your son back safely—capture of the kidnapers comes second. It is best to follow the officers' instructions to avoid revealing their plans to the abductors.

As a general precaution, Hoover advocates having your boy fingerprinted before such an emergency arises. Fingerprints are the only infallible means of identification.

Four Destroyers Hunt Submarine

that the soviet cargo steamer Blagoev had been sunk in the northern Aegean sea and its wireless operator killed.

The story was much the same as on other occasions—another "unidentified submarine." Two torpedoes knifed through the waves, one as a warning shot and the other into the side of the ship. The crew scarcely had time to escape.

The survivors were picked up by a Greek motor launch. The crew said they were taking the steamer to France with a cargo of asphalt.

Under the French plan expected to be taken to Geneva for examination next week, the warship of any participating nation would go to the aid of an attacked merchantman of any other nation. It was believed Turkey, Greece, Egypt, the Spanish republican government, and the soviet union would wish to be included in the mutual protective setup.

His Majesty's government was widely reported in informed circles to suspect Italian submarines, aiding the Spanish insurgent cause, were responsible for at least some of the almost countless attacks and molestations from one end of the Mediterranean to another in recent weeks.

The British press, in fact, has hinted as much, bringing angry denials from the Italian press, and pooh-pooh contradtion in official fascist quarters.

DEATHS

PENOITZ FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Johanna Penoitz, 91, 829 East Minor street, who died Tuesday, were held yesterday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home with the Rev. Theodore Marth of the Zion Lutheran church in charge. Burial was in the Riverside cemetery.

Bearers were Henry Jens, Charles Koepke, Otto Reetz, Herman Selig, Harold Leitner, and Joseph Schultz.

THIEL FUNERAL

The funeral for Michael Thiel, Sr., 80, who died Wednesday afternoon, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Reiter, two miles north of Hilbert, with services at the St. John the Baptist Catholic church at St. John. Burial will be in the St. John Cemetery.

Crime Clinic to Map War on Sex Offenders

Milwaukee —(AP)— District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes called a crime clinic here today for a discussion on methods of dealing with sex offenders.

Steffes said Warden Oscar Lee of Waupun prison, and L. F. Murphy, of Madison, supervisor for the state board of control, had signified their intentions of being present Others scheduled to attend include jurists, criminologists, physicians, and police, state and local officials.

City to Receive No PWA Aid for Summer Paving

Appleton will receive no PWA grant for aid in financing the summer paving program, according to a communication received by Carl J. Becher, city clerk, from officials at Washington, D. C. A 7-mile paving program was planned last spring but was reduced when it became apparent federal funds might not be available.

The revised program was submitted to PWA officials and application for a lesser grant was made but the letter received today said the application had been denied. Streets paved this summer include N. Morrison from Hancock street to Wisconsin avenue, Packard street from Richmond street to Badger avenue and Lawe street from South River street to Maple street.

Farmer-Labor Group Votes to Work With Progressive Party

St. Paul — (AP) — The executive committee of the National Farmer-Labor Political Federation yesterday adopted a resolution to cooperate with the Wisconsin Progressive party and the Minnesota Farmer-Labor party in the calling of a regional conference at an unspecified date this fall.

The committee decided that the conference would have as its chief purpose the extension of the third party movement in a drive for Farmer-Labor party recognition in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Michigan and California, Oregon and Washington.

The committee decided that wherever possible conventions should be held in each state prior to the regional conference to elect representatives to the larger conference.

The committee reported receiving indications that Governor and Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, as well as Governor Benson and Senator Lundeen of Minnesota, would cooperate by accepting invitations to address groups in other states.

Members of the committee, it was announced by Howard Y. Williams, national organizer for the Farmer-Labor Political Federation, appeared in agreement to attempt to capture one of the two old national parties in those states where election laws or other conditions made the formation of a third party difficult or impossible.

5 County Pension Employes Named

Reorganization of Department and Moving of Office Is Completed

Five new pension department employes were named by the executive committee of the county board at a meeting Thursday at the court house. Glen Vogel, town of Ellington; Ben Faust, Kaukauna, and Mrs. Mary Reinke, Appleton, were named as pension investigators, and Mary Kohl, Appleton, and Florence Wallace, town of Freedom, were named as stenographers.

George M. Keith, state supervisor of pensions; T. S. Davis, new county pension administrator; William Conradt, chairman of the pension committee, and Mike Jacobs, of the county building and grounds committee, were named as a committee to buy equipment and arrange for office space for the pension department. The department was moved today to the Odd Fellows building on E. College avenue.

Sale of county owned land valued at $715 was approved and bills totaling $66 were allowed.

Dependency Petition Dismissed by Court

Marinette —(AP)— County Judge William F. Haase dismissed yesterday a dependency petition filed in his court against Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sotka, and ruled they were not negligent in the care of their children.

The petition was signed by Coroner Robert L. Thompson after Elizabeth Ann, two months, was found dead in her crib Sunday. The coroner said he believed suffocation was the cause of the baby's death. Dr. K. G. Pinegar, who performe da post mortem at the request of the father, stated the child died from a thymus condition, and not suffocation.

J. Emmett McCarthy, assistant district attorney, said the testimony recealed no evidence of neglect on the part of the parents.

Three Men Accused of Thefts From Paper Firm

Wisconsin Rapids —(AP)— District Attorney Hugh W. Goggins said today he had issued warrants for three former employes of the Nekoosa Edwards Paper Co. charging grand larceny.

The men named in the warrants are Withman Hager, 27, and Robe Rivers, 23, of Port Edwards, and Carl Newman, 26, of Nekoosa.

3 Runaway Girls Found On Stevens Point Farm

Stevens Point—(AP)—Three runaway Oshkosh girls who didn't want to go back to school were detained by Stevens Point police today, pending arrival of their parents, who were enroute here to take them home. The girls, each about 14 years old, were found at the farm of an uncle of one of the trio west of Stevens Point after the police department received an early morning call from her parents.

Priest Finds Radio Is 'Unfavorable' to 'Vital Preaching'

Williamstown, Mass. —(AP)— The Rev. James M. Gillis, C.S.P., editor of the Catholic World and radio preacher, said today the radio was "unfavorable to vital preaching."

Father Gillis spoke at the final morning forum of the Institute of Human Relations, which has been discussing public opinion in a democracy and the effect of the newspaper, motion picture and radio upon public opinion."

"Religion is a flame, a fire, a battle," Father Gillis said. "In such a world as this, the message of true religion should not be polite, inoffensive" but the radio corporations and sponsors "demand that radio preachers shall not give offense."

"This may be all very well as a policy. I am only saying that the prophets and the apostles would have found themselves insufferably cramped by the prevalent rules for radio speaking.

"I doubt," he continued, "that a vital, authoritative uncompromising presentation of gospel truth is possible on any one of the great radio chains under present conditions. If we are meticulously careful to hurt no one's feelings; if we shy away from controversial topics, there is danger of our lapsing into 'innocuous banality.'"

August Postal Receipts Over Last Year's Figure

Postal receipts for August totaled $15,248.27, $606.54 higher than last year's figure or a gain of .041 per cent, Postmaster Stephen D. Ballie reported today.

Receipts for August of 1936 were $14,641.73. Increases of 3½ per cent in the number paid were recorded.

Comparisons on these items are as follow: Orders isued during August, 1937, 5,257; 1936, 5,069; orders paid during August, 1937, 4,050; 1936, 3,818.

Lemke to Address Statewide Union Party Rally Here

Mayor Goodland to Give Address of Welcome Monday

Congressman William Lemke, North Dakota, Union party candidate for president a year ago, will address a statewide rally of from 10,000 to 15,000 members of the Union party at 4:30 Monday afternoon in Pierce park.

Three cities, Green Bay, Milwaukee and Appleton, were considered as the rally site and Appleton was selected for the large event. Congressman Lemke will come to Appleton from Sheboygan where he is scheduled to address a state convention of the Union party Sunday. He will be greeted by a reception committee at Hotel Appleton at 4 o'clock.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., will give an address of welcome at the park and George Van Hoof, Kaukauna, union party vice president of the Eighth congressional district, will give a brief talk. Arthur Hoolihan, Kaukauna, general chairman of the rally, will introduce Mr. Lemke.

Entertainment consisting of acrobatic acts, a home talent show and singers and dancers from the WLS barn dance will preceed the rally speeches. A conference and banquet will be held at Hotel Appleton after the address. Congressman Lemke will remain in Appleton overnight and journey to Green Bay Tuesday where he will address a meeting for the Eighth congressional district.

JUDGE IS ALSO WITNESS

Omaha, Neb. — (AP) — Municipal Judge Lester Palmer was chief witness and judge when Helen Sternberg appeared in court on reckless driving charges. Her car struck a man.

Palmer, the witness, who saw the accident, said, "It was a case of extreme negligence."

Palmer, the judge, said, "Twenty-five dollars and costs."

Pegler Says Schmeling Is Victim of Run-Around

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—For the third time this year Max Schmeling is the victim of the run-around in his quest for the heavyweight championship which has so truly been called the fairest bauble in fistiana's crown. Having knocked out Joe Louis, he was promised a fight with Jimmy Braddock, but was postponed so that Braddock himself could fight the negro boy. Braddock thought that if Schmeling could knock out Louis he could, too. He was in error there, however, and Louis became champion.

Pegler

At this point Schmeling was almost champion, for he was obviously the new champion's master. For this reason he was again postponed while Louis fought Tommy Farr, of Wales.

There was a sort of popular understanding that Schmeling would surely get a bout with the winner for the fairest bauble sometime this fall, but popular understandings are not legal and binding, and everyone with any knowledge of pugilistic diplomacy knew that the winner of the Louis-Farr fight, whoever it might be, would break a hand and be unable to recover from this injury and train adequately to meet Schmeling this year.

Sure enough, Louis broke a hand, and, moreover, Mr. Mike Jacobs, the promoter, decided that the situation had now become sufficiently confused to warrant the holding of a heavyweight elimination tournament, which is an invention of the late Tex Rickard. In Mr. Rickard's last heavyweight elimination tournament a dozen lithe, lean bodies eliminated one another back and forth for almost a year, and at the end it was decided that Mr. Tom Heeney, who had been eliminated most, was the rightful holder of logical contendership, and thus the obvious opponent for Gene Tunney.

Max is Postponed For The Third Time

While the current heavyweights are eliminating one another next winter, Louis will retire to await the decision of fate, and thus Schmeling is postponed for the third time. There is also a strong possibility that he will be eliminated during the winter, whether he enters the tournament or not. If he should enter it and win, that would automatically disqualify him for a championship fight next spring, according to the tradition which confers the logical contendership on the gladiator who is eliminated most. If he should stand aloof from the tournament, he would be postponed again while Louis met the logical contender in response to great popular demand.

From the standpoint of sport, if sport were in any way involved in the prize fight industry, all this would represent injustice to Herr Schmeling, who doubtless can beat Louis any time before old age sets in and doubtless could have beaten Braddock, too.

For clarity it is best to regard pugilism as a miniature of international diplomacy and to apply to the profession all the duplicity, hypocrisy, the vicious cynicism, dishonesty and treachery that nations, and particularly the dictatorships, employ in their dealings with one another.

It is not strictly analagous, but the case of Mussolini and Abyssinia has points of similarity. For reasons of their own, the Italians brought Abyssinia into the League of Nations, agreed not to resort to war, and further agreed to impose boycott measures on any nation that did.

Jacobs, Hitler Thought Joe Louis Would Win

Mr. Jacobs, the promoter, welcomed Schmeling to competition in the belief that Louis would lick him, a belief which Adolf Hitler shared. But when Schmeling unexpectedly beat Louis and Hitler suddenly discovered that the swarthy brunette with the narrow black eyes and high cheek bones was a true, blond Aryan it was deemed inadvisable to permit him to become champion lest he become unbearably independent and dictatorial, as the reich did when the conquering nations carelessly permitted Hitler to rearm.

In Mussolini's case the League of Nations was so old and the popular sentiments of the hour had been so far forgotten that he could ignore his promises, just as the promises to Schmeling and his plain rights in the case have been ignored. Mussolini then attacked a fellow member of the league at a distance of 3,000 miles in defense of the gates of Rome, conquered the country, and, by sheer gall, bulled the world into acceptance of the act. The world didn't approve, but decided that it was another of those things, and just let it go.

Similarly, the public has regarded Schmeling's case as another of those things, no. forgetting however, that he behaved the same way toward Jack Sharkey when he was champion.

Unquestionably, Herr Schmeling has been denied his rights, like Abyssinia and China and the minorities in Germany. Pugilism was called by one of its champions the dirtiest game of all, but that was ignorance speaking International relations necessarily are dirtier because they are bigger. But, pound for pound, neither Italy, Japan nor Schmeling's Hitler himself can outrotten the manly art.

Asks Postmaster's Aid in Recruiting New Men for Navy

A letter asking assistance in obtaining applicants for the navy was received today by Postmaster Stephen D. Balliet from H. F. Stroh, recruiter in charge of the recruiting station at Oshkosh.

"The Navy today is offering young men an opportunity to learn a trade, travel, and have security after 20 years of service," Stroh wrote in the letter. "A man joining the naval service now will have the opportunity to enter into any one trade he desires of which there are 35 to select from."

Because of the addition of 126 new ships, the Navy will be increased in man power during 1938 and 1939. "Within the next two years, a great turnover of personnel will be experienced because men who enlisted in the navy during the World war are now retiring from the service after 20 years and will receive pensions in excess of $100 per month."

City Officials to Exchange Ideas at League Convention

Dykstra, Millard Will be Speakers at Fond du Lac Gathering

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Officers of several hundred Wisconsin cities, villages and towns, including mayors, presidents, clerks, treasurers, trustees and others will discuss common problems and exchange ideas on the management of municipal government at the annual convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Fond du Lac September 16 and 17.

The program of the convention was announced here yesterday by Frederick N. MacMillin, executive secretary of the league, who pointed out that convention highlights will be addresses by two nationally known experts in municipal government, President C. A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin and Walter J. Millard of the National Municipal league.

There will be sectional meetings of functional groups, such as attorneys, engineers, and others, all of which will have addresses by prominent officials and discussion of particular group problems. General chairman of the convention will be Mayor J. H. Wallis of Rice Lake.

Sandwiched in will be general sessions, headed by addresses by such prominent figures as Frank W. Herring, director of the American Public Works association, and Herbert A. Simon of the political science faculty of the University of Chicago.

Attorneys Meet

T. C. Dwyer, Green Bay corporation counsel, will preside over the attorney's section, one of the series of group meetings, while L. H. Schindler, Appleton city engineer, will handle the engineers' meetings, in which Francis Steeno of Green Bay will participate as a speaker.

Village Clerk A. E. Cottrell of Brillion is scheduled for a speech on zoning ordinances in villages in a section meeting full of interest for village administrators.

Mayor John Goodland Jr., of Appleton, will preside at the Friday morning general convention session, which will feature a series of 10 minute talks on vital problems in city government. At this session Mayor A. A. Washburne of Clintonville will discuss municipal milk supplies. Washburne is prominent in dairymen's circles, and is editor of a widely circulated farm paper.

Soil Preparation Chief Fall Work in Vegetable Garden

While a great many flowers may be sown in the fall for next spring's blooming, this is true of few vegetables. Fall work in the vegetable garden is chiefly concerned with preparing the soil for spring.

Spaded or plowed, and left rough over winter, the soil will obtain substantial benefits from the freezing and thawing of the winter season. If manure is to be used to replenish the supply of humus it is better applied in the fall.

Fall planting is possible for the perennial vegetables, such as asparagus, rhubarb, and multiplier onions. Spinach for the first spring crop may be planted in the fall to advantage. Prepare the bed and scatter the seed in the rows as late as possible and dodge frozen ground. The idea is to get the seed sown so late that it will not germinate until next spring but will be ready to sprout as soon as the first favorable weather swells the germ in the seed.

Spinach must do all its growing in cool weather. The earlier it can be started the better and longer the crop. So fall sowing is a real advantage. Mulch the bed well after the seed is sown and remove the mulch early next spring, as soon as the ground starts to thaw. There is no use planting the old-fashioned small-leaf spinach. The modern inventions in the spinach line are so far superior, both in size of leaf and quality, that it is a foolish waste of space and time to bother with any but the newer sorts, which are more heat resistant and less prone to race up to seed at the slightest suspicion of warm weather.

Multiplier, or potato onions as they are sometimes called, give the first young onions in spring. A few bulbs put in this fall will give you a crop before the onion sets can get into action. They are perfectly hardy.

The asparagus bed may be set this fall, getting two-year-old plants from dealers. The main requisite is deep rich soil for asparagus and ample root room for each hill, giving the plants 3 feet of space each way. Rhubarb roots should be set out now. Half a dozen plants will be sufficient to provide an ample supply for the average family.

Bureau Prepares 759 Reports During Month

A total of 759 reports were prepared by the Merchant's Information bureau, a division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, during August. The figure shows a decrease from July when 835 reports were made but an increase over August, 1936, when only 739 reports were compiled.

"Camay is the perfect way to a Glamorous Complexion"

SAYS THIS DELIGHTFUL PENNSYLVANIA BRIDE

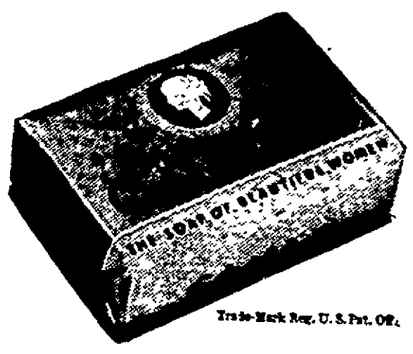

SUCH A bewitchingly blonde and blue-eyed bride—and so pleased with her Camay complexion! "Camay gave me the kind of skin every girl wants," says lovely Mrs. Winn. "Somehow when skin is lovely, hair and eyes seem nicer, too!"

How true that is! No girl can be attractive if her skin is dull and drab! Wise girls know this—that's why more and more of them every day are putting their faith in Camay.

Three simple facts prove why Camay brings results. No soap has the same creamy lather Camay has—a lather rich in beauty bubbles that are made to cleanse your skin. Camay's gentle lather goes down deep to the pores—really gets skin clean—keeps it feeling fresh.

No beauty soap on the market today is gentler than Camay. Time after time, in tests against all other leading beauty soaps, Camay was definitely, provably milder. Even sensitive skin keeps lovely under Camay care.

And though you cannot buy a beauty soap that's better than Camay—Camay costs you very little. Why don't you try it? Half a dozen cakes, bought before another day goes by, will set you on the road to a lovely bride complexion! Let Camay help to win men's hearts for you!

WAR AND MANHOOD

Three thousand miles of border line!
One hundred years of peace!
In all the page of history what parallel to this?
In times when warring nations' thoughts
Are crazed with hate's hot wine,
How God must look with pleasure down upon that border line.
From Maine it runs, through lake and stream,
To Manitoba's plain.
From Winnipeg to Kootenay—On, on and on again!
Through farm and ranch and forest range, o'er mountain, crag and steep,
To far Vancouver's garden home by broad Pacific's sweep.

Peace between America and Britain that has now existed for nearly 125 years presents to an inquiring world the vast advantages that are to be reaped in every direction when the best, the godlike, qualities of men are employed to adjust the natural differences that are inherent in human nature, and the barbarian processes of the past discarded.

The peace between these powerful and competing nations, each struggling for mastery in the domain of industry and commerce, attracts the attention all the more intensely because they have lived touching elbows everywhere.

Thus we have present all the conditions that we have been told so often are bound to lead races of men to the battlefield. And yet there has been no battle. It has been avoided almost entirely because of the will to peace, born, perhaps, out of a genuine respect by each for the power and tenacity of the other. But present, anyway. And that is the important fact to contemplate.

When Europe and Asia talk about expanding frontiers in answer to economic demands and of their teeming millions that must take up the sword for a pastime or an outlet, their attention should be directed to the greatest race for supremacy the world has known since Carthage was crumbled by the Roman legions, but a race that has been directed by initiative and resourcefulness and never by brute force alone.

This ancient peace repels every argument advanced for war. Nor does it appear that the men of these nations are becoming soft and flabby, listless or cowardly through the experience.

War is still the greatest single condition to support the so-called Darwin theory of man's close relationship to jungle beasts.

MEN AND STOCK

Senator Bone proposed an amendment to the federal income tax laws that would raise tax payers up to the status of cattle.

The fact is that at the present time a cow is preferred over a man.

Senator Bone probably sought to point out some of the prevailing nonsense in our tax structure that Mr. Roosevelt overlooked. The President was glad to aim a swift kick at some people who may merit it, and at some who do not, but, he offered no assistance to the struggling income tax payer who is much below the status of a two year old steer.

Senator Bone stressed the fact that what a farmer or cattle raiser pays a veterinarian to treat his stock when mange and heaves and the staggers afflict it may be deducted from his income as a cost of operation. In other words, he does not pay a tax upon the money he has already paid the veterinarian.

But if a man's children have diphtheria, if his wife gets a stroke or if he loses both legs while going to work, the government turns away and looks the other direction, not because tears fill its eyes but because it still forces that man to pay it a tax upon the hundreds of thousands that he may pay out to doctors and hospitals and nurses.

Under our law you simply must take care of a cow, but men are dirt cheap.

Such is the present extremity of the government in its need for funds that as popular a Senator with the Administration as Mr. Bone was told by General Farley to let the matter ride.

EDITORIAL A LA ROMA

Italy's premier is known to all of Europe as a forceful writer of editorials. When, in his own newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, an especially pungent expression of fascist policy or attitude appears, the comment is accepted as that of Il Duce. There is no need to present Benito Mussolini as the author.

So, in Europe's chancellories, Popolo d'Italia is studied eagerly.

Mussolini's style may not be so familiar to the American newspaper reader. The following excerpts from a recent editorial appearing in his newspaper are presented as examples of plain speaking:

"The people continue to pretend they believe these (war) debts will be paid one day. No, every one knows this is materially, and above all morally, impossible. Nevertheless when the fatal dates, June 15 and December 15, come around the European governments inform America they find it impossible to pay. America takes note of this and puts it on the order of the day.

"The fiction nevertheless remains and carries in its lap the damaging element of all embalmed fictions."

Mussolini, at least, minces no words.

There is no ambiguity in his written comment on war debts owed the United States or about his contempt for those who are foolish enough to believe that the debts will be paid some day.

HE WANTS ASSURANCES

One of the five new 10,000-ton light cruisers, the Honolulu, now building for the United States Navy slipped down the ways in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, recently.

Congress authorized construction of the vessel back in 1929 and the keel was laid a little more than two years ago. To cost an estimated $15,000,000, the new cruiser is understood to incorporate all that is new in naval design, will carry a main battery of fifteen six-inch guns and will have a speed of more than thirty-five knots per hour.

In theory, at least, every taxpayer has contributed his mite to the cost of the Honolulu. Only a relatively small number of taxpayers ever will see her or, for that matter, ever will see any warship. The taxpayer may read the accounts of her launching and get from them the comforting knowledge that one more defensive weapon is being added to the Navy's arsenal, but he is likely to wish, sometimes, that the men who spend his money could be a little more explicit about the things they are doing.

The Naval Appropriation Act approved last April carries total appropriations of $516,258,808 for the Naval Department and the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938.

The Act allocates $130,000,000 for construction of fighting craft, including two 35,000-ton battleships previously authorized to cost about $50,000,000 each. Also, there is authorization of an expenditure of $49,500,000 for naval aviation.

It is a sizeable bill for defense that is presented the taxpayer.

The taxpayer understands that Navy secrets must be guarded carefully. He does not expect that Navy men who are authorized to speak for publication can take him behind the scenes. But he would like to have continuing assurance that his money is not being put into defensive weapons that may be proved obsolete or useless even before the finishing touches are given to their paintwork.

The landsman, of course, does not know how much to believe when self-constituted critics of Navy affairs discuss their favorite topics, particularly the alleged vulnerability of naval vessels to attacks from the air. He wants to accept the assurances of Navy spokesmen that the worth of bombing planes remains to be proved. But the doubt has been created in his mind and he wishes it could be dispelled.

Lately, too, he has been reading about the fast-traveling torpedo-carrying "sea sleds," the so-called "suicide craft" that Italy, and now China, are reported ready for use against enemy vessels. He wonders whether it is worth while to spend $50,000,000 for a battleship that conceivably can be destroyed by a vessel that costs the tiniest fraction of that sum.

Sometimes he wishes that Navy spokesmen could be a little bit more frank-spoken in any public discussion of their problems and that such discussions could be presented more frequently. The taxpayer who foots the bills and who peers about uneasily in a troubled world needs large and frequent doses of confidence-building tonics.

Opinions Of Others

THE CONSTITUTION MONTH

Today we enter upon the month of the sesquicentennial of the drafting and signing of the Constitution of the United States by members of the convention organized in May of 1787 with the election of George Washington as its president. For nearly four months the delegates continued in session in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, with closed doors—and there was no artificial air-conditioning. National provision has been made by congress for the national celebration of the anniversary in the development of the fundamental law of the United States as a nation. The Constitution has been given more attention and study than in any other period in the life of the nation—certainly since the Civil war. There have been official discussions in high political places, lectures in colleges and universities, and innumerable articles in newspapers and magazines. Exercises in which pageantry, drama and music have been called upon to assist the spoken and written word are being held during this month in thousands of communities. But it is the teachers in the schools who are making the greatest and most lasting contribution. In New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Constitution Essay contests are being held under the auspices of The New York Times, in cooperation with the school authorities, in which at least 150,000 high school students are participating. No citizen, young or old, should let the days before the 17th of September pass without spending some time over the Constitution. So much do we owe patriotically to those who spent months in its framing; so much do we owe to our country, whose future rests upon this basic law. So shall we best celebrate the culminating day.—New York Times.

THE LADY SPEAKS HER MIND

When you say "NO," it denotes character. When the other fellow says "NO" it shows he is stubborn.

The first time he kisses a girl, he feels a good deal like he did the first time he was caught smoking a cigarette. Sorta foolish.

It's hard to admit that your husband has good taste when you notice him admiring another woman.

Even a fool may appear to be wise if he knows enough to keep his mouth shut.

Strange how a baby always resembles its dad until it gets to be passably good looking. Then it resembles the relatives on the mother's side.

Half the world would have to be a cemetery if conceit killed people.

A NEWCOMER ARRIVES

Jonah:

Y' know, it's one of the mysteries of my seafarin' life why they call this ninety degree that's been heatin' us up lately "dry." Dry things up . . . hmm. It has just the opposite effect on me. I sail around in a drizzle all day. It's a wonder to me I don't move around in a cloud of steam and sizzle to the touch. They say horses sweat, gentlemen perspire and ladies are all in a glow. But me, I shine as red as a danger beacon on a clear night.

An' by the way, I wouldn't mind if the ice man made deliveries right into Lake Winnebago these days. Blow me, I wouldn't.

I'm like the ol' cap'n who sez, "Yep, there's sure goin' to be wet weather. Look at them clouds. I never saw 'em so wet!!" not knowing that he was looking at the world through steam frosted glasses.

Well I reckon I'll end my voyage in the unchartered waters of column contributing now.

GRANDPA AND DONALD

Grandpa wheels the baby
Under cloudless skies,
Stopping to smile fondly
Into Donald's eyes.
Such a pretty baby,
With clear eyes of blue;
The admiring neighbors
Smile upon him, too!

All the flowers are waving
At them as they pass.
Trees bend down to whisper,
And the close-clipped grass
Grows a bit with longing
For a glimpse of him.
Birds are calling "Donald!"
From the maple limb!

Grandpa's plans for baby
Are such splendid ones!
He will stride, triumphant,
Under glowing suns!
Happy, and true-hearted,
On through life he'll go,
Just because his Grandpa
This day willed it so!

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO
Friday, Sept. 2, 1927

Two Appleton sisters, the Misses Helen and Dorothy Ornstein, will feature the farewell concert of the composite Wisconsin Legion "On to Paris" band Tuesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel, according to E. F. Mumm, director.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reynolds of Menasha are entertaining a group of Chicago friends at their cottage at Clark's lake.

About 150 members of Moses Montefiore congregation attended the reception Thursday evening at the synagog for the new rabbi, Paul J. Bender of Chicago. At present Rabbi Bender is making his home with the Rev. and Mrs. Zussman.

Mrs. Arthur Scheil, a member of Butte des Morts Golf club, won the prize for low net at the invitation tournament at Fox River Country club at Green Bay Thursday. Mrs. Scheil had a net score of 62 for 18 holes. Mrs. Norman Brokaw of Neenah, a member of Riverview club, won the prize for the driving contest. Her drive was 235 yards.

The marriage of Miss Frances Lamb of Waupaca to Arthur Wensel of Elcho took place Wednesday morning at the Presbyterian manse in Weyauwega, the Rev. J. M. Kellock performing the ceremony.

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, Sept. 6, 1912

General Arthur MacArthur, known in the Civil war as the boy adjutant of the 24th Wisconsin and later as one of the outstanding generals in the United States army, died Thursday night while speaking at a reunion of his old regiment.

Mrs. Charles Schultz and son, Harold, and Mrs. Frank Diener, Appleton, were swept over the first dam in a small launch Thursday evening. All three drowned.

All prices of grain went down several cents per bushel. Winter wheat was wholesaling at from 80 to 88 cents, spring wheat at from 88 to 90 cents, rye 65 to 68 cents, oats 28 to 31 cents and barley 41 to 50 cents.

Dr. J. J. Laird of Black Creek was in the city.

Colonel W. H. Zuehlke left for Sheboygan where he planned to inspect the property of Company C.

The brick in the new Elks' clubhouse became so popular that several Appleton people placed orders to have fireplaces built of the same material.

After 11 straight defeats for the Paper makers, Jimmy Van Patter broke the jinx by holding Green Bay to 5 hits and giving the Appleton team a 4 to 3 victory. A sensational stop by Brautigam in the ninth inning prevented a tie score.

Noted Physician and Author

NO MYSTERY ABOUT SURVEY

A reader wrote the other day that he was one of the few cases of pellagra in his part of the country. Probably many thousands of persons there are somewhat affected with pellagra, but generally they drift along in a low state of health for years, indulging in nostrums or self-doctoring, and not until they are nearly down and out do they come under medical observation. Even if they were compelled to seek medical advice at the very outset, the chances are that most physicians would fail to recognize what ails them, for it will be some time before physicians are prepared to recognize nutritional deficiencies in their earlier stages.

Scurvy undoubtedly escapes recognition in many instances, in infancy and childhood, and even in adult life.

The fully developed scurvy we saw in infants when you and I were young. Maggie, does not get a chance to bloom today because nearly all mothers now know that the young infant must receive some fresh fruit juice or fresh or commercially canned tomato juice daily from the age of a few weeks, if the baby is to thrive. The fully developed scurvy was characterized by bleeding from the gums, sore swollen gums, foul breath, hemorrhages under skin or under mucous membranes (causing black and blue discoloration) these marks have given rise to unjust charges of harsh treatment or injury in many instances—pale complexion, soreness or tenderness in the legs sometimes mistaken for "rheumatism," or causing fear of "paralysis" because the patient does not move the legs.

More commonly mild scurvy causes merely a lack of physical and mental vigor, vague pains ascribed to "rheumatism," lack of appetite, a pale or muddy complexion, fretful or irritable disposition, failure to gain weight.

Growing children in a private school patronized the candy man with their spending money and passed up the fresh vegetables and fresh fruits the school table provided. Several of the youngsters fell behind in their studies, became pale and tired, irritable and morose. Then they were required to eat less candy and sweets and more fruit and presently they became regular lively youngsters again and began to catch up in their studies.

In sections where there is a long winter some of the people do suffer from inadequate intake of vitamin C toward spring. If they are unable to afford regular indulgence in citrus fruits or other imported fresh fruits or imported fresh greens commercially canned (not home canned) tomato or tomato juice is always available and is a good source of vitamin C for anybody.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hay Fever

Used calcium lactate as you suggested for hay fever, but with no apparent relief. Friend advises me to use ——— each table containing acetphenetidin, dose of two tablets twice a day. (Miss F. A. B.)

Answer—Acetphenetidin is another name for phenacetin, a coal tar dirivative. It benumbs sensation, whether of ache, pain, fatigue, worry or anxiety, but I do not think one with hay fever should resort to such a drug. Have you tried taking a daily ration of vitamin D along with the calcium—vitamin D is essential for assimilation of calcium. It may be effectively taken in the form of nose drops.

Paint

Two years ago you gave a recipe for a paint to enoceal white spots. I used it with satisfaction but now have lost the recipe. (Mrs. A. A.)

Answer—Mix three teaspoonfuls glycerin, 1½ ounces zinc oxide, 1½ ounces calamine powder, in pint of water. To this, add drop by drop liquid ichthyol until you get a tint to match the normal skin. Usually five to thirty drops of ichthyol required. This is only a cosmetic paint, and does not remove the spots. I know of nothing that will remove them.

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"

If September 4, is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 to 10 a. m., from 2 to 4 p. m., and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 6 to 8 a. m., from 7 to 9 p. m. and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

You will have to think fast, today, to keep up with some of the people with whom you are likely to come into close contact. Be cautious of any scheme predicated on a chance to make money, for highly speculative ventures can involve many people in pecuniary losses, today. Loquacious strangers' fabrications are apt to mislead the unwary, and bring about the dissemination of wrong ideas, as well as false reports. Be careful that a wave of enthusiasm does not sweep you off your feet into troubled waters. Agitators and scandal-mongers may, if listened to, bring about discordant conditions, today, so the wise will turn a deaf ear to their utterances. Imaginary wrongs are seldom righted, so be very sure that any feeling of grievances you may have is justified, and not a figment of fancied vexations. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose heads Cupid has turned, must avoid any show of indifference in sentimental expressions or advances.

If a woman, and September 4, is your birthday, you will succeed best in a position of authority, or in a business of your own. You ought to have an excellent memory, a vivid imagination, and many very original ideas. If you make use of your ability to concentrate your thoughts upon some one particular subject, it should prove to be highly profitable and the means of your attaining financial independence. You are probably very broad-minded, and must be careful it does not make you inclined to be a trifle too unconventional. Success will, perhaps, come to you very early in your life. Never become conceited, for it will destroy your natural graciousness and might make you very unpopular. Through work of a dramatic, educational, artistic, institutional, or commercial nature, your financial results ought to be gratifying. Marriage seemingly will have many advantages to offer you in both a social, as well as a financial way, and there appears to be no obstacles in the way of happiness.

The child born on September 4, will in its early teens have, very probably, beneath an apparent placid disposition, a remarkable amount of sentiment. He will make ardent friends with comparative ease. The world will treat him kindly, and he is likely to bask in Fortune's smiles.

If a man and September 4 is your natal day, you should have many valuable accomplishments. Make good use of your versatility and it might land you on the uppermost rung of the ladder of success. Marvelous opportunities may come to you as an agriculturalist, engineer, writer, publisher, broker, banker, manufacturer, or artist.

Successful People Born on September 4:

Phoebe Cary, poet.
Richard R. Bowker, journalist.
Lyman C. Draper, historian and educator.
William E. Dodge, merchant and philanthropist.
Edward Bates, lawyer and politician.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—If you are one of a dozen or so newspaper scribes who attended a certain sailing one night last February, you will be familiar with the Mildew Club.

On the off chance that most of you weren't there, however, it may amuse you to know that there is such a club—and it came about in this manner:

On a damply chill night, so nastily unseasonable that only the very foolish or the very wise would think of leaving their firesides, a dozen of us piled into a hack and were driven down town to a certain pier. One of the big de luxe liners was sailing.

* * *

Hurrying up the gangplank, dripping wet, we spied the figure of a well known producer. He seemed vaguely embarrassed at being hailed by the press, a unique circumstance in this publicity-seeking village.

Well?

Well, his daughter was sailing incognito in hope that she might quietly "forget" an impertinent young fortune-hunter whose ardent wooing had been abruptly terminated by papa himself. Papa, at this moment, was a much annoyed hombre, and while he said nothing on this score, he visibly winced every time he thought of the blurbs that would appear in the newspapers next day.

That is the point. There wasn't anything in the papers next day. Most newspaper reporters are bloodhounds when tracking down the news, but there are times when they conveniently forget a story.

* * *

Such a one was this, and it wasn't a week before this Broadway producer dropped each of the scribes a little note, expressing his thanks.

He wanted, he said, to show his sincere gratification for the favor that had been extended, and so he had formed a little club. The Mildew Club—because it had happened on such a damp night.

Its workings were simple. The members simply were armed with a secret pass-word. This password, discreetly whispered into the ear of the doorman of any of his theaters, brings immediate admittance.

This producer tosses probably a dozen dramatic attractions on the boards each season.

They merely saunter to the door and do their stuff!

* * *

Somebody should compile an anthology of unforgettable names that have appeared in dramas, past and current. . . . A starter would be, 1) the derelict who played Slug-Eye in "Singapore Joe," 2) the kid who played Spit in "Dead End," and, 3) Mother Goddam in "Shanghai Gesture."

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Commercial Washington is crying for a special session of congress.

You'd think the place had suffered enough, what with an eight-month session that left the political part of the city jump and shell-shocked. But 531 congressmen with $10,000-a-year incomes make a nice buying public. Take any city in the country and suddenly snatch out 531 or its $10,000-a-year men and you will understand better how Washington feels about it.

Moreover, the members of congress are not the only public spenders who desert Washington immediately after the gavel falls. Each house member is allowed $5,000 a year for clerical hire, which means at least two clerks each. Top pay is fixed by law at $3,900. Senators are allowed 12,100 a year for clerks, which must be split among five, with $3,900 to the head clerk.

* * *

Men Get Prettied Up

Besides that, if a member is chairman of a committee, he usually is allowed one or more extra clerks. All in all, it runs up to about 1,500 clerks, male and female. And it is no secret that the female clerks are missed most sorely along the shopping front.

These little girls do take on a commercial glow when they hit the big city — and Washington shops fatten on it. The uncoiffeured tresses on capitol hill at any given moment could be wrapped around your finger. There are more waves there than on the Chesapeake, and they cost more.

That leads to something else. Not all the fancy hair waving and dyeing is confined to the female clerical help. Sitting in the senate gallery during a session, you couldn't count on your fingers the number of stately heads of hair made gorgeous by the deft touch of the waving iron and the dye pot.

* * *

They're Particular

To a degree the house also dyes and crimps; but being a somewhat younger family, the men there find less need of it.

One beauty operator says the number of male customers has increased since President Roosevelt pointed a finger of suspicion at the abilities of gentlemen of 70 and up. Gray hair, by that edict, was made less popular, and the beauty shops helped make it less prevalent.

Men customers are persnickity as all get out, says this operator. Women take hair dyeing as a matter of course. They don't fuss about a minor imperfection or a trifling flaw that may or may not give away the dyeing job. But if a spot of dye or a tell-tale blemish shows up in the hair of a statesman, it takes on the proportions of an international incident.

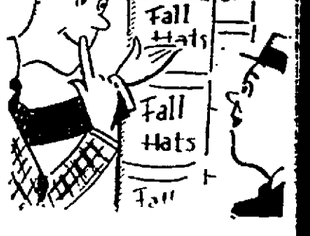

Now don't write in for names of congressional dyed-heads. We won't give 'em. We value our own bristles too much.

Confine Third Inmate In Century-Old Jail

Southampton, England —(AP)—The old wooden door of Sark Island's two-cell jail has groaned open to admit the third prisoner in its century-old history. The prisoner is a postman accused of stabbing his wife on the tiny Channel island between Guernsey and Jersey.

The British island, which was part of the old Dukedom of Normandy, has a population of 500. The first prisoner in the little stone bastile was a deserter, locked up "a long time ago."

The second was a woman incarcerated nine years ago for "a trifling offense." But her sobs were so loud the jailer released her within an hour. Thereafter she sat on the step of the cottage across the way, chatting and knitting.

Too hot to mention Fall Hats?

It may be too hot to talk about Fall hats but it's not too hot to wear one.

Our first Fall felts are actually lighter in ounces than the straw you're wearing and shadier than no hat at all.

In new colors that are just the tonic you need to jar you out of summer sleepiness.

The longer you stay in Straw . . . the longer you stay out of clover.

Catholic Schools Begin Classes at Kaukauna Sept. 7-9

Staff of 16 Will be in Charge of Work at St. Mary's

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Catholic schools will open next week, Holy Cross beginning Sept. 7 and St. Mary's Sept. 9.

Students at St. Mary's will attend a high mass at St. Mary's church on the morning of Sept. 9 at 8 o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. Roder. During the service an address of welcome will be given by Rev. Roder to the children.

A staff of 16 Franciscan sisters, under principal Sister M. Catherine, will have charge of the school, including six new sisters: Sister M Nicola, Sister M. Michaeline, in charge of the music department, Sister M. Martin, Sister M. James Anthony, and two sisters who taught in Kaukauna some years ago, Sister M. Josetta and Sister M. Camille.

The Holy Cross Catholic school also will open with a holy mass, according to Rev. A. Garthaus. A new ruling in effect this year provides that children must be at least six years of age on or before Oct. 1 before they will be admitted to the first grade.

The faculty is as follows: Sister M. DeRicci, Sister M Dionysia, Sister M. Catherine, Sister Mary Peter, Sister M. DeSienna, Sister M Avita, Sister M. Cunigunda, Sister M. Clotilda, Sister M. Aloysia, Sister M. Cecelia, and Sister Superior M. Gisella.

Lang Rites are Held At Holy Cross Church

Kaukauna — Funeral services for Jacob Lang, former postmaster, were held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at Holy Cross church, with the Rev. August Garthaus in charge. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery.

Bearers were Matt Weber, W H. Haessly, R. H. McCarty, Matt Kuborn, Roman Foegen and Joseph Wittman.

Out of city persons who attended the funeral were Philip Lang, Christ Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beck, Mrs. John Peters, Miss Marie Lang, John Lang, Mrs. Edward Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lang, Mr. and Mrs Fred Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klunke, Mrs John Wagner, Mrs. Philip Brodzeller, all of West Bend.

Others were Mrs. Andrew Lang, Appleton; Steve Lang, Menasha; Adolph Altenhoven, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kreuser, Norman Kreuser, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kreuser, Mrs. Margaret Doornek, Milwaukee; David Yuenger, Marinette; Mr. and Mrs Henry Schomer, Chilton

The Very Rev. A M Keefe, O. Praem., and Donald Layde, De Pere, also attended the services, as did Mr. and Mrs. William Kreuser, Mrs. Elmer Kreuser and Alois Kreuser, Green Bay; Mrs John Kreuser, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kreuser, and William Kreuser, Kenosha; Mrs. Theresa Kreuser, Miss Marie Kreuser, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merchle and family, Racine.

Fred Ponschok Dies After Long Illness

Kaukauna—Fred Ponschok, 76, 627 Lincoln avenue, died at 7:10 this morning after a lingering illness. Born May 8, 1861, in Germany, he came to America and Kaukauna in 1884. He was one of the first employes of the Outagamie mill. He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Holy Name society of Holy Cross church and the volunteer fire department.

Survivors are three daughter, Mrs. Helen O'Brian, Detroit, Mrs Margaret Geigle, Kaukauna; and Mrs. Gertrude Kasten, Milwaukee; five sons, Frank, Milwaukee; Arnold, Detroit; and John, Leo and Ed, Kaukauna.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at Holy Cross Catholic church, with the Rev. A. Garthaus in charge. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

Swim Pool Attendance At New High for Season

Kaukauna — Attendance at the municipal pool during this week has been the highest all summer, Clifford H. Kemp, recreational director, said yesterday afternoon. Records were set this week when over 300 boys on one afternoon and over 300 girls on another used the pool.

Beginning next Tuesday, Kemp announced, the pool will be open only from 3:30 to 4.30, and will only be open as long as interest is shown in swimming. It will probably close for the winter in two or three weeks, he added.

Postal Receipts for August Total $1,600

Kaukauna — Postal receipts for August were $1,615.17, Postmaster R. H. McCarty announced yesterday, compared to July receipts of $1,708 82. A slight increase over August of last year was recorded, as last year's receipts for the corresponding period amounted to $1,512.79.

PAINT PARKING LINES

Kaukauna — The yellow lines designating the parking spaces on the left of the municipal building received a new coat of paint yesterday afternoon.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. James Lang is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Kaukauna Had More Deaths Than Births During Last Month

Kaukauna—Reversing the case in July, deaths exceeded births in August by one, there being six deaths and five births, whereas in July there were eight births and seven deaths.

There were more than twice as many marriages in August than July, 13 compared to 5.

There were no cases of a contagious nature, according to Dr. C. D. Boyd, city physician.

Salute to Herald Labor Day Parade

Line of March Will be From Legion Hall to LaFollette Park

Kaukauna—A salute at 8.45 Monday morning will tell Kaukauna residents that the Labor Day parade will begin in fifteen minutes, R. J. Niesen, parade marshal, announced yesterday. A 9 o'clock daylight fireworks will be set off, releasing a silk American flag signaling the start of the parade.

The line of march will start from the Legion hall on Island street, and proceed up Island street to Lawe street. Lawe street to Taylor, left on Taylor street to Margaret street, and then left on Margaret street to Wisconsin avenue. The parade will turn left on Wisconsin avenue to the Lawe street bridge, and right on the Lawe street bridge to second street. Second street will be followed to Crooks avenue, the parade turning right on Third street to Reaume avenue; then left at Reaume avenue to Whitney street, and right on Whitney street to Sullivan; right on Sullivan to La Follette park.

Contestants must cover the entire route to be eligible for prizes

A last minute addition to the huge Labor Day parade are the Kaukauna Boy Scouts, according to Jerry Kain, in charge of parade arrangements. Three additional floats have entered the parade, these being from Hass' Hardware, Hartjes' Electric company, and Dempsey's tavern.

Benefit Fund Covers Football Candidates

Kaukauna— The following members of the Kaukauna high school football team are now under the provisions of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association disability benefit fund, and are permitted to scrimmage, according to an announcement by Principal Olin G. Dryer: William Alger, Stephen Andrewjeski, Robert Baker, Robert Derus, Leroy Frank and Karl Giordana.

George Hilgenberg, Alois Hooyman, Floyd Hooyman, Clarence Kiffe, Norbert Kuba, Carl Kobussen, Leland Lambie, Ralph Lauer, William McCormick, Gerald Meyer, George Noie and Sherman Powers.

Postpone Second Game In Championship Series

Kaukauna — The second championship battle between the Thilmany and Pantry Lunch softball teams, scheduled for last night, has been postponed until Sunday morning. The intense heat and the short time before dark in which to play the tilt was given as the reason for the postponement.

The Thilmany team holds a one game edge in the championship series and can cinch the Twilight league championship by a victory Sunday morning.

122 Frosh Register For High School Work

Kaukauna — Fifty-seven freshmen registered at the high school yesterday, principal Olin G. Dryer said this morning. Added to the 65 who registered Wednesday, a total of 122 registrations have been received. Registration will continue through today.

Motorists Warned to Get Adequate Lights

Kaukauna—Kaukauna motorists are being warned by the police department to have defective lights repaired at once. Wednesday, nine cars with no tail lights and 16 cars with but one head light were stopped and warned.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pendleton and their daughter, Janice, are spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schmidlkofer, 500 W. Seventh street.

Mrs. Eva De Bruin, Lawe street, has as her guest Mrs. Louise Butz of Fond du Lac.

Mr. and Mrs. William Heinz have returned to Niagara Falls after spending a few days here with relatives.

Mrs. Henry Verber and her daughter, Janice, and son, Robert, are visiting at the home of Mrs Verber's father, Joseph H. Dietzler.

Miss Veronica Block, Tigerton, and Mrs. Wallace Gates, Clintonville, are visiting their cousin, Meta Farrell, at the Kaukauna Hotel for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schlise arrived in Kaukauna yesterday and will make their home here. Mr. Schlise is one of the new teachers in the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mantei returned last night from Chicago, where their daughter, Elizabeth, has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Belonger, 519 Whitney street, are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday morning

Dim Lights for Safety

Loss of Three Men Hits Kaukauna Football Hopes

Kaukauna — Coach Paul E. Little's already none too bright hopes of retaining the championship of the western division of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference received a severe blow today when it was learned that the services of three men would be lost to the team. The players who have not reported for practice this fall are Bob Van Drasek, hard driving full back, Niesen, a guard, and Bill Peterson, veteran end. Van Drasek and Niesen's loss is particularly hard to bear, as they were both juniors with two years of play ahead of them.

After the usual loosening up exercises this morning, Coach Little spent some time with several kickers, attempting to find a suitable replacement for Hatchell, a June graduate who did all of last year's punting.

Practice Punting

Cliff Vonevenhoven, Carl Kobussen and Bill McCormick received punting instructions, with Carl Pendergast, who is expected to battle it out with Alois Hooyman for the center post, passing the ball.

The linemen, meanwhile, were instructed in the art of cooperating to take out an opposing tackle or end, after which the entire squad took a couple of shots at the tackling dummy. The backs also were taught the fine points of removing an opposing lineman from a play.

Under the direction of assistant coach Clifford H. Kemp three backfields were formed and sent through several plays. In the first backfield were Vanevenhoven, Giordana, Mc Cormick and Schubring, a quartette which shapes up as the probable first string backfield. The remaining backfields were composed of Duffy, Kobussen, Watson, Van Abel, Meyer, Ash and Derus.

Linemen Rehearse

The linemen received instructions in shoulder block from Coach Little, and after a series of exercises the squad was dismissed for the morning, with a warning to be more prompt in appearing for practice sessions The first game of the season is but two weeks from Saturday, against Shawano, which is perennially strong.

In the afternoon the first string players appeared for practice in track suits, running through plays up and down the library grounds

Carl Pendergast gained the dubious honor of being the season's first casualty when he suffered several scratches tackling the dummy. First aid was applied and he returned immediately.

Thursday afternoon's practice was followed by a chalk talk in the evening.

SUMMON FIREMEN

Kaukauna — The fire truck was called to the home of Agnes Kormin, 428½ W. Wisconsin avenue, about 6.30 Thursday evening, when a refrigerator motor became overheated. No damage was reported

Severson Will be Chief Speaker at Picnic at Symco

Three Clintonville Co-ops Join in Their Annual Outing

Clintonville—State Senator Herman Severson of Iola will be the principal speaker at the annual joint picnic of the three Clintonville cooperative associations to be held Sunday, at Riverside park and pavilion, Symco Andrew Marske of Appleton, field representative for the Midland Wholesale company, will be the speaker for the Clintonville Cooperative Oil company. The Clintonville Milk Pool will have as its speaker, Harry Jack of Hortonville, state president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool., Ike Walpon of Milwaukee, an official of the Wisconsin Shipping association, will speak on behalf of the local cooperative shipping organization. There will also be dancing in the pavilion both afternoon and evening. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Sawyer's Co-op orchestra of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Legge had as their dinner guests Wednesday: Mrs James Kilpatrick and two children, Chicago; Mrs W. D. Legge, Mrs. B. G. Bialkowsky and daughter Ruth, Appleton. The former couple recently moved from Green Bay to Clintonville, where Mr. Legge is now associated with the Utility Tool and Body company The Legge's have rented rooms in the residence of Mrs August Schmidt on E Fourteenth street.

Dwynal Sawyer is spending a week's vacation at the farm home of Mr and Mrs Elmer Piehl near Marion

Mrs Joe Dahm and Miss Winifred Doud spent Wednesday in Chicago, where they attended the Packer-All Star football game that evening.

Interest and enthusiasm displayed by both football player and fans alike has prompted the calling of a meeting for the purpose of electing officers and re-organizing the city football team. The meeting will take place at 7 30 Tuesday evening, Sept. 7.

An abundance of local football talent, a well-lighted playing field, and better times in general indicate a successful season.

A large gathering of fans and football players is expected for the organization meeting Tuesday evening. Practice sessions are expected to start Sept 8

Angeline Oashgar won first place and Iwan Milbauer placed second in the women's singles tennis tournament held last week at Central park. Others who entered the tourney were: Lois Gould, Mary Oashgar, Norma Snider, Helen Schmidtke, Virginia Hyde, Inez Milbauer, Junia Greb, Antoinette Kant, Evelyn Winkler, LaVerne Buckbee, Rojene Milbauer and Faye Marshek.

Miss Ellen Patterson returned to her home in this city Thursday after spending the summer in the west She attended the summer session of the university at Vancouver, B C., and visited the Beedle's at Berkely, Calif. On her return trip, Miss Patterson stopped in Beltrami, Minn., to visit her sister. Miss Patterson will again teach the third grade of the Clintonville public school for the coming term.

Ladies Aid Sets Date of Fall Bazaar

NOVEMBER 18 was the date set for the fall bazaar of Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church at a meeting of the group Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Plans were made for serving a dinner and supper on Sept. 23 and for a rummage sale Oct. 12.

The Missionary society will meet Sept. 16 when arrangements will be made for the state missionary convention to be held in Appleton Oct. 7.

* * *

Advocating that women of the churches should put forth special effort to have the city parks and school grounds supervised for play activity and that the churches should hold their own young people by providing young people's meeting and social events, Mrs. Peter Bast presented a topic on "The Call from the City Streets" at the meeting of Women's Union of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors.

Mrs. Herbert Baer announced that Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, president of the Interdenominational Women's Missionary board, will speak at a joint meeting of the women of St. John and First Evangelical and Reformed church on Sept. 16.

Mrs. Emil Schulze will be official delegate from the Women's Union to the regional conference at Kewaskum on Sept. 28, and Mrs. Peter Bast will be alternate.

* * *

The Rev. C. M. Schendel, pastor of the Greenville and Center Evangelical churches, who attended the Appleton district assembly at Forest Junction last week, will preach Sunday morning at the two churches. At Zion church worship will be held at 9 o'clock and Sunday school at 10 o'clock, while at Emmanuel church Sunday school will be held at 9:45 and worship at 10:45. The sermon theme will be "Praying Amiss." Christian Endeavor will meet at Zion at 7:45 in the evening when a duet, "God's Way is the Best Way," will be sung. A lesson in personal evangelism will be held at 7:45 Sunday evening at Emmanuel church, and a selection, "Prayer Changes Things," will be given.

* * *

The meeting of Ladies Aid society of Trinity English Lutheran church which was to have been held yesterday was postponed until next Thursday.

* * *

About 300 persons were served at the ice cream social of Zion Lutheran Ladies society Thursday afternoon and evening at Zion parish school auditorium. Mrs. Henry Staedt was general chairman of the social.

* * *

The Rev. T. J. Sauer, honorary pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church, read a paper entitled "The Origin of Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata" at the meeting of St. Paul Ladies Aid society Thursday afternoon in the church basement. Sixty members were present. A social hour followed the meeting.

Entertains Evanston Guest at Slumber Party

Miss Pete Courtney entertained at a slumber party Thursday night at her home in Pierce court for Miss Betty Kletzien, who arrived from Evanston last night to spend a few days with her many Appleton friends. Miss Courtney's guests were, in addition to Betty Kletzien, the Misses Barbara Small, Barbara Rosebush, Nancy McKee, Lois Whelan, Ann Smith and Billie Kolb. The girls went to the Courtney home after Bety's train came in from Evanston and stayed there for the night.

Mrs. Paul Anthony Is Guest of Honor at Tea

Mrs. Paul Anthony, New York City, who is visiting at Neenah, was guest of honor at a tea given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Gavin Young, Jr., at her home on Lake Shore road, Menasha. Garden roses decorated the tea table at which Mrs. Ruth Falvey, Neenah, poured. Earlier in the day Mrs. James Bergstrom and Mrs. James Sensenbrenner entertained at a luncheon at North Shore Golf club for Mrs. Anthony, who is a former Neenah resident.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Application for a marriage license has been made at the office of John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, by Victor Krueger, route 4, Appleton, and Mabel Graf, route 4, Appleton.

TO BE MARRIED

Of interest in Clintonville is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Geraldine E. Denson, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kesting, Clintonville, to John J. Abrahamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Abrahamson, also of Clintonville, which was made at a dinner party last night at the Kesting cottage at Clover Leaf Lakes. No date has been set for the wedding.

Engagement of Geraldine Denson Revealed at Party

President Starts Five-Day Vacation On Yacht Potomac

Aboard Press Yacht Indian —(AP)—President Roosevelt, aboard the yacht Potomac, headed for Long Island sound and the fighting bluefish today to start a five-day sea vacation from the rigors of post-congress duties.

The Potomac, out of Poughkeepsie, skimmed down the Hudson late yesterday, and during the night skirted the battery into East river leading to the sound. The destroyer Selfridge, latest addition to the fleet, led the way as escort.

The sea-going chief executive planned to watch the six-meter boat races off Oyster bay his first day out and then head for the fishing grounds near Montauk Point, L. I.

He voted 17 during the session and 23 afterward. Two were passed over his veto and of the nearly 900 signed, more than 150 received his approval after congress adjourned, most of them during the last week at Hyde Park.

Josephine Buchanan to Wed in Outdoor Setting

THE G. E. Buchanan family is hoping for a clear sky this afternoon, for the terrace which slopes down from their home on E. College avenue to the Fox river was ready for the wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon of Miss Josephine Buchanan and Frederick John Lenfestey of DePere.

Preceding the bride to the flower-banked altar on the lower terrace, where Dr. H. E. Peabody, Rosendale, former pastor of the First Congregational church of Appleton, will perform the ceremony, will be the four ushers, Albert Schmedeman, Jr., Madison; Anson Mark, Hinsdale, Ill.; and William E. and James Buchanan, Appleton; the four bridesmaids, Mrs. William E. Buchanan, Appleton; Mrs. Anson Mark, Hinsdale, Ill.; Miss Louise Marston, Madison; and Mrs. Robert L. Hunter, Chicago; the maid of honor, Miss Betty Buchanan; and the flower girl and ring bearer, Jessica Mark, Hinsdale, Ill., and Charles Buchanan, Appleton.

Mr. Lenfestey and his best man, Wesley N. Garner, DePere, will await the party at the altar.

Elmer Ihrke, organist at Lake Park Lutheran church, Milwaukee, will play the organ which was set up yesterday on the upper terrace. About 350 guests, including a large number from out of town, will witness the ceremony and remain for the reception immediately following it.

10,000 to Attend National Safety Meet in October

About 10,000 men and women will mobilize for renewed war on accidents at the twenty-sixth National Safety Congress and Exposition Oct. 11 to 15 in Kansas City, Mo. More than 400 speakers will discuss accident prevention in the home, on the farm, on the streets and highways, in industrial plants, in the schools, in the air and at sea.

The annual meeting is sponsored by the National Safety council, according to information received at Appleton Chamber of Commerce office, and will attract accident prevention experts from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries. The 113 sessions will be held in a new air conditioned municipal auditorium and advance reservations at Kansas City hotels indicate the safety conclave will be one of the largest ever held

Reports of committees investigating automobile accidents will be heard while separate programs have been arranged for industries. Equipment for safeguarding operations of all kinds will be displayed in the exhibition hall of the auditorium and because of the increasing motor vehicle death toll, attention will be focused on that phase of safety.

Bell Will Preach At Presbyterian Services Sunday

The first service in Memorial Presbyterian church since the work of remodeling and redecorating was begun early in the summer will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, with the Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor, officiating. Mr. Bell returned recently from New York City where he attended the summer session at Union Theological seminary.

Although not yet completed, the remodeling is well along and is expected to be finished in a few weeks. Those who attend the services Sunday will notice the arches and pillar which have been installed along the sides of the auditorium between the windows, the new indirect lighting system and the redecorated walls and woodwork. The interior of the church has been repainted throughout, the woodwork finish being changed from light oak to walnut. The walls are of plastic paint in a light tan shade and the ceiling has been beamed.

Knights of Columbus Will Hold Regional Meeting at Menasha

Announcement of a regional meeting of Knights of Columbus to be held Sunday, Oct. 24, at Menasha, was made at the meeting of Father Fitzmaurice council, K. of C., last night at Catholic home. Price of Lemons Rises With Heat Oranges are High

Watermelons are Scarce, Morning Survey of City Markets Shows

Following the rise and fall of the thermometer during the summer, the price of lemons has increased with this week's excessive heat, a survey of fruit markets in Appleton shows. The standard price quoted today by dealers was from 30 to 39 cents a dozen for large lemons and from 25 to 29 cents for the cheaper grades.

Watermelons are scarce, it was reported today, and are bringing from 39 to 49 cents apiece. The melons on which these prices are quoted weigh from 18 to 24 pounds.

Oranges, riding a high market all summer long, are being sold for prices varying from 25 to 45 cents a dozen, depending upon their size and quality. Grapefruits are out of season, and the few that are available are priced at 5 for 25 cents. The prices quoted on fruits and vegetables differ somewhat in the various city markets.

Lettuce, unsteady in price, was up this morning, and was bringing about 10 cents a head. Shoppers were paying five cents apiece for ordinary, home-grown cantaloupes and 15 cents each for the largest melons.

Peaches at $1.98

Two-inch, large Michigan peaches can be bought for from $1.59 to $1.98 a bushel and the small Michigan peaches for 98 cents a bushel. Colorado peaches are being marketed for 98 cents a crate.

Barlett pears for eating are priced at four for 10 cents or 29 cents a dozen and the smaller ones suitable for canning at $1.98 a bushel.

Good, solid potatoes cost the buyer about 29 cents a peck and high grade tomatoes five cents a pound.

Other fruit and vegetable prices that prevailed this morning in Appleton follow:

Corn, 15 to 19 cents a dozen; beets, three bunches for 10 cents; onions, five cents a pound; bananas, best grade, four pounds for 25 cents, secondary grade, five and six pounds for 25 cents; apples, five to six pounds, 25 cents; peas and beans, two pounds for 25 cents; high quality grapes, 10 cents a pound, three for 25 cents; plums, 49 cents a basket; cabbage and rutabaga, three pounds for 10 cents; celery, two stalks for 15 cents; carrots and radishes, three bunches for 10 cents; cauliflower, from 15 to 25 cents a head.

Potato Control Plan Is Studied At Washington

Proposes Production Regulation to Prevent Price Fluctuations

Washington— (AP) —Government agricultural experts studied today a proposal to control potato production in the United States to prevent price fluctuations.

Allen W. Manchester, northeastern director of the agricultural conservation program, said the plan under consideration would stabilize potato acreage.

"The only time there have been disastrous prices during the last 30 years," he said, "was when acreage was expanded. Potato growers of New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey feel they should have means of avoiding the peaks and depths of price fluctuations."

Manchester said a suggestion by northeastern potato growers at a recent conference would provide for limiting acreage to about the 3,244,000 acres in cultivation this year so that production could be stabilized at about 360,000,000 to 370,000,000 bushels a year in the United States. He called this production "the average consumption for the nation."

Big Yield This Year

The agriculture department has predicted a 400,000,000 bushel yield this year.

If the proposal is adopted it will be included in the soil conservation program for 1938, officials said. Some growers have proposed paying farmers who plant five or more acres in potatoes for complying with a soil improvement program.

The proposal put forward at the conference in New York includes payment of 3 cents for each bushel of a farmer's normal potato yield, based on his individual allotment as part of the national goal, if he complies with the control program.

It also provides a heavy penalty for cultivating acreage in excess of the national goal which the farmers proposed breaking down by states, counties and finally to individual farms.

Department officials said that if farmers voted in favor of a program now being formulated it undoubtedly would become effective in the principal potato-producing states.

They are, in addition to the northeastern states, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Idaho, all late potato states; and Virginia, North Carolina and New Jersey, early and intermediate crop states.

Wants Nine Super-Highways Built Under National Defense Program

Washington — (AP) — Representative Snyder (D-Pa.), advocate of greater national defense, said today he will urge the next congress to finance nine super-highways over which armed forces could move speedily to repel an invader at any point.

Three routes would be from coast to coast and six from Canada to the gulf of Mexico. Each would be 200 feet wide and there would be a huge airport at each of the 18 intersections.

Snyder, chairman of a house subcommittee handling the military appropriation bill, estimated the total cost at $8,000,000,000.

"Looking at this proposal from the standpoint of defense and economy for a hundred years or more," he said, "it appears less fantastic. In peacetime, they could be used for commercial purposes.

Airplanes based in the heart of the nation could fly along the routes to either coast in 12 hours, he said, while army equipment could be moved across the continent in 72 hours.

The Pennsylvanian said he also would urge that congress provide funds next year to let the army obtain more than 600 airplanes and additional anti-aircraft guns and begin building a giant, defensive air base in Alaska.

Te said next year's national defense fund probably would equal, and perhaps surpass, last session's peacetime record of $931,000,000.

The session just ended appropriated $415,263,154 for the army and $516,253,808 for the navy.

The army bill will allow the war department to buy or contract for 513 airplanes. Snyder said he favored increasing that number by 100 next year. It supplied funds to start construction of an air base at Tacoma, Wash.—the first of a chain intended to guard America's borders.

He predicted, too, that congress would vote money to allow the army to increase its equipment of tanks, armored cars, semi-automatic rifles, motors, and guns that can be towed at high speed.

Snyder said he is considering calling his subcommittee together Dec. 1 to start hearings on the military supply bill.

Drunken Driving Charge Is Dismissed in Court

A charge of drunken driving against Oswald Breitung, route 3, Appleton, was dismissed in municipal court Thursday afternoon by Judge Thomas H. Ryan. Breitung was arrested by county police upon complaint of Eugene Kloes, Appleton, following an automobile accident last Sunday night on County Trunk EE. Kloes was a passenger in a machine driven by Marvin Stojakowic, Appleton, the auto involved in a collision with the Breitung car.

$1 Stamps for Duck Hunters Now on Sale At Post Office Here

Stamps costing $1 each which hunters of migratory waterfowl must carry with them during the duck hunting season that opens Oct. 9 in Outagamie county are now on sale at the Appleton post office.

By an act of congress approved three years ago, it is unlawful for any person over 16 years of age to hunt ducks or other waterfowl without having in his possession a validated stamp. New issues are placed on sale on July 1 of each year and are invalid after the following June 30.

Proceeds from their sale are used for purchasing suitable breeding, feeding, and resting areas on land and in water for waterfowl restoration purposes.

Any person, whether he hunts or not, may purchase stamps singly, in blocks, or in sheets—for hunting, stamp collections, or to aid the restoration program. Stamps are on sale at first and second class postoffices. To be valid, they must be signed by the hunters.

The stamp does not excuse hunters from complying with state and federal regulations. It must be carried while hunting and exhibited for inspection at the request of any state or federal officer. Illegal hunting of migratory waterfowl is punishable by a fine or not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.

Famous Aviator Killed on Eve of National Races

National Contests are Opened Today; Bendix Derby Is Feature

Cleveland —(AP)— The national air races opened here today with a note of sadness for Lee Miles, one of aviation's best known figures, who was killed last night in a spectacular crash of his racing plane.

A fleet of 45 army, navy and marine fighting planes opened the annual big show of aviation, flying in formation over the Cleveland airport and the race course where Miles died.

Meanwhile Bendix derby racers hurtled into Cleveland from Los Angeles and nearly a score of "flivver" planes completed the last leg of the Taylor trophy derby from Akron to Cleveland.

An extra trial of the course brought death to the famous Ft. Worth, Texas, pilot. He had qualified his racer for the Thomposn trophy speed event at 197 miles per hour. He was dissatisfied. He tried again.

At bullet speed, Miles banked almost vertically around a pylon. He started to straighten out. His right wing crumpled. Pieces of the plane fluttered in the air.

Crashes into Trees

The fuselage hurtled on for 500 yards, spinning like a top. It sheared off several small trees. It crashed in a woods and wrapped itself around three more trees.

The six-foot-two-inch flier was dead when he was found hanging out of the cockpit. His skull was fractured and his neck broken.

Miles was 37 years old. The National Aeronautical association ranked him as No. 1 racing pilot in 1934. He was an army flier in the World war. He borrowed money to build a racing ship and in 1933 won enough races to pay off his indebtedness. His widow and a daughter, Corinne, 13, survive.

Another Thompson entrant, Anthony Levier of Los Angeles crashed at the airport here while testing his plane earlier this week. He escaped injury. Aileron trouble also caused this crash from a height of only 25 feet.

Calumet County's 49th Fair Opens At Chilton Today

4-Day Program Includes Vaudeville, Horse Racing And Livestock Parade

Chilton—The 4-day Calumet county fair got underway at the fairgrounds here today with a program officials have announced will be the best since the event was started 49 years ago. Many changes and improvements have been made at the grounds this year at a cost of over $4,000. The race track was regraded and a new fence was built as a WPA project that also included addition of a new entrance to the grounds.

Entries are being made at the fairgrounds today and the exhibits were expected to be ready for the opening this afternoon. Childrens day will be observed Saturday and judging of exhibits also will take place. Judging in all departments will start at 9:30. There will be bicycle races for young people and running races for Calumet county horses starting at 1:30, with entertainment between events. The Chilton High school band will furnish music during the afternoon and evening. At 7:30 Ernie Young will give his "Trip Around the World" revue and other entertainment also will be given with Shorty Flemm as master of ceremonies.

County day will be observed Sunday when the Hilbert band will give concerts. There will be special educational features in the morning and horse racing will take up the major portion of the afternoon program. There also will be seven acts of vaudeville featuring Large and Morgner of Bob Ripley's Believe It or Not column.

Merchants and Kiel Day will be held Monday with music by the Kiel band. A live stock parade will feature the morning program with the best Calumet county stock being exhibited.

A derby for Calumet county will be an added attraction Monday and Edna Alee, a modern Annie Oakley, will give a stunt shooting exhibition. In one part of her program Miss Alee shoots from a speeding automobile. A complete change of vaudeville will be offered Monday evening.

A light weight coat or suit for only $5 reduced from $16.75 — on sale tomorrow. Geenen's.

Wisconsin Senator Returns From France

New York—(AP)—Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin arrived here by liner yesterday after speaking in Flanders on the dedication of an American war monument.

He said there was a stir among his auditors when he remarked in his address that "in my opinion, America will never again send soldiers to fight across the sea."

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — Previewers recently had cause to believe the screen had been thrown to the hungry wolves of vaudeville until they saw "Souls at Sea."

The preview parade started with "Artists and Models," a zippy little number in which the smooth drolleries of Jack Benny wander divertingly through a conventionally slim plot and a forest of specialties.

Judy Canova Scores

Who'll be the queen of the Artists and Models ball? That's the plot. But Benny is at his best, with Ida Lupino, Richard Arlen and Gail Patrick holding up the rest of the story.

Specialties include the Yacht Club boys, nutty as always; Martha Raye in blackface (or high yaller) shouting and dancing to Louis Armstrong's trumpet; Judy Canova, with Anne and Zeke, doing hillbilly stuff; Connie Boswell singing the hit song ("Whispers in the Dark") to Andre Kostelanetz's orchestral strains; a couple of water waltzers; Russell Patterson's puppets, and views of several noted illustrators at work to justify the "artists' 'in the title.

Best of the lot was Judy Canova, whose weird vocal acrobatics do something to the ears, at least to mine. Raoul Walsh directed, and got a light, mostly entertaining piece for his trouble.

Disappointing was Wanger's "Vogues of 1938," which nevertheless has much to offer, especially to the ladies. Gorgeous gowns, jewels, furs, on mostly gorgeous girls, are presented in technicolor more beautiful than any yet produced. (We say that after each color picture, but it's true.) To go along with the fashion show is a story about a famous fashion creator (Warner Baxter), and the madcap society gal (Joan Bennett) who runs away from marriage to a nitwit (Alan Mowbray) to become a model. Mischa Auer, Helen Vinson, Jerome Cowan and Alma Kruger are other effective principals.

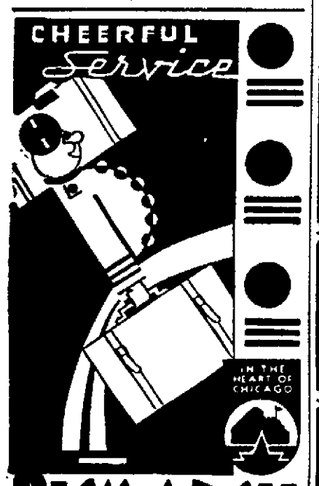

Best of nearly a dozen "specialties" is the skating routine by the Olympic Trio composed oddly of two people, but extraordinary. There are two compelling reasons for seeing the film: to be amazed by what color is doing, and to marvel at Miss Bennett's coming to life, at her new beauty in color.

George Raft Surprises

After all this, however, it was good to see again a movie with a plot, characters, and a climax. We found it in "Souls at Sea"—exciting story, romance, humor and sea spectacle blended into a picture that starts interestingly, knows where it is going, and gets there.

radio broadcast, 'was the decision fair?"

The Joe Louis - Tommy Farr fight picture, which runs almost an entire hour, is presented as the added feature on the same program with "You Can't Have Everything," the outstanding comedy treat of the season.

"The Road Back" Starts Sunday at Appleton Theatre

Great world events leave their mark on the lives of millions of people. Authors who live in such dramatic times wrote novels which stir countless generations to come. Erich Maria Remarque roused the readers of every country with "All Quiet on the Western Front." He exploded another bombshell when he wrote "The Road Back," the revelations in it compelling him to leave his homeland.

"The Road Back" tells what happened in Germany after the Armistice. Universal studios had to wait five years after the book was written, before the time was ripe to produce it for the screen. Now the tremendously dramatic story comes to the Appleton theatre in this city for a 5 day run starting Sunday.

The cast includes 2,000 players, notable among them being Barbara Read of "Three Smart Girls"; John King, Richard Cromwell, Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, and Louise Fazenda.

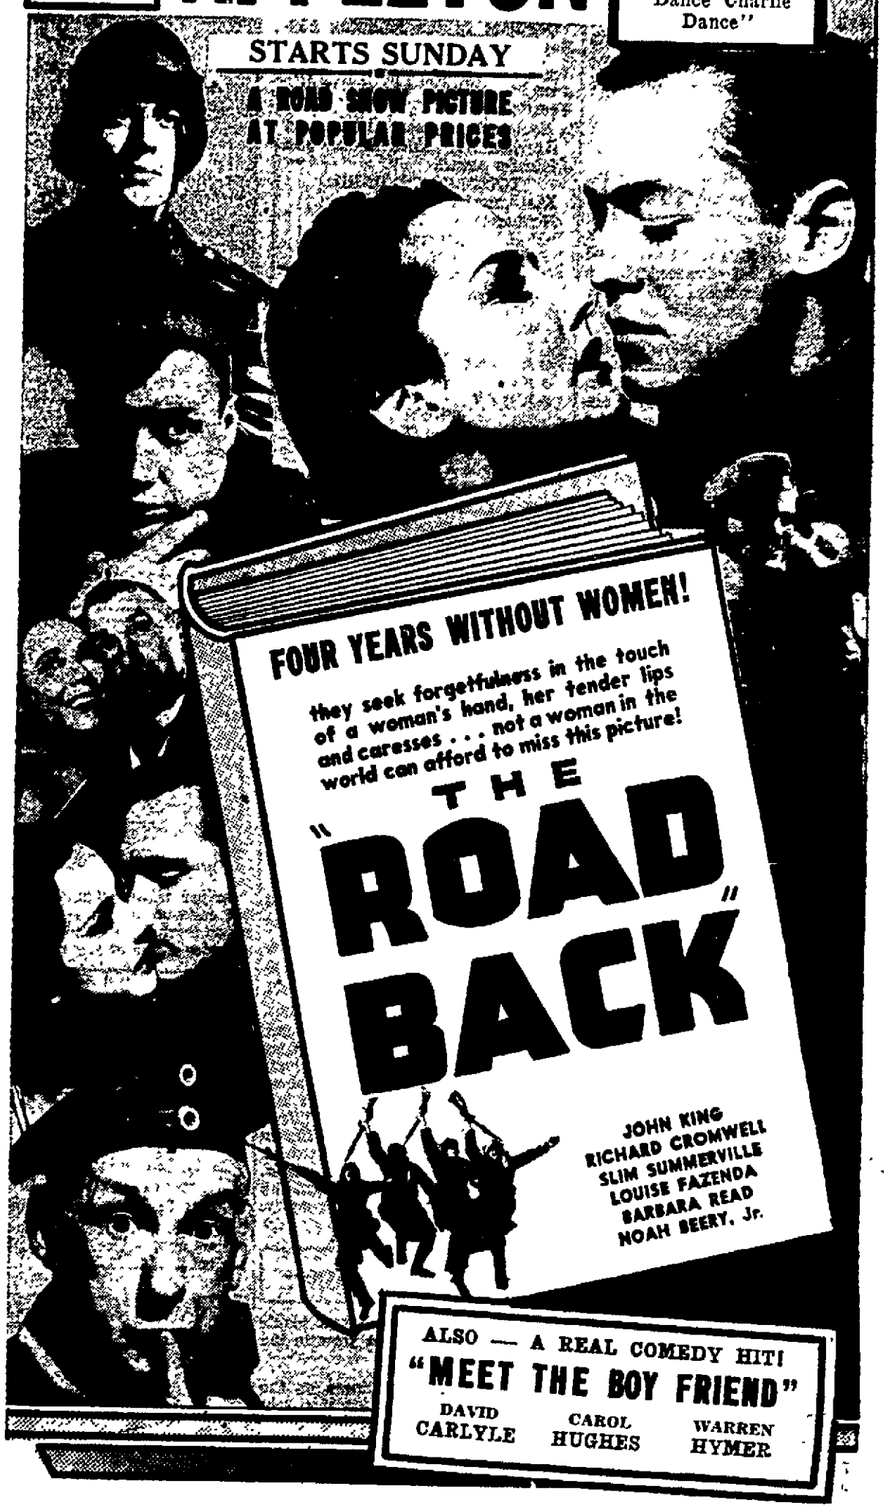

"The Road Back," produced on a magnificent scale, is a picture you will long remember and want to see over again

Consider Generalities To be Dangerous Guides

BY ELY CULBERTSON

(Copyright, 1937)

(This week's articles follow the fortunes of a certain pair through a match-point duplicate game. The fifth hand of the series is discussed today.)

Generalities are dangerous guides. Take the matter of signaling. The defender who follows suit to his partner's or adversary's lead with a low card generally desires a shift; a high card generally demands a continuation. This is all very well for beginners but advanced players seek greater precision. The words "high" and low are, after all, purely comparative.

The hand recorded below brought "my pair" a good match-point score, simply because both players were able to make the proper distinction between a four-spot and a deuce.

The bidding [East-West vulnerable]:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	2 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"My team" sat East-West on this board. West opened the club king, and East gave the best signal available to him by playing the four. Declarer followed with the five. Despite the fact that West "missed" the deuce, he could not be certain enough of its location to continue clubs at this point. Declarer might well be false-carding with the Q-5-2.

Since West still had control of the diamond suit, he decided to try for a heart trick. Accordingly he led a low heart. Dummy played the ace, and East followed with the deuce. Declarer drew three rounds of trumps, on the second of which East discarded the diamond deuce. Declarer then led to his diamond king. West won, and promptly laid down the ace and another club, holding the opponents to three-odd.

The point involved in this hand may seem absurdly simple, but I took the pains to find out what had happened at other tables. In five separate instances four spades had been made, although not bid. The various Wests had refused to view the club four as a come-on signal and had maintained their A-J tenace position to the bitter end, waiting for the play to come to them. This had permitted the declarers to discard a club from dummy on the long diamond.

The conversation between East and West at the table I was watching was significant. East said: "I certainly was afraid of that four of clubs. I was tempted to play the queen to tell you to come on, but naturally I could not be sure you had the A-K-J." West's answer was eloquent: "So now you're beginning to worry that I'm blind! Didn't you think that by comparison with your deuce of diamonds and your deuce of hearts your four of clubs would look as big as a house?"

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question: In the following bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
3 hearts	Pass

is South's three heart bid forcing?

Answer: No, since South had originally passed.

Old Gardener Says:

By E. I. Farrington

The new double Shasta daisy Admiral Byrd has proved itself this summer. It has produced an abundance of blooms throughout the season even in regions where it has been unusually dry. Not only does it withstand the heat and drouth of summer, but it has, during the past two or three winters, proved that it is hardy at temperatures as low as twenty degrees below zero. The flowers are double, having three rows of twisted and curled petals, and are often four inches or more in diameter. The stems of this daisy are long and straight and the plants grow at a uniform height of about eighteen inches. The flowers last unusually well when cut. Esther Read is another new double Shasta daisy which shows great promise. It has a quilled anemone center. However, it is of English origin and stock is still scarce in this country.

My Neighbor Says—

Transplant all ferns and plants now that you wish to grow in the house next winter.

Always iron ecru linens on the wrong side. Ironing on the right side robs them of their luster.

A little olive oil rubbed over paper that has struck to a polished surface, softens paper and makes it easier to remove.

If you have no individual molds, jellies may be molded in muffin tins. Turn pan upside down, place hot, wet towel over pan and jellies will slip out easily.

Casserole dishes made of meat, vegetables or fish can be cooked in the morning and reheated just before they are to be served.

Stripes Are Smart

Stripes set the sign of smartness on both frock and hat in this early fall costume, designed for a Labor Day debut. The white-collared black rayon frock has a raised embroidered stripe of red and the black chapeau a center stripe of gay ribbon.

Wrecked on Cape Breton Island

In the Atlantic ocean, northeast of Nova Scotia, is Cape Breton island. It has an area of more than 3,000 square miles. A century and a half ago, a wreck took place on the coast of the island.

Ensign Prenties Seized a Saw And a Hatchet as he Threw Himself Into The Boat.

Winter had set in when a sloop came near the shore. It had sailed out of Quebec, and there were 19 persons aboard, including six passengers.

For days, the vessel had been leaking, and the men on it had been working hard at the pumps. Chunks of beef were used to stop up holes in the stern, but it seemed a losing fight and the sailors were glad to catch sight of land.

When close to shore the sloop ran aground, and the only lifeboat was lowered. There was fear that the sloop might go to pieces. Five men made the first trip in the small boat. Among these was Ensign S. W. Prenties who seized a saw and a hatchet as he threw himself into the boat.

A big wave upset the rowboat just before it reached shore, but all got there alive. Another trip was made to bring the rest of the men to the land. A hut 10 feet wide and 20 feet long was built, with standing trees as corner posts. This broke the force of the winter winds, but did not give the best shelter from the cold. In less than a week, five men were dead of cold and exposure.

One day the wind died down enough to make another trip to the wrecked ship. Two chests of onions, one chest of potatoes, about 120 pounds of beef, some tallow candles and some tools were taken ashore.

That was the end of the food supply from the sloop. What would happen if all those still alive should try to spend the remaining months of the winter at that spot? It was figured that the food would last only six weeks more, and the chances were that hunger, if not the cold weather, would end the lives of all.

Hoping to obtain help, Ensign Prenties and five others boarded the lifeboat. A sail was rigged up, and they sailed along the coast. Enough food was taken along to last a few weeks.

Halts were made each night. The men slept ashore and built fires to keep warm. No village was found, and the food supply gave out. Dry fruits of the sweetbrier were dug from under the snow, and were eaten. The boat had become very leaky, and any day it seemed that further travel in it might have to be given up.

Some 'Letting Alone' Is Necessary for Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

"That woman never does a thing for that child. Just puts him out there in the yard with his things and leaves him there. I couldn't do such a thing. I hurry through my work and take him out for a walk, and I sit with him when he plays. I couldn't be easy if he was out of my sight. But she doesn't seem to care. I think it's awful to neglect a child so."

If more mothers gave their children a little wholesome neglect the children would be psysically and mentally in better health. A child does not need constant attendance unless he is sick, and even then, he needs letting alone in great stretches. The child who is healthy is active, and he needs to be allowed to follow his own scheme for living without the interference of grown-up people.

A child of two years should be able to play by himself in a safe place alone, or with other children, for about two hours at a time. He needs a clean safe, enclosed place, for play. He needs some simple things, the simpler the better for playthings. These things ought to call for action for activity is the breath of his life. A child must do and keep doing in order to grow. His doing must take its start from his own mind, and it must be carried out in his own fashion, so that his experiences are first hand and personal to him.

When a mother or a teacher takes a child by the hand, leads him to where he wants the child to go, sets the program without considering the child's wants or needs, follows the program through to his own satisfaction the parent or the teacher has had first hand experience with the child but the child has had none of his own as far as the activity, which is the root of the matter, is concerned. Imposed experience, imposed behavior, does not belong to the one imposed upon but to the commander. Children grow only through their own experience. They are strengthened through the medium of their own initiative and their own creative labor.

Is not the teacher and the mother to have anything to say about what a child should do? Plenty, and they say it all day and through the years. That is why it is so essential that for some time in the day the child should be let alone to apply what has been taught him, to test out his own powers, to feel his own way about.

Teachers and parents have to give information, have to train children into right habits of work, self control, service. They have to watch over the child's growth and direct it. They have to help in selecting the experiences a child should have. But there must come a time in the day when the child is left to work out his own salvation.

A judicious letting alone is essential to the full development of the intelligent child.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Bedtime Troubles," in which he tells parents how to overcome irritability in children. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Blemishes, Pimples are Preventable

BY ELSIE PIERCE

GLANDULAR readjustments may be part of the growing up process, but blackheads, acne, pimples are not "have-to-be's". That's as old fashioned as the notion that you can't escape the measles.

The average healthy, normal young girl of high school age is a shining example of physical perfection. From babyhood she is taught the important rules of cleanliness and personal hygiene, the importance of the bath, proper diet, rest, open air exercise, drinking water. There's your foundation for the clear skin. And there's the reason why less and less young people have embarrassing skins.

Cleanliness

The average healthy, normal young girl does not need complicated beauty treatments. But her mother allows her a little more freedom with beauty aids so that there is no pinch-penny saving and buying of inferior cosmetics on the "q. t." Instead, mother selects daughter's beauty aids, and they're the finest money can buy.

Daughter is taught one rule above all others and that is cleanliness. Make-up must be removed before retiring if make-up is used. If the skin is oily it is cleansed with a complexion brush and a pure bland soap, rinsed thoroughly, cold water dashed over it as the last rinsing. Then a mild tonic is used. That treatment keeps the oily skin pretty well controlled. Remember that this type is the favorite parking place for blackheads and pimples. At the first sign of blackheads treat them scientifically. Try to extract them very carefully and gently with tissues over the fingertips (and the hands scrubbed as clean and carefully as a doctor scrubs his.) If the blackheads are stubborn, heat a little olive oil and apply to throw the pores open. Then try. If they still won't "give" leave them for another day. It's fussing, fooling, and fingering with fingers that are not entirely clean that make for permanent harm and scars. An antiseptic lotion or ointment or combination of both gently applied to pimples may heal them and avoid spreading. If this fails see a reputable dermatologist and follow instructions to the letter. An occasional minor blemish is no major catastrophe. It happens to every woman, young or old, even to our "Helens of Troy." You can touch them with a stick that covers the tell-tale spot magically—until you can definitely correct.

My bulletin "A Young Girl's Beauty Rites" outlines the daily beauty routine for young girls of high school and college age. Send self - addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope if you wish it. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The most important part of the preparation of desserts is the serving. To be appetizing, hot desserts should be served really hot and cold desserts cold. It is inexcusable to place a chilled dessert on a hot plate or a warm pudding on a cold dish.

Husband and Wife Always Keep Each Other Guessing

BY DOROTHY DIX

The wail of every discontented wife is: "My husband doesn't understand me." The alibi of every wandering husband is: "My wife doesn't understand me." It is true in both cases. No husband ever has the slightest idea of why his wife does the things she does the way she does them.

DOROTHY DIX

No wife knows why her husband acts the way he does. It is impossible that two people of different sexes, with different inheritances, brought up in different environments, with different habits and modes of thoughts and purposes, can ever see eye to eye, or realize the poet's dream of two souls with but a single thought.

They are bound to have their individual points of view, and to be motivated by their own aspirations and desires, and that is what makes the matrimonial game so interesting, but one in which husbands and wives so often play at cross purposes.

No woman, for instance, can understand what it is in the marriage ceremony that turns a romantic lover into a prosaic meal ticket. She can't understand why, before marriage, he spent hours upon hours telling her how beautiful and wonderful she was and how different from all other woman. Then after marriage he never notices her looks, unless it is to tell her she is getting fat.

She can't understand why, when he married to get a home, he is not willing to stay in it; nor why he sets other people's tables in a roar, but is the Great Silencer at his own. She can't understand why, before marriage, he used to remember every anniversary and her taste in food and books and amusements, but after marriage he has to be reminded of her birthday and Christmas, and tells her to go down town and get something for herself and charge it; that he doesn't know what she wants.

She can't understand why a man doesn't know that financial independence means as much to a woman's self-respect as it does to a man's, and that it humiliates her to beg for every nickel just as much as it would him. She can't understand why a man is willing to trust his wife with his name, his honors, his children and his life, but isn't willing to trust her with a few dollars.

A woman can't understand why men are so easily fooled by women, and why they can't see through the arts and wiles of feminine gold-diggers that are as transparent as glass to another woman. She can't understand why a man will fall for a hard-luck story, if told by a good-looker, that wouldn't deceive a girl baby. She can't understand why men always think that a woman is innocent, no matter what crime she commits, if she has golden hair and blue eyes.

A woman can't understand why, if her husband loves her, as he says he does, he should philander with other women. She never understands why men never grow up but stay little boys to the end of their lives, and why every now and then they are bound to play truant. She never understands why clever men so often marry morons; nor why husbands make so little effort to get along with their wives or even to try to understand them.

A man never understands why, after marriage, a woman isn't satisfied to settle down and take marriage for granted. He doesn't understand why women are so set on sentimental twaddle and want to be treated as brides even after they get fat and 40 and the mothers of large families, and why they put more emphasis on words than deeds.

A man never understands why his wife should ever want more out of life than just being married to him, nor why she ever wants any diversion more lively than just staying at home taking care of the children and working about 14 hours a day for her board and clothes.

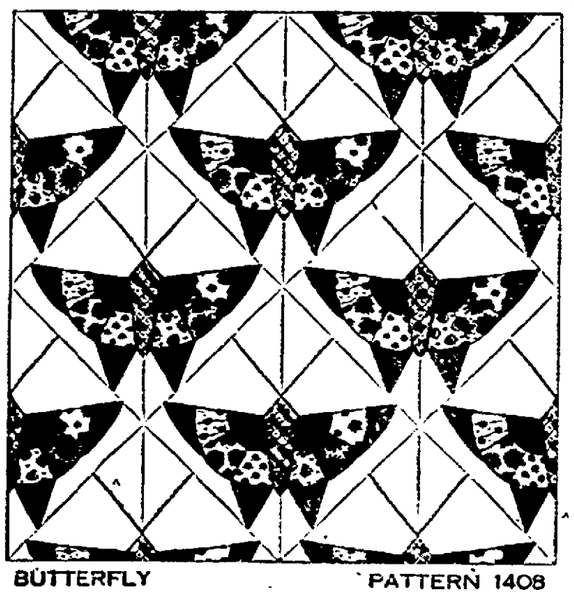

A man can't understand why his wife gets green-eyed if he pays attention to a little flapper or takes his pretty stenographer out to lunch. He can't understand for the life of him why she isn't willing to forgive and forget all of his infidelities when he gets tired of roaming and comes back home.

A man never understands why women cry when they are glad. Why they go out and buy something to celebrate a happiness or console them in sorrow. Why they put such an inordinate value on love. Why they are so hungry for compliments. And, most of all, why so few of them find out how to work their husbands.

No, the sexes never understand each other. They always keep each other guessing. DOROTHY DIX.

BUTTERFLY PATTERN 1408

Here's a colorful 10 inch block—a delight to piece—lovely when done! These butterflies have wings pieced fan-shape, of just gay odds and ends of scraps. Dig down in your scrap bag and see how many colorful ones you can produce. Do their "antennae" with floss in outline stitch. Pattern 1408 contains complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to the Appleton Post-Crescent, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

TABLE SETTING AND SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) May tall stemmed goblets (3½-inch stems) be used with a Majolica service? I purchased them at X—— and they seemed to think they were all right together. (2) Are tiny sandwiches and tea cakes the right thing to serve at a party of fourteen? There will be a lecture in my home at night, followed by buffet service. Are these eaten with the fingers? (3) What should be served at a summer luncheon when the hostess has small children and no help. There will be six people. (4) Are very fine and ornate so-called rock crystal glasses—very long stems—all right with a very tailored white dinner service with a long slim monogram? (5) Is it all right to serve the lemonade, etc., to guests who come in on a hot and thirsty night in stemmed glasses or water glasses of any type? I have no lemonade glasses. (6) Is a supper size plate—ten inches—suitable for any service, dessert or luncheon? (7) May a salad be served from the kitchen on the same plate with a la king pattie? (8) I have a very plain dinner service and a very elaborate Majolica) pottery service. My sterling flatware is very plain. It is only for six. I am increasing it. Shall I buy an ornate or a plain pattern? My pattern is too old too match. (9) When may wine be served?

Answer: (1) If you think they look well together, then they should be quite all right. Italian glass is often made with a very long stem. (2) Sandwiches and tea cakes with some sort of punch or with coffee or whatever you choose for a beverage would be exactly right. They are eaten in the fingers always. (3) Serve at your luncheon that which is easily served and eaten, something that the children can eat without too much help from you, such as broiled chicken a la king with rice or croquettes and peas—not broiled chicken nor baked potato! (4) I should think they would be very suitable (unless the design is full of scrolls) because the glass would be particularly effective in contrast to the plainness of the china. (5) Serve the lemonade in any glass you happen to have. One without a stem is better than one with. (6) A ten-inch plate is a little large to be used as a luncheon or a dessert plate. (7) Although very many people put cold salad by preference on the hot plate with fowl or game instead of on the salad plate, pastry is not a suitable substitute for roast game. (8) I would buy one that goes most nearly with the one you have, that is, if you like it. (9) Chablis is served with oysters, sherry with soup, white wine with fish, claret with meat, Burgundy with dessert, or champagne clear through. Of course very few in this modern day serve all these at one dinner.

Kaws Win First Game at Baseball Tourney

Timely Hitting By Vondrashek Features Victory

Carvenaugh Allows Three Safeties and Fans Nine Batters

MILWAUKEE—Behind Sonny Carvenaugh's three hit pitching and the "clutch" hitting of Icky Van Drashek, Kaukauna of the Northern State league defeated Wisconsin Rapids of the Central association, 2 to 1, to go into the semi-finals of the open division of the state baseball tournament here last night. Carvenaugh whiffed nine and failed to give up an earned run.

Von Drashek was the hitting hero. He scored the first run after doubling and drove in the winning run in the first of the seventh with a hard two baser off the left field fence.

The Rapids scored in the last half of the first. With one away Chadwick singled and stole second after Judnick fanned. Marlotte walked and Chadwick counted on the head end of a delayed double steal when Zeluiski let Eggert's throw slip through his hands at third base.

Kaws Tie Score

Kaukauna evened it in the third, Von Drashek doubled to lead off and scored on Carvenaugh's single. The Rapids threatened in the last of the fourth when Sandrin led off with a double to left, but his mates could not do anything about it in face of Carvenaugh's stout pitching.

Zelinski opened the Kaukauna seventh with a single to right and went to second on Peck's sacrifice. Von Drashek then cracked his game winning double to score Zelinski with the big counter. The Rapids went out in order in its half.

SHEBOYGAN COPS

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Sheboygan Bottoms Up club, stretching five hits into a 9 to 4 victory over the Milwaukee Laborers' local, moved into the amateur division finals of the second annual state baseball tournament today.

The Bottoms Up mixed their hits with seven Laborers' errors and went into the lead in the early innings they never relinquished.

Brewers Overcome 3rd Place Millers

American Association Leaders Taste Defeat Last Night

Chicago—(AP)—Columbus, Toledo and Minneapolis are playing the leading roles, but lower standing clubs can take a bow for helping to make this year's American association battle one of the most interesting in many seasons.

The three leaders all tasted defeat last night, Columbus taking a 5 to 0 whipping from Louisville, Toledos second place Mud Hens bowing to Indianapolis, 4 to 3, and the third-place Minneapolis Millers accepting a 7 to 3 defeat from the 1936 champions, Milwaukee.

The Brewers scored six runs in the third in defeating Minneapolis. Bill Zuber went the route for the winners, giving up nine safeties as Milwaukee was getting eight off the delivery of Jim Henry, Jim Baker and Pettit. Jeff Heath hit a homer for the Brewers in the ninth.

The Kansas City-St. Paul battle ended with an 8 to 7 victory for the Saints. Bit McCulloch drove in the winning run for St. Paul with a single in the eighth.

MILWAUKEE WOMAN WINS

Chicago—(AP)—Mrs. Rosemarie Fischer, of Milwaukee, defeated Mrs. Regina Paulson, Chicago, in 12 moves yesterday in a first round women's match of the American chess federation's annual championship.

Wehrle Survives 2nd Round of Golf Tourney

Los Angeles—(AP)—Wilford Wehrle of Racine, only remaining Wisconsin entrant, was paired against Nate Marshall of Los Angeles in the third round of the Western amateur golf championship here today.

Lynford Lardner, of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Dick Ashley, of Kenosha, Wis., first round survivors, bowed out of the tourney in second round matches yesterday.

Lardner beat Pat Abbott, of Pasadena, 3 and 2, and then lost 2 up over 19 holes to Wehrle. Wehrle had a first round victory over Sidney Richardson, Creston, Ia., 5 and 4.

Extended to 21 holes, Ashley defeated Jack Munger, of Dallas, Tex., one up in the first round, and then suffered a 3 and 2 defeat by Don Erickson of Los Angeles, runner-up in the recent national public links meet.

MONDAY'S GAMES
Shawano at New London.
Waupaca at Marion.
Clintonville at Manawa.
Weyauwega at Neopit.

The Wolf Valley league will ring down the curtain on the current season's schedule with eight games Sunday and Monday and with almost anything liable to happen in the pennant race. Four teams have a mathematical chance at first place.

In Sunday's program, Shawano, tied with Clintonville for first, will go to Weyauwega and should come away with a win. Clintonville draws Neopit's Indians and they may offer trouble. The game will be played at night at Clintonville. The other two games will have New London, not exactly an outsider in the race, at Waupaca and Marion at Manawa in a cellar championship contest.

Monday's feature game will have Shawano at New London and it will bear considerably on the pennant race. Clintonville draws Manawa at Manawa and should win while Waupaca goes to Marion and Weyauwega to Neopit.

25 to 29 are Best Ages For Athletic Prowess

Minneapolis—(AP)—The age of greatest athletic prowess is 25 to 29, except in golf and bowling, when it is 30 to 34.

This was the finding from a study of 11 leading sports reported to the American Psychological association here today by Professor Harvey C. Lehman, of Ohio university, at Athens, Ohio.

He studied the records of 500 to 600 baseball players from the years 1916 to 1937. In their performance, he said, were 2,980 "player-years," each year being one playing season by a big league player.

The best single year for baseball records in this group, he said, was the age of 28. But the average was 25 to 29. In the earlier years of baseball, he said, the champions were somewhat younger.

In prize fighting, with 133 world champions in all classes supplying the material, the best age was 25 to 29.

Wolf Valley Team Settles Clintonville City Championship

Clintonville—The Trucker baseball team, Clintonville's entry in the Wolf Valley league and at the present time tied for first place, settled all doubt about its ability when it humbled the Merchants, local entry in the Pigeon River Valley league, 9 to 1, under lights last night.

The Merchants got four hits off Gertzinger. Huffman and Tomlin and scored their lone run in the fifth. Gertzinger fanned nine and walked none, Huffman fanned three and walked one and Tomlin fanned two and walked none. O'Brien toiled for the Merchants and gave 12 hits and fanned 4. Schmidtke hit a two-bagger for the only extra base hit of the game.

Feminine Swimmers In Attack on Records

San Francisco—(AP)—Hard by the Pacific ocean in the world's largest outdoor pool, America's best feminine swimmers and divers open a 4-day attack on national records today.

It's the senior women's A. A. U. championship, which this year brings out nearly 100 skilled mermaids, including several Olympic and American titlists.

Lash to Race for First Time Since Operation

Auburn, Ind.—(AP)—Don Lash, Auburn boy who made good as a miler at Indiana university and in the Olympics, will run his first race here Sept. 29 since his appendicitis operation in June. He will take part in a four and a half mile handicap race during the DeKalb county fair.

YES, FOOTBALL'S BACK AGAIN

Appleton High school gridders have been working out twice daily at the Spencer street athletic field since Tuesday despite the heat that has made anything but light work impossible. Most of the lads are wearing gym suits and many sport only the trunks of those as the top picture of a group of 11 boys shows. The squad isn't the varsity combination or any other, for all that matter, for it was gathered together to show what most of the boys wear. However, the line shows, left to right, Brasch, Kant, Springer, Schultz, Arndt, Heinritz and Buesing, three of the boys being brothers of former high school stars. In the back field, if you can find them, there's Tracy at wingback, Filz and DeLeest with Calmes at tailback.

The other picture shows one of the first bruises of the practice being dressed by Norbert Dresang, manager. The injured player is Lee Springer, a guard, while Arnold Harmson, big tackle, originally came over to lend moral support and then decided he'd pose for his picture. The intently interested chap in the back is Bob Massonette, one of the managerial understudies. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Father, Son Will Show in National Rowboat Derby

OSHKOSH—The second annual National Rowboat derby scheduled for Labor day, Sept. 6 from Winneconne to Neenah via the Wolf-Fox-Winnebago waterway, will again have a father-son combination in the contest, it was announced today.

An official entry has been received by Winnebagoland, Inc., sponsors from Walter Rennert, Oshkosh, who last year participated in the contest, alternating at the oars for the 24-mile pull, with his son Raymond. This year, Rennert announces his 17-year old son Vernon will spell out dad during the rest periods.

The Rennerts live on the bank of the Fox River here and row daily for exercise. They were considered strong contenders for the 1936 derby but finished in sixteenth place.

J. B. Cudlip, Winnebagoland secretary said today that the official entry list has been increased to 16 starters. Additional contestants now officially qualified to start include: Frank and Alex Goeser of Chilton, Wis.; Tony Kohnke and Si Wagner of Oshkosh; and Ben Yahr and Charles Doxtator of Stockbridge, Wis.

The Goeser brothers look like real competition for Cyrus and Ray Benedict of Butte des Morts who will attempt to defend the championship they won last year. Recently the Goesers won the Wisconsin State Championship held at Fremont.

Frank Goeser was in the second place boat last year with his brother Gregor. This year Gregor is billed to pair up with "Smoky" Hill, full blooded Stockbridge Indian from Brothertown.

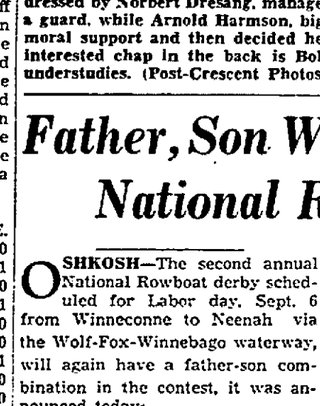

The grind will start next Monday morning at 11 o'clock from the bridge at Winneconne.

Sgt. Anderson Wins President's Match

Camp Perry, O. — (AP) — Twelve matches—four each over the .30 caliber rifle, small bore and pistol ranges—drew marksmen entered in the national rifle and pistol matches to the firing lines today.

Rifle matches scheduled included the A. E. F. Roumanian, Rumbold trophy, enlisted men's, and the veterans of Foreign Wars trophy matches, all events open to 6-man teams.

Sergeant Clarence J. Anderson, U. S. Marine corps, Washington, D. C., emerged victor in the featured President's match after officials, confronted with a number of tied scores and the task of tabulating 3,500 score cards, decided late last night he outranked three other contenders.

Intense Heat Hinders Giant Grid Practices

Orangeburg, N. Y.—(AP)—Oppressive heat is keeping the New York football Giants from the completion of their daily training schedule for the game with the Eastern College All-Stars Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds.

Ed Widseth, Giant Minnesota tackle, will join the Giants today with two other Western stars, Gerry Dennerlein, St. Mary's tackle, and Jim Gelatka, end for Mississippi state.

Highstown, N. J.—(AP)—Confident that their aerial game is close to top form, the Eastern College All-Stars settled down today to the final phase of their training for the charity game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night. Bobby La Rue, Pittsburgh's great running back, joined the team yesterday.

Revolta Hits Par In Hershey Open

Guldahl and Mangrum Shoot Six Under Par In First Round

Hershey, Pa.—(AP)—Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago, National open golf champion, and Ray Mangrum, of Dayton, Ohio, awoke this model community near Harrisburg today, confident of setting a new record for the 72-hole $5,000 Hershey open.

Each turned in a sizzling six-under-par 61 in the first round yesterday to equal the course record. All they have to do to equal the 72-hole record of 286 made by Ky Lafoon, of Denver, Colo., three years ago, is shoot par 73 for the remaining three rounds today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Guldahl and Mangrum showed the way to a top-flight field that included Henry Picard, winner of the Hershey open last year; and five other members of this year's Ryder cup team, Byron Nelson, of Reading, Pa.; Johnny Revolta, of Milwaukee; Gene Sarazen, of Brookfield Center, Conn., Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Big Ed Dudley, of Philadelphia.

Picard was in third place with a sub-par 70. Sarazen got a 72 while Snead and Revolta equalled par with 73's. Nelson and Dudley got 74's.

Arcade Alleys Open For Season Saturday

With summer activities on the wane, bowling is coming to the fore and the Arcade Alleys on Appleton street will be open to Appleton keglers Saturday. The alleys have been resanded and reconditioned for the 1937-38 season, according to Al Jenss, proprietor.

Leagues will get underway within the next 10 days or 2 weeks and captains of the Industrial league will meet at 7:30 this evening to draw plans for the approaching season.

Cabs Get Final Chance at Title In Valley Loop

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Neenah at Oshkosh.
Green Bay at Menasha.
Appleton at Grand Chute.

THE Oshkosh 8500 Cabs and Neenah Merchants will clash at Menominee Park, Oshkosh, in a game that will just about decide the championship of the Northern Valley league Sunday. The battle will end the season for the Cabs while Neenah closes its schedule with two games the following week. An Oshkosh win assures it of at least a tie for the loop flag while a Neenah victory and an even break in the two remaining tilts will give the Merchants the championship.

Sunday's game will be more or less a grudge battle as both clubs hold little respect for each other. The Cabs think they should have represented the loop in the state tournament due to three league wins over Neenah even though Neenah led the loop by half a game to sneak under the fire at tournament time. Kloiber of the Cabs will toil against Lefty Jerome of the Merchants in Sunday's big game.

The Green Bay Thomas Drugs and the Menasha Eagles clash at Menasha in a battle to decide third place. Vanden Boom or Radelet will pitch for the Bays while Brown will work for the Eagles.

Appleton meets Grand Chute at the Chuter field in the other league game. Both clubs are composed of Appleton players and Sunday's game should be interesting even though their position in the standings will not be affected. Murphy of Appleton will oppose Noffke of the Chuters on the mound.

Dame Fortune and Bill Terry are in Cahoots Once More

Things Break Right as Giants Take Full Game Lead Over Cubs

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOCIAL note: Lady Luck is that way about Bill Terry again.

The romance that waxed just about this time last season, and then cooled off for much of the early part of the current campaign, is blooming again.

Terry

Everything is breaking right for the Colonel from Memphis and his New York Giants. His pitchers have started to click again, his attack is timely if not murderous, and his nearest rivals for the National league pennant are falling apart with all the consistency of a layer cake hit with a sledge hammer.

What with this and that, the Terry Terriers were a full game in front in the National league pennant parade today. Their 5-4 win over the Cardinals yesterday, coupled with the Dodgers' 4-3 decision over the second-place Cubs, left the championship chase in this form:

	W.	L.	Pct.	To play
Giants	73	47	.608	34
Cubs	73	49	.598	32

McCarthy Stars

John McCarthy was the No. 1 walloper yesterday in the 10-inning win over the Cards. He whacked two homers to make up for a fielding collapse on the part of the New Yorkers and kept the Giants in the game long enough for Mel Ott's thirtieth round-tripper and a trio of assorted blows in the extra frame to pull the Giants in. The Cubs went down for the second straight day before the Dodgers, in a 11-inning walloping at the hands of the Brooklyns.

Meantime, the Yankees and their slump ran into young Bob Feller and the alleged murderers' row took a terrific kicking around. Young Bob, looking a lot like a pitcher, fanned a dozen and allowed five hits as he hurled the Tribe to a 4-2 win despite Joe Dimaggio's thirty-ninth homer.

Hank Greenberg poked two homers and the Tigers topped the Senators, 9-8, in ten innings to cut the Yanks' lead to ten games. The White Sox socked the Red Sox twice, 4-2 and 10-8, and the Athletics trimmed the Browns, 5-3, on Bill Werber's double with the bases loaded. The Pirates' 5-run rally in the ninth beat the Phillies, 11-8. The Bees and Reds were idle.

Lakes Leaders in Playoff Sunday

Seymour Invades Bonduel To Settle Second Round Tie

Seymour — Seymour baseball team, tied for first place in the second round of the Land o' Lakes league with Bonduel, will go to Bonduel Sunday for a game that will decide whether Seymour wins the round title and goes into a 3-game playoff with Bonduel. If Bonduel wins Sunday's game it will take the round and season's honors for it copped the first round title.

Seymour asked that Bonduel concede it the second round honors and that the first game of the title series be Sunday's game. Bonduel couldn't see it that way, however, so Seymour will have to win three of four games to cop the championship.

Sunday's game will feature a cheesemakers' picnic at Bonduel and a record crowd is expected. The gate will be split.

Seymour will depend on the left arm of Arnold Kelly with Hartjes catching. Hammen will show at first, Bowman at second, Vande Walle at short, Gertz at third and Ralph or Roy Puls, Palmer, Lamers or Ness in the outfield.

Bonduel is expected to show the Raasch brothers as its battery, Schultz at first, Wagner at second, Krueger at short, Maritzke at third, and Ernie or Richard Peterson, and Raasch in the outfield.

Eastern Wis. Teams To Meet in Playoff

Hilbert — Hilbert baseball team, second round winner in the Eastern Wisconsin league, will get a chance to even matters with Stockbridge in the championship playoff at 10:15 here Sunday morning when the teams show in the second game of the series. Ten days ago Hilbert lost to the Bridgers, 6 to 0, in the first game at Chilton. The win permitted Stockbrodge to represent the league in tournament play at Milwaukee. Les Hillmann or Al Suttner and Ossie Hillman will work for Hilbert and Jess Petty and C. Hemauer for Stockbridge.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Merchants at Grange.
Black Creek at Shiocton.
Hortonville at Dale.

Black Creek, nursing a one-game lead in the County league, will take on Shiocton Sunday afternoon at Shiocton intent on winning and remaining in front of the ambitious Greenville Merchants. The Creekers lost their second game of the round last Sunday to Dale and figure they have all the bad baseball out of their systems and should accomplish something this weekend. Miller will toss for the Creekers with LeCaptaine behind the plate. For Shiocton, it will be S. Lathrop on the mound.

Greenville Merchants hope to show Greenville Grangers how the game should be played when the clubs clash at the Granger diamond. The Grangers are next to the bottom in the standings. The Merchants will toss either Dats Crowe or Cliff Burton while the Grange is expected to pitch Krahn or Kuzenski.

In the other game, Dale will be at home to Hortonville and should win easily from the league's cellar champions.

Bergstrom Papers to Meet Forster Team

Bergstrom Paper company softballers of Neenah will show against the Forster Taverns under lights at the Forster diamond at 8:30 this evening. Roger Kettering or Hans Scheer will hurl for the invaders and Joe Hieble will toss and Otto Kirk catch for the Chuters.

Last night the Forsters were scheduled to play an Oshkosh team but it failed to put in its appearance.

Weary Cubs Home After Costly Trip

Win Nine, Lose Ten on Road; Begin 22 Games In Chicago

Chicago—(AP)—It was home sweet home for the weary Cubs today.

Their home "den"—Wrigley field—never looked better to them. Possessors of a comfortable 4-game National league lead Aug. 15 when they sallied into enemy territory, the Cubs return in second place, a full game back of the New York Giants. In a home stand they see their big chance to take the pennant away from the Terry men.

The road jaunt which ended yesterday with Brooklyn on the payoff end of a 4 to 3 count was the most costly of the Cub season. It netted nine defeats against seven victories. A 22-home game stand starts tomorrow against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cubs, victims of injury "breaks" since early in the season, have 32 games remaining on their schedule. Only 10 are on the road—three at Pittsburgh, three at St. Louis and four at Cincinnati.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

Bill Werber, Athletics— His double with bases loaded drove in three rus to whip Browns 5-3.

Max Butcher, Dodgers — Singled in eleventh to send winning run across for 4-3 win over Cubs after pitching hitless ball in 2-inning relief trick.

Hanw Greenberg, Tigers — Hit two homers, one in tenth to beat Senators 9-8; drove in four runs.

Woody Jensen, Pirates — Hit five-for-five, including two doubles and a triple, and drove in two runs in 11-8 win over Phillies.

Bob Feller, Indians — Fanned 12 and beat Yankees 4-2 with 5 hits.

Johnny McCarthy, Giants — Hit two homers and single, driving in 3 runs, in 5-4 win over Cardinals.

Thornton Lee, Boze Berger and Luke Appling, White Sox — Lee beat Red Sox 4-2 with four hits, aided by Berger's two homers, in doubleheader opener; Appling hit double, two singles, driving in four runs, in 10-8 nightcap victory.

St. John Faces Tough Schedule

Little Chute Catholic Gridders Will Start Drills Tuesday

Little Chute — Confronted with one of the toughest schedules in several years, Coach Ernie Miron of St. John Catholic school football squad has called the first practice for Tuesday afternoon.

A check of prospects shows that about eight veterans will head the squad and will be divided between linemen and backs. A number of second stringers last year will fill the vacancies. The entire squad is expected to number 40 boys, most of them light.

Reports are that two St. John stars of last year, Van Hoof and Jo Verstegen, will enroll in Marquette University this fall.

The St. John schedule follows:

Sept. 18—At St. Catherine, Racine.
Sept. 26—At St. Mary's Menasha, (Sunday.)
Oct. 3—St. John Cathedral, Milwaukee, at Little Chute.
Oct. 9—Kimberly at Little Chute.
Oct. 17—St. Mary's at Little Chute (Sunday.)
Oct. 24—Edgewood Academy, Madison, at Little Chute (Sunday. Homecoming game.)
Nov. 1—At St. Norbert, DePere.

Pitches No-Hit Game But Loses Tilt, 3-0

Orlando, Fla. —(AP)— Jim McMullen, big Deland right-hander, qualified for the Florida state league's "Hard Luck club" last night when he pitched a no-hit game, but lost to Orlando Gulls, 3-0.

In the eighth, an error and a walk put two men on with one away.

A hard hit ball eluded the shortstop, rolled into the outfield, and one man scored.

The throw to third was wild for error number three and another run scored. A long fly enabled the third man to score from third before the side was retired.

Bernice Wall Goes Into Semi-Finals of Tourney

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.—(AP)— Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., stroked her way into the semi-final round of the Mason-Dixon golf tournament yesterday with a 2 and 1 victory over Mary Fine, of Scranton, Pa.

Two spectacular shots came to Miss Wall's aid as she defeated the Pennsylvania darkhorse. Stymied on the eighth Miss Wall chipped over her opponent's ball to sink her putt and take the hole. She dropped a 40-foot putt to win the fifteenth.

Japan Builds World's Biggest Whale Tender

Osaka, Japan —(AP)— Determined to snatch away a part of the whaling business now almost monopolized by Britons and Norwegians, Japan is building another 32,000-ton whaling tender, the largest of its kind. She is called the Daisan Tonan Maru, a sister ship to the super-whaler, Daini Tonan Maru.

The cost of this latest giant and her eight "catcher-boats" will exceed $4,000,000. She will be equipped with 40,000-ton whale-oil tanks which will enable the ship, in event of war, to be converted into a petroleum tanker.

The vessel is 555 feet long, 74 feet wide and has a draught of 57 feet. In her construction 9,600 tons of steel, or about the same quantity of steel frames used in Japan's new National Parliament, are being used.

Automobile Horns Make Buffaloes Turn Back

Clayton, N. M. —(AP)— Authorities smiled when buffaloes were reported blocking the Colorado and Southern railroad tracks.

Then a state policeman spotted a buffalo—in the flesh—and turned in four alarms.

Big game hunters pursued the beasts—two of them by now — in automobiles. The buffaloes then charged the cars, but were turned back by honking horns.

With the help of a couple of old-time cow waddies, the buffalo posse corraled one and then rounded up its mate, which was running with a herd of cattle in Ralph Morledge's cow lots.

GOLFERS ARRIVE IN PLANE

A new stunt in Butte des Morts golf history was written yesterday when an airplane hovered over the course while the 18th fairway was cleared, landed and discharged three passengers who picked up their clubs and started a round of golf. The players were George H. Schmidt, R. W. Wallace and Leo Murphy. The plane was that of Herbert Schmidt, son of Mr. Schmidt.

Championship Matches to Feature Weekend's Golf

MATCHES in the various flights of the club championship tournaments and a few extra contests will feature play at Butte des Morts and Riverview golf courses over the weekend and Monday.

Out at Butte des Morts the championship flight matches will show Ralph McGowan playing Heber Pelkey, O. K. Ferry playing F. C. Steinke, Jimmy McKenny playing Ken Dickinson and Fred Bendt tackling the winner.

In the junior championship, B. Peterson will meet Ray Getschow and George Buckley will play Jack Lally.

The A flight at Butte des Morts will have Harold Landgraf playing the winner of the Clifford-Piper match and T. Jepson playing Bob Wolter who downed Joe Plank.

In B flight M. Hopkins will play Roy Marston with the winner meeting E. A. White and Bob Zaumeyer playing Eric Lindberg.

The C flight matches will have Russ Ward playing Les Buchman with the victor meeting Syl Schernick who recently downed Carl Holstrom, and A. Burstein meeting George Buckley with the winner playing W. Behlendorf.

Monday's play at Butte des Morts also will feature a flag tournament for men and women.

At Riverview the championship finals will have Dr. T. N. Barrows battling the Rev. C. S. Cox. Barrows defeated Lyle Spencer, the defending champion, in the semis while the Rev. Mr. Cox downed Dan Courtney.

Four events are carded for Riverview golfers over the holidays. There'll be a flag tournament, a putting contest, a "bet a million" tournament, and a blind bogey. Ringer score competition also will end over the weekend. The tourney started in May and features players entering their lowest score for each hole for the season. The low total wins the honors.

TAKES NEW POST

Boise, Idaho—(AP)—Percy O. Clapp, former football coach at the Milwaukee State Teachers' college, resigned yesterday as professor of physical education at the University of Idaho, Moscow.

Clapp said he would accept a similar position Sept. 27 at Colorado State Teachers college at Greeley. He came to Idaho two years ago from Lawrence college at Appleton.

Type Setting for Chinese Papers Is Hard on Feet

Use 6,000 Separate Characters in Printing News of War

San Francisco—(AP)—Five Chinese language newspapers, all dailies, are working overtime to keep San Francisco's Chinatown informed on the war in the Far East.

It's no easy job.

It takes 6,000 separate pieces of type to print Chinese, and every line is handset. The cases in which it is kept are a good hundred times as large as an American printer's case. The type-setter gets plenty of legwork as well at footwork.

"The Young China," local organ of the Nationalist party, was out with the first extra. It was a sheet 8 by 12 inches announcing the capture of Fengtai and was distributed free.

Want Chiang To Fight

There are some 20,000 Chinese in San Francisco, and all are in a bellicose mood. A stream of letters and telegrams urging General Chiang Kai-shek to fight it out with Japan has gone to the homeland.

"The Chinese of San Francisco are mostly Cantonese, and Cantonese are the backbone of the Nationalist government, said John Yehall Chin, a younger leader in the local colony.

"We will certainly raise a fund for Red Cross work and whatever war materials may be needed. China has plenty of man power so there probably will be no recruiting here, except for aviators."

Factions Unite

When the Japanese invaded Shanghai the Six Companies—which are not a commercial concern but a benevolent society—started an aviation school here for Chinese youth. The project was given up but some of the Chinese went on to become pilots.

Although most of Chinatown's population is American-born, nearly everyone here has relatives in China and a heavy correspondence is carried on.

Texas leads all other states of the union in the number of both cattle and sheep.

Party Leaders Disagree Over Hoover Suggestion for 'Mid-Term' Conclave

BY L. A. BROPHY

New York—(AP)—Herbert Hoover's suggestion for a "mid-term" convention of the Republican party has caused a sharp division of opinion among leaders over the nation, many favoring it and others definitely in opposition.

The Hoover thought, tossed into the middle of eddying discussions over party policies and strategy, has stimulated discussions over party leadership and "whither are we drifting" among Republican executives, the national committeemen and women, and state and county chairman.

A country-wide survey by the Associated Press today brought expressions from leaders of the part in 25 states. The Hoover proposal seemed to find favor with state and county chairmen; at least 15 well-known members of the national committee said they approved it. Other committee members were warily luke-warm, many wheel horses refused to comment.

Alf Landon, titular head of the party, had no comment, but opposition came from Frank Todd, Kansas Republican state chairman.

Mr. Todd said he did not favor a national "grass roots" convention. He believes organization by precincts superior.

It was apparent from some replies that a feeling exists in some quarters that the holding of such a gathering on the Hoover say-so might project the former president into actual party leadership.

Said Henry S. Caulfield, St. Louis last Republican governor of Missouri:

"I do not think it is advisable for him (Hoover) to take the leadership in calling any party meeting. He is a very fine man, but I don't think at this time he has the confidence of the public."

Believing, evidently, that the Democratic fireworks in the last congress were symptomatic of an incurable split, many Republican prominents threw cold water on the suggestion advanced in some G. O. P. quarters that Anti-Roosevelt Democrats should be invited into the party fold.

Keep the party, they said, on the bed-rock of its fundamental principles; let the Democrats alone and stay away from movements to change the name or principles of the grand old party.

National committeemen and women who said they agreed with the Hoover notion, at least in principle, included Ned Creighton and Mrs. Wilma Hoyal, Arizona; T. J. Kennamer, Alabama; John F. Harris, Florida; Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa; Hugh Butler, Nebraska; Charles A. Jones, North Carolina; Harvey C. Jewett, Jr., South Dakota; J. Will Taylor, Tennessee; George W. Snyder, Utah, and Pierpont Wood of Wisconsin.

Neenah Squad to Meet Oshkosh in Valley Loop Tilt

Merchants Clinging to Narrow Lead in League Standings

Neenah—The Neenah Merchants return to their own territory Sunday afternoon when they resume battle for the preferred position in the Northern Valley league against the Oshkosh Cabs at Oshkosh.

The Merchants were eliminated in their first conflict in the state tournament at Milwaukee last Saturday morning, when the Leopolis nine, champions of the Shawano county circuit, gave them a 3 to 2 beating.

Sunday's struggle with the Oshkosh Cabs promises to be a tight affair because the Merchants hold only a mathematical lead over the Sawdust City nine. The Merchants have won 12 games and lost five for a game percentage of .705, while the Cabs have won 13 contests and lost six for a percentage of .684.

Will Play Eagles

Because they were representing the Northern Valley circuit in the state tournament the Merchants' game with the Menasha Eagles last Sunday was postponed and will be played before the season closes, probably on a Sunday morning.

Last Sunday the Oshkosh nine moved up to within touching distance of a share of first place when they took Appleton's measure, 11 to 7.

Neenah's chances for advance in the state tournament last Saturday waned in the final inning when the Leopolis nine severed a 2-all deadlock. The Merchants had maintained a 2-run lead from the fourth stanza to the sixth, but Leopolis tied the score when they capitalized on Neenah errors.

The Merchants' probable starting lineup for the Oshkosh conflict will include K. Handler 2b, R. Handler 1b, Babcock rf, Hartzke ss, Haufe cf, Gammey 3b, Christofferson c, Cheslock lf, and either Jerome or Schultz, p.

Outlines Aims of Publicity Group

Secretary of Winnebagoland, Inc., Is Speaker At Rotary Meeting

Neenah—C. B. Cudlip, Oshkosh, secretary of Winnebagoland, Inc., discussed the activities and plans of the corporation at the regular noon meeting of the Neenah Rotary club Thursday at the Valley Inn.

He explained that the purpose of the corporations was to publicize the territory around Lake Winnebago as a vacation resort, drawing vacationists and tourists from the larger cities to the south.

The National Rowboat derby, the finish of which will be at Neenah during the Lions club Labor day celebration, is one of the means of advertising this section of the state, the secretary said. The derby has received national recognition, stories of which are being published in newspapers and magazines throughout the country and over national radio hookups.

The value of Winnebagoland as a fishing and hunting resort is also being publicized through the various advertising mediums in other sections of the country, Mr. Cudlip told the Rotarians.

Library Has '10 Best' Mystery Books of Year

Neenah—The Public library has on its shelves the 10 books which have been selected by S. S. Van Dine, noted detective story writer, as the 10 best detective stories published during the 1937 spring season.

Van Dine's latest detective novel, "The Powwow Murder Case," will be published in October.

The following are author's selections:

"Trial of Lizzie Borden" by Edmund Pearson, "Black Land, White Land" by H. C. Bailey; "Cards on the Table" by Agatha Christie, "Busman's Honeymoon" by Dorothy L. Sayes, "Death Stops the Rehearsal" by Richard M. Baker, "About the Murder of a Man Afraid of Women" by Anthony Abbot, "The Case of the Dangerous Dowager" by Russ, "The Red Box" by Rex Stout, "The Affair of the Scarlet Crab" by Clifford Knight, "There's Trouble Brewing" by Nicholas Blake.

Campbell on Committee For Constitution Day

Neenah—Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs has appointed William S. Campbell to the Neenah constitution sesquicentennial celebration committee as representative of the Neenah Veterans of Foreign wars. The celebration will be Friday, Sept. 17. A tree will be planted at the Neenah High school and a marker erected.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Job Office Finds Employment for 154 During August

Neenah—Harry D. Gates, manager of the Neenah-Menasha Wisconsin State Employment service reported today that 154 persons were placed in private employment during the month of August.

Twenty-five of those for whom jobs were secured by the office were women and 129 were men. Gates said that there were 912 renewals of applications and reinterviews, while new applications were accepted from 104 persons.

There were 293 cancellations during the month because applicants failed to renew their applications within the required time, 30 days.

The service made 33 field visits, and there are 494 active applications on file, of which 342 are men and 152 women.

Three Speakers to Address Labor Day Picnic at Menasha

International President of Paper Mill Workers Union on Program

Menasha—Labor day in the Twin Cities will be observed with a two-day celebration under the sponsorship of the Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council. Three able speakers will speak at the Smith park here Monday morning following the parade of over 20 unions, the Menasha high school band, the Oshkosh Eagles band, and numerous floats.

John P. Burke, president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite, and Paper Mill Workers of America, will be the chief speaker. The speaking program will begin at 10:30 Monday morning with an address on "Education and Labor" by Henry Rutz, director in the school for workers in industry of the University of Wisconsin and secretary-organizer of the Wisconsin Farmer-Labor-Progressive federation. Raymond Richard, vice president of the paper mill workers union, who led the last organization drive among the mills here, will also speak. A public address system will enable all to hear the speeches in the park, according to Ervin Wheelock, secretary of the council.

The parade will start in Neenah, headed by the executive board, and will parade up North Commercial street in Neenah to Main street in Menasha and then across the Mill street bridge to the Menasha Smith park.

There will be games, races, contests and entertainment at the park during the afternoon. A dance will be held at the pavilion both Sunday and Monday evenings. On Sunday the celebration will consist of a picnic at Menasha Smith park starting at 2 o'clock.

Demand for Books in Decline Last Month

Menasha—A total of 7,225 books were issued at Elisha D. Smith library during the month of August, an average of 277 daily, according to Miss Daisy Trilling, librarian. The outdoors apparently proved more attractive to library patrons during August for the circulation fell off nearly 200 volumes from the July total and 500 from the June figure. There were 121 volumes issued on teachers' cards and 185 to out of town borrowers.

The use of the reference room also decreased during August, only 48 persons made use of its facilities. Forty-six obtained assistance in the department. The reading room was used by 1,162 persons.

There were 56 new books prepared for circulation; 289 were repaired and 48 new readers registered. Fines amounted to $11.25 during the month.

Ask City or Contractor To Pay Flagman's Wages

Neenah—The Chicago and North Western Railway company requested that either the city or the Abel and Lotz construction company defray the expense of having an additional flagman at a railway crossing on Garfield and Water streets, according to a communication received by City Clerk H. S. Zemlock this morning.

The railway company explained that since traffic is rerouted from N. Commercial street during the current pavement project to Water street it is necessary to have an additional flagman at the crossing to insure the safety of motorists.

Library Circulates 4,600 Books in August

Neenah—Patrons of the Neenah Public library borrowed 6,118 books of which 4,618 were adult books and 1,500 were children's books during the month of August, according to Miss May Hart, librarian.

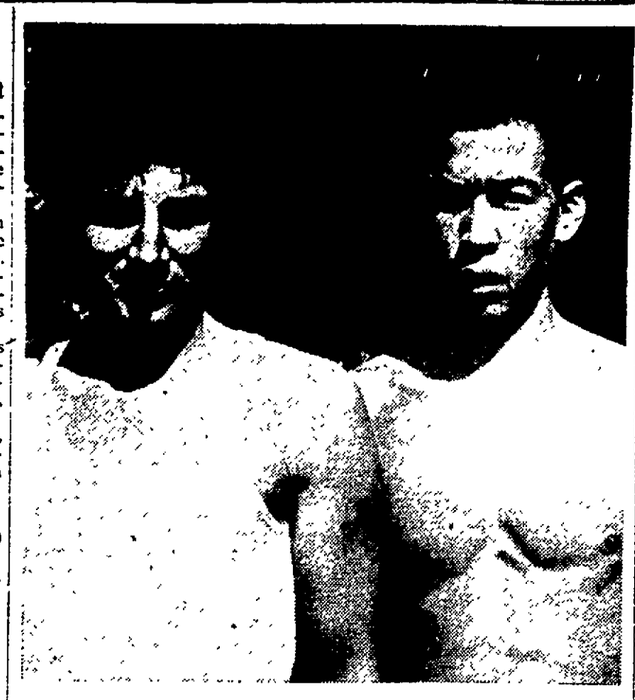

Miss Hart also reported that starting Tuesday the library would be open from 7 o'clock in the evening until 9 o'clock except on Mondays.

There were 32 new borrowers during the last month and 702 readers.

Menasha Man Is Fined On Drunkenness Charge

Neenah—Henry Pawloski, Menasha, was fined $1 and costs when he pleaded guilty of drunkenness and disorderly conduct in Justice Gaylord C. Loehning's court this morning. The defendant was arrested early this morning by police while sleeping on the porch of a home on Church street, police testified.

Dim Lights for Safety

STOCKBRIDGE TEAM IN ROWBOAT DERBY

Two aspirants for the National Rowboat Derby title are Gregor Goesor, left, and Leonard "Smoky" Hill, a full blooded Stockbridge Indian, Stockbridge. The Derby will be held in conjunction with the Lions club Labor day celebration at Lakeview park, Neenah.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Graduating nurses at Theda Clark Memorial hospital Training school were guests of honor at the dancing party at Riverview Country club Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark, E. Wisconsin avenue, entertained for them, their friends, students and alumni members of the training school and staff doctors and their wives. Climaxing the week of social activity for the graduates is the luncheon which Miss Jean D. Cruickshank, superintendent, will give at Stein's Tea room, Oshkosh, Saturday. Mrs. Clark will be honorary guest at that luncheon.

* * *

Mrs. Mads Hansen was reelected president of Our Saviour's Lutheran church Ladies Society Thursday at a meeting in the social hall. Mrs. George Weineman was named vice-president, Mrs. Olaf Schubart was reelected secretary and Mrs. Lena Christiansen was named treasurer. Plans for a general food and apron sale at the Twin City Y.W.C.A. Oct. 6 were discussed. Mrs. Mary Swenson was chosen general chairman of the sale.

* * *

Mrs. Ben Derby was chairman of the first card party of the season given Thursday evening by St. Margaret Mary guild in the social hall. Prizes in bridge were received by Mrs. Louis Lipinske, Mrs. Henry Jape; in schafskopf by George Framacheck and Edward Miller; in whist by Mrs. Peter Minten. The next party will be held Thursday, Sept. 16.

* * *

Neenah Eagle auxiliary entertained at a card party Thursday afternoon in Eagle hall with prizes in schafskopf going to Mrs. John Jagerson and Mrs. Ed Jape, in bridge to Mrs. Ed Williams and Mrs. Christine Jensen and the guest prize went to Mrs. Jape. Another party in the tournament series will be held Sept. 16.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Clark will entertain at a family reunion and twenty-fifth wedding anniversary party Saturday evening in Greenville grange. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Anderson, 112 Harrison street, will be among the guests.

Bankers Will Go To State Meeting

Anniversary of Institute Founding to be Observed at Milwaukee

Neenah—Five Neenah and Menasha bankers will take part in the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Wisconsin state chapter, American Institute of Banking, the educational section of the American Bankers association, Sept. 8 and 9 at Milwaukee.

Millard Ellinger of the Bank of Menasha, Melton Malchow, First National bank, Menasha; H. W. Hinterthuer, National Manufacturer's bank, Neenah; N. E. Greenwood, National Manufacturer's bank, Neenah, and Elmer J. Schultheis, Neenah First National bank will attend the meeting during which there will be discussions on current banking problems.

Commencement exercises of the Milwaukee chapter will be held the evening preceding the opening of the celebration in the sky room of the Plankinton house. Phil Grau, Milwaukee, will give the commencement address. His topic will be "The Great Invisible Asset."

Speakers scheduled for the 2-day convention are: G. O. Thorpe, Chippewa Falls, chairman of the Wisconsin Bankers association intercounty relations committee, who will talk on "Why Charge for Banking Service?"; R. H. Brunkhorst, Comptroller Harris Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, on "Small Bank General Accounting," and the following Milwaukee men, Stanley Bennett, secretary of the Wisconsin Bankshares corporation; Jacobus Kruyne, assistant vice president of the Marshall and Ilsley bank; Val Zillig, chief appraiser of the Home Owners Loan corporation, and Geoffrey Willoughby, business bureau manager.

BUILD SIDEWALK

Shorthand systems were used almost as soon as systems of writing appeared.

Winnebago Day School to Begin Classes Tuesday

Nursery School for Children Will be Offered This Year

Menasha—A new nursery school for children from 2 years on up, under the supervision of Miss Grace Hammes, will be opened at Winnebago Day school this year, according to Richard H. Bell, director of the school. There already are several enrolled in the nursery school, Bell said. The school is completely equipped for nursery work and Miss Hammes has had training in that line at the Milwaukee State Teachers college.

Classes at the school will open on Tuesday with a special orientation period the first week. The regular program will be resumed the second week of school. Enrolment has already surpassed that of last year, Mr. Bell stated, and the increased enrolment in the upper grades has more than offset last year's graduation. There will be more than 50 per cent boys in the school this year.

The school this year is offering daily transportation for Appleton children for the first time. Lunches for the children also will be provided.

One Change In Faculty

There has been one change in the faculty. Miss Rosalind Janet succeeding Miss Pruella Gibson. The latter is taking additional work at Columbia university. Miss Janet is a graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers college in primary work and comes here from the public schools of Sheboygan. She will teach the first and second grades.

The other members of the faculty include Richard H. Bell, director of the school and teacher of the seventh and eighth grades; Edward W. Matthes, playground director and teacher of the fifth and sixth grades; Miss Jean Howell, music and the third and fourth grades, and Miss Grace Hammes, who will have charge of the new nursery school, kindergarten and art.

Drivers Pay Fines for Lack of License Plates

Neenah — Forest Nelson, 410 Main street, was fined $8 and costs when he pleaded guilty of operating a car without proper license plates when arraigned before Justice Gaylord C. Loehning this morning. The defendant was arrested by Neenah police Thursday afternoon.

George Goetz, 104 S. Lake street, was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty of operating a truck without proper license plates when arraigned before Justice Gaylord C. Loehning Wednesday afternoon.

Indian, Partner Enter Rowboat Derby at Neenah

'Smoky' Hill on Team to Compete in 24-Mile Labor Day Grind

Neenah—A full blooded Stockbridge Indian, Leonard "Smoky" Hill, will retrace the route of his ancestors down the historic Fox river and across Lake Winnebago Labor day when he competes in the National Rowboat Derby from Winneconne to Neenah.

The Indian contestant is entered to row with Gregor Goesor. Both are from Stockbridge. It will be the Indian's first experience in the national event, but Goesor was in the second place boat in the 1936 derby.

This year's annual event will start from the bridge at Winneconne and finish at Lakeview park in Neenah. The start of the race will be at 11 o'clock in the morning, and a coast guard cutter from the Green Bay station will act as official patrol boat.

The Indian and the white man are expected to furnish strong competition for the defending champions, Ray and Cyrus Benedict. Butte des Morts, who won the $500 sweepstakes last year. The Benedict brothers were among the first to qualify for this year's contest.

The third place team in the 1936 National Rowboat derby qualified for competition in the second annual event. The team is composed of brothers Milton and Leonard Korn, Winneconne.

Instead of a sweepstakes prize this year the Korn brothers and the other 12 teams which are already entered in the 24-mile pull will be seeking split cash awards. The winners will be awarded $250 instead of $500 as last year, and the runners-up will get $100. Other prizes will be $75, $50 and $25.

In addition there will be a sprint prize of $100 to the contestants to first reach Menominee park, Oshkosh. This prize is being offered by the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce in connection with the Labor day picnic to be held at the park by the Oshkosh Trades and Labor council. Several merchandise awards will also be given for other designated sprints.

Reelect Pope Head Of E. R. A. Group

Named at Neenah Meeting To Serve Sixth Consecutive Term

Neenah — R. Gordon Pope, 400 Caroline street, was reelected to his sixth consecutive term as president of the Neenah Assembly No. 1, Equitable Reserve association, at a meeting Thursday night at the E. R. A. hall.

Other officers elected for the year are Audre Raiche, vice-president; Jerome Berendsen, advisor; A. J. Althaus, treasurer; Florence Snyder, past president, and Frank Hart, trustee for three years.

Appointive officers and the various committees for the year will be announced at the next assembly meeting which will be held Oct. 7. Installation of officers will also take place at the session.

MOTOR BURNS

Neenah — Neenah firemen extinguished a burning motor in Gustave Blank's grocery store, 306 E. Franklin street, at 9:45 last night. Little damage was done.

Banta Employes Get Certificates Showing Service

Menasha—New Employment service certificates denoting service ranging from six months to 25 years have been granted to 40 employees of the George Banta Publishing company since January 1. Eleven of the 40 received certificates denoting 10 to 25 years of service. They are:

William Zinke, Clarence Loehning, Henry Duerrwaechter, and Clarence Walker, all of Neenah; George Stilp, Marvin Hirte, Herbert Juedes, Della Sahotsky, Gilbert Stielow and Linus Pfankuch, all of Menasha, and George Neidert of New York.

Five to 10 year certificates were given to Jerry Slavik of Appleton, Ambrose Tuchscherer, Lavina Wishlinske, John Owen, and Alice Lanzer, all of Menasha; and Mark Bradford and George Von Himbergen.

Certificates of six months to five years' service were awarded to Helen Galassie, Frank Ashenbrenner, Clarence Schomer, Maurice Hickey, William Jones, John Ostrowski, Earl Nemitz, Jackson Evanstad, Helen Crawford, Edward Conway, Walter Bojarski, and Dwight Chandler, all of Menasha; Clement Nowak, Olive Thompson and George Crossman, of Neenah, and June Bohannon, Clarence Lemke, Lorna Parker, Mathilda Hansen, Regina Sylvanowicz and Erna Lickert.

Obtain Temporary Housing for School Pupils at Menasha

Several Buildings to be Used Until New Structure Is Completed

Menasha— Arrangements for housing the students of Menasha Junior and Senior high and vocational schools until the new building is ready have been announced by Supt. F. B. Younger.

The seventh and eighth grades in the junior high school will again be accommodated in the Butte des Morts and Jefferson schools until permanent quarters are ready.

All children attending the seventh and eighth grades who live east of Racine street will attend Jefferson school. All attending those grades who live west of Racine street will attend Butte des Morts school. On the Island, all seventh and eighth grade students east of and including Nassau street will attend Butte des Morts school.

Last year the city council arranged the new garage so that six excellent class rooms were available. These same quarters will be in use this fall, housing the entire vocational school, as well as home arts, woodworking, printing and mechanical drawing classes of the high school.

Other temporary quarters to be used this fall include the auditorium, kitchen and scout room at the library, Menasha club, Masonic Temple, city hall, Lutheran school, Memorial building, Nicolet gym, Brin theater for auditorium, machine shop and band room.

All high school pupils are expected to attend the opening assembly at the Brin theater Tuesday morning. There will be a short program after which pupils will go to their regular classes. Teachers will teach a full day on Tuesday.

Children in the grade schools of Menasha public schools will go directly to their school rooms Tuesday when school opens for the year, as they have done in the past. All teachers have promotion lists and the children pass to their next grade. This also applies to seventh and eighth grade pupils.

Draheims Swamp Inn Squad, 11-4

Winners to Clash With Shell Oils Tonight in City League Series

Neenah—Draheims swamped the Commercial Inns, 11 to 4, last night at Washington park in the fourth game of the double elimination series to determine the championship of the City softball league.

Batteries for the Inns were Gartzke, pitching and Handler, catching. Menning hurled for the Draheims and Haufe received.

Draheims will clash with the Shell Oils in the fifth game of the series at 6 o'clock tonight at Washington park, and the Commercial Inns will meet the Shell Oils in the final game Monday.

330 Pupils Enroll at St. Mary High School

Menasha— Preliminary registration figures at St. Mary high school indicate an increase of 40 over the enrollment of last year. Enrollment this year is about 330 students.

Because of the heat, classes were conducted only in the morning on Thursday and Friday of this week. There will be no classes on Labor Day and the regular schedule will be resumed on Tuesday, the same day that the public schools will open.

Beg Pardon

Two Pay Fines for Drunken Driving

Appleton Men Plead Guilty To Charge in Neenah Justice Court

Neenah—Two Appleton autoists were fined $100 and costs each when they pleaded guilty of drunken driving when arraigned before Justice Gaylord C. Loehning in justice court this morning.

Robert Larsen, 125 W. College avenue, Appleton, was arrested by Neenah police at 12:35 this morning on N. Commercial street. Police made the arrest after they had received a complaint that the defendant was driving his automobile in a zig-zag manner on the thoroughfare. He pleaded guilty and paid the $100 fine and costs.

Raymond Schmidt, 1123 N. Richmond street, Appleton, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and was fined $100 and costs with an alternative of 90 days in jail. He was arrested at 10:45 last night on Torrey street by police. Police testified that the defendant was driving in a zig-zag manner when arrested.

Enrolment at High School Will Pass Record This Year

641 Students Registered at Neenah And More Are Expected

Neenah—John Holzman, principal, announced today that Neenah High school will have the largest enrolment this year in its history with 641 students already having enrolled and more than 35 expected to register within the next few days.

So far there have been 189 freshmen who have signed for classes, 171 sophomores, 150 juniors and 131 seniors.

Students are instructed to go to their classes the opening day equipped with the necessary text books and other school supplies.

The school newspaper, The Cub, will be issued the opening day of school, it was announced today by the editor, Miss Jane Bishop.

Make Rapid Progress On School Building

Menasha — Recent progress on the new Menasha high school building has made school officials optimistic for an early date at which classes may be held in the new structure. Many rooms have the finished coast of plaster. Remaining partition walls are being set up on the first floor and the laying of the under flooring in several rooms has been completed. It is expected that tile layers for the corridors will be started next week.

The work on the auditorium and gymnasium has been somewhat delayed because every effort is being made to complete class rooms.

The board of education at a special meeting this week approved plans and specifications for furniture and locker equipment. They have advertised bids for this equipment asking that all bids be submitted at 2 o'clock Sept. 16.

Committee to Confer On Proposed Sewer Job

Neenah— The committee on public improvements of the city council will meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday night to decide whether sewers should be installed in a proposed residential section at the east end of the city which is to be known as Congress Place.

At the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday night at the city hall the council accepted proposed plans for the new residential area which is a plat of land surrounded by Congress street, Doty avenue, Fairview avenue and Cedar street and at the west ends of Stevens and Short streets. A boulevard will be constructed through the center of the area from Congress street to Cedar street.

The three property owners submitted a resolution following the acceptance of the plat requesting that the current sanitary sewer installation project on Stevens street be continued and that sewers be installed along the proposed boulevard.

Students Will Hold Assembly at Theater

Menasha — Plans for the ensuing year will be discussed at a general assembly of all Menasha High school students, grades 9 to 12 inclusive, at the Brin Theater at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, according to A. J. Armstrong, principal. All students are required to attend.

An assembly for the freshmen will be held immediately after the general assembly at which problems confronting the first year students will be discussed. A program of classes will be given to each student so that they will know where to attend class.

Any students who have not registered can register Saturday morning at the second floor of the post office between the hours of 8 and 12.

Woman Is Injured as Cars Crash on Street

Menasha — One person was injured in a collision here at 3:30 Thursday afternoon on Main street between automobiles driven by Frank Heroux, 224 Fourth street, Menasha, and Robert Sauer, 640 Paris street, Menasha. Mrs. Heroux suffered injuries to her head and neck and was treated at a doctor's office.

The collision occurred as both cars were going west on Main street and Heroux turned in to the curb. The rear end of the Heroux car and the bumper of the Sauer auto were damaged. Heroux and Sauer will appear at the police station tonight.

11 Women Post Scores In Qualifying Rounds

Neenah—Qualifying scores have been posted by 11 women in the annual Ridgeway Golf Club Ladies tournament. Pairings will now be made and the first round matches are to be played within 10 days according to Joe Nasolny, club pro. Breon, Oshkosh, 102; Mrs. Joseph Muench, 115; Mrs. G. N. Ducklow, 114; Mrs. Ray Lavin, 117; Mrs. A. Handeyside, 126.

Twin City Gun Club to Hold Trapshoot Event

Neenah—The Twin City Rod and Gun club will hold a trapshoot event at its range at Lake View park at 1:15 Sunday afternoon. More than 30 gunners are expected to participate in the shoot. Plans are being made for the annual trophy trapshooting event which will be held within the next two Sundays. Prizes will be offered for Sundays shoot.

Malt Beverages Not Up to Expectations In Revenue Returns

Washington—(AP)—The malt beverages that gave Milwaukee its reputation aren't holding their own it seems, from the standpoint of producing occupational tax revenue for Uncle Sam in Wisconsin.

Retail liquor dealers in that state, the treasury reported today, trundled more gold to government coffers than did the retail dealers in malt liquors after all the occupational taxes were counted.

The department said 13,489 retail liquor dealers paid an occupational tax of $25 each for the 1937 fiscal year, but only 3,471 retail malt liquor dealers paid $20 each.

The treasury got $100 or $200 each depending on their capacity, from eight rectifying plants. There were 500 brewers that paid $100 each for the right to make malt beverages. There also were 1,003 wholesale dealers in malt liquors who paid $50 each in occupational taxes.

Menasha Legion Seats Officers

C. A. Loescher Succeeds Sherman as Commander of Post

Menasha—Officers of Henry J. Lenz post of the American Legion were installed last night at the Elks' hall with Irving Sherman of Brillion acting as installing officer. Mr. Sherman is the newly elected commander of the sixth district.

Officers of the post are C. A. Loescher, commander; Harold Brand, vice commander; C. B. Anderson, adjutant, and Philip Gazecki, treasurer. Hubert Sherman is the retiring commander while Mr. Loescher served as vice commander last year. Adjutant C. B. Anderson was elected to succeed himself. Walter Dougherty is the retiring treasurer.

Refreshments were served after the business meeting.

Five representatives of Henry J. Lenz post are planning to attend the national American Legion convention at New York starting September 20. They are C. B. Anderson, Chester D. Shepard, R. T. Hill, Reuben Tuchscherer and E. J. Hill. Anderson was elected a delegate to the convention at the state meeting held in Milwaukee.

Gordon Moran, county commander of the American Legion from Omro, also attended the installation last night.

"She turned over and we grabbed whatever we could. The rigging caught me and carried me and Chief Engineer William C. McKnight about four feet under. I fought my way up and grabbed a plank.

"The others were struggling in the water. Some Negroes began singing or praying. I couldn't tell which . . .

"I held on to my plank for over an hour. Near me was Cecil Smith, another oiler (later rescued.) I told him I saw land and was going to swim for it. He said to wait, the ship would be missed and the coast guard would rescue us. But I struck out."

He came ashore and told the story that sent the coast guard cutter Triton to the scene. The survivors were picked off the wreckage to which they had clung for 36 hours.

All the missing men were Negroes.

Chinese Attack Brings War Back In Shanghai Zone

The Japanese were unable to reply effectively because the Augusta and other craft were in their range of fire.

By dusk, six Japanese naval vessels had steamed upstream from Woosung to reinforce the harried Idzumo.

The United States supply ship Gold Star ran a gauntlet of shell fire to evacuate about 100 wives and children of American marines. The ship sailed for Kobe, Japan. It was the first American refugee ship to leave since bombardment of the dollar line President Hoover Monday.

The Japanese government prepared for a long war by drafting an emergency war budget of more than $600,000,000, more than Japan spent on the last Sino-Japanese war and the Russo-Japanese war combined. It raised the war total to $762,600,000.

An emergency session of parliament will consider the budget tomorrow.

Japan moved to consolidate its control over the North China provinces of Hopeh and Chahar. At Peiping there were indications that the government of Japanese dominated Manchoukuo would be transferred to Peiping, with Emperor Kan Teh installed as ruler of the combined areas.

The Japanese navy spokesman at Shanghai charged Chinese with using mortars and field artillery to bombard Japanese-occupied Hongkew without warning, killing many Japanese civilians and wounding two consular officials. This, he said, demanded definite Japanese retribution.

Chinese asserted that their severe shelling of the Japanese was in retaliation for their destruction of the rich Pootung industrial area.

American naval and consulate authorities announced that the port of Shanghai was once again open to American shipping. Admiral Harry Yarnell and Consul General Clarence Gauss declared, however, that American commercial vessels would enter the harbor "at their own risk."

Promise Convoys

American warships, they said, would give such aid as was possible including convoy escorts in and out of the danger zone.

The blasting projectiles from both Chinese and Japanese guns and planes rocked the international settlement. It was one of the most spectacular battles of the undeclared war which has engulfed this great city of 3,500,000 persons since that fateful Friday the thirteenth four weeks ago.

The lines of both sides all around the city remained substantially the same with the Japanese army, swelled to more than 75,000 men, apparently unable to advance against the strongly prepared Chinese lines.

Moreover, the Japanese seem to realize the Chinese are much more formidable on the defense than when attacking.

CONGO VANTS FISH POLES

Washington—(AP)—From all over the world inquiries to the department of commerce for the purchase of American-made goods.

The Belgian Congo is interested in fishing poles, reels and lines for deep sea fishing; American-bred Angora goats are wanted in Colombia; bathroom scales are inquired for from Czechoslovakia; and Canada wants to purchase granulated corn husks for cleaning furs.

Dim Lights for Safety

Scotland's Weavers Bow At Last to Machine Age

Old men wagged their heads doubtfully when they heard of the new machine that could knit six garments at once. Young men were eager to see the "Patent Frame" that was to replace the old established hand types. And so, in the sixties of last century, the Industrial Revolution came to Hawick, a small Scottish Border town, nestling amid green hills.

Only in rare instance is it possible to retain the hand-made touch in machine-made goods. In the case of knitwear, because the old traditions of manufacture were deep-seated, the new machines are exactly the same in principle, so that the only effect of the machine age has been to multiply production. What was once little more than a local craft has been turned into a world-famous commodity, writes Lawrence M. Strauss in The British World.

With the new machines came the demand for a wider range of materials. Garments made from the native wool were no longer luxurious enough to satisfy the greatly increased market for these fine Scottish products. So, at the present day, the whole world is ransacked to provide the raw material for yet another sweater.

Rare luxurious Cashmere must be brought from the bleak highlands to Tibet over half a continent before it can be shipped to Scotland; fine Botany wool is brought all the way from Australia to the Braemar mills. Then comes the lengthy and intricate spinning processes to prepare these fine fleeces for the final manufacturing into knitwear.

There is greater scope for new design at the present day than ever before. Tremendous advances have been made in jacquard machinery, especially, and it is possible to make almost any kind of pattern on the newer types of machine.

DEER EAT CELERY

Ten years ago a group of sportsmen released 10 deer in bottom lands of the Kalamazoo river. Now, the celery men say, the herd has increased to 250 and is causing severe damage to their crops.

Girl Plans Her Career on Farm

She Might Pass as Chorine, But She Is to be a Farmer

Knoxville, Tenn.—(AP)— Although heckled by fellow members when she joined the Ag club, Ruth Williams, an attractive, blue-eyed blonde who might pass for a Follies chorine, still is determined to become a farmer.

Miss Williams, a junior in the University of Tennessee College of Agriculture, chuckles when she recalls how the all-male group laughed at her when she joined the club.

The slender girl from Marion, N. C., — she's the only girl enrolled in the Tennessee Agriculture College — has definite ideas about farm life.

"It's a grand feeling to stand on a hillside with your feet firm on your own land and survey neat fields, orchards and garden patches, which you have created with your own work," she says.

"I was raised on a farm; I love the country and think farming is the most interesting work I can find."

Babson Believes Oil Price Raise Was Unwise Move

Fuel Increase Invites Public Regulation, Fosters Competition

Babson Park, Mass.—There is no quicker way to destroy good-will than to boost the price of your product when it is not necessary to do so. I feel that it is time to issue a general warning against such policy. Take a vital industry such as oil for example. Oil companies may find that they made a bad mistake by boosting the price of domestic fuel oil recently. By doing so they are fostering competition from other fuels, encouraging cooperatives, and inviting public regulation.

With the recent advance, the price of fuel oil has now been lifted 27 per cent in three years. Moreover, there are rumors that the price may be increased again this season. Consumer criticism of such a move would be bitter, especially if the winter should be severe. The complaints will become even stronger as consumers realize that many oil men believe that there was no real need to lift prices. Oil companies are making more money today than ever before. New oil fields are being discovered every day. Modern drilling methods are bringing up crude from unheard of depths. A Gulf coast well recently blew in at 11,000 feet.

New oil pools are being found below pools which have already been tapped. How many "layers" of oil may lie under the earth's surface no one knows. Petroleum economists, however, feel that reserves are sufficient for many years. It is true that operating costs have been rising recently. But volume is so much greater and methods are so much more efficient than a few years back that higher costs have been largely offset. Since the early days of oil burners, the price of crude oil has fallen 35 per cent. Meanwhile fuel oil, changing its status from a by-product to one of natural demand, is only 5 per cent cheaper. During the same period electricity has dropped 37 per cent and anthracite 21 per cent.

Oil Burners Common

Twenty years ago heating homes by oil was a novelty. Today, in many communities, there are more oil heaters than coal furnaces. Since 1929 there have been about 1,000,000 oil burners sold. To the buyers of these burners, oil is a utility. Any change in the price affects them materially. The average annual domestic oil bill runs over $100 while the average electricity charge is only $36 per year. A $100 budget item makes a better target for political clap-trap than a $36 bill, especially if the $100 bill is suddenly jacked up $10 or $20! Most new burner installations are not convertible into coal or gas furnaces. Hence, householders feel they are "married" to oil.

As more and more people use oil heat, the politician's interest in oil as campaign material rises. He can charge that the industry needs regulation because it is "affected with a public interest." He can get votes, too, if the consumer thinks that lower prices will result. The politician may accuse the oil companies of selling burners directly to the public, so they could later on jack up their oil prices. The electric and gas utilities have been accused of the same procedure. The vote-getters may also charge the oil companies with keeping fuel prices low until a lot of burners were installed and then gradually squeezing the price up on consumers. So I feel that the oil companies are treading on dangerous ground.

Coal Trying Comeback

The second result of higher fuel prices will be the fostering of competition. The anthracite coal industry is making a real attempt at a come-back. The automatic stoker has given the hard-coal people a strong weapon to fight oil competition. For instance, the sale of stokers in this first half of 1937 was 65 per cent above the same per period last year, while burner sales were up only 28 per cent. Now, in addition to this good gain, the oil companies are giving stoker salesmen their best talking point: "The original installation may be a little more extensive, Mr. Jones, but have you noticed how the price of oil has been boosted lately? It has gone up twenty-five per cent in the last year or two. How I'd hate to be tied up to an oil burner!"

Then too, the artificial gas companies are right on their toes. They want to get into the home-heating field to make up for the inroad that the electric stove is making on their gas load. They have the ideal fuel. It is clean,—no smudge, no film, no soot, no ashes. It is convenient, —no tank, no coal bin. It gives even heat. But in most areas it is too costly. If it could compete with oil in price it would chase most of the oil burner people out of business. Now the oil companies are obligingly helping the gas companies! Gas heater installations will jump perpendicularly if oil prices are raised too fast.

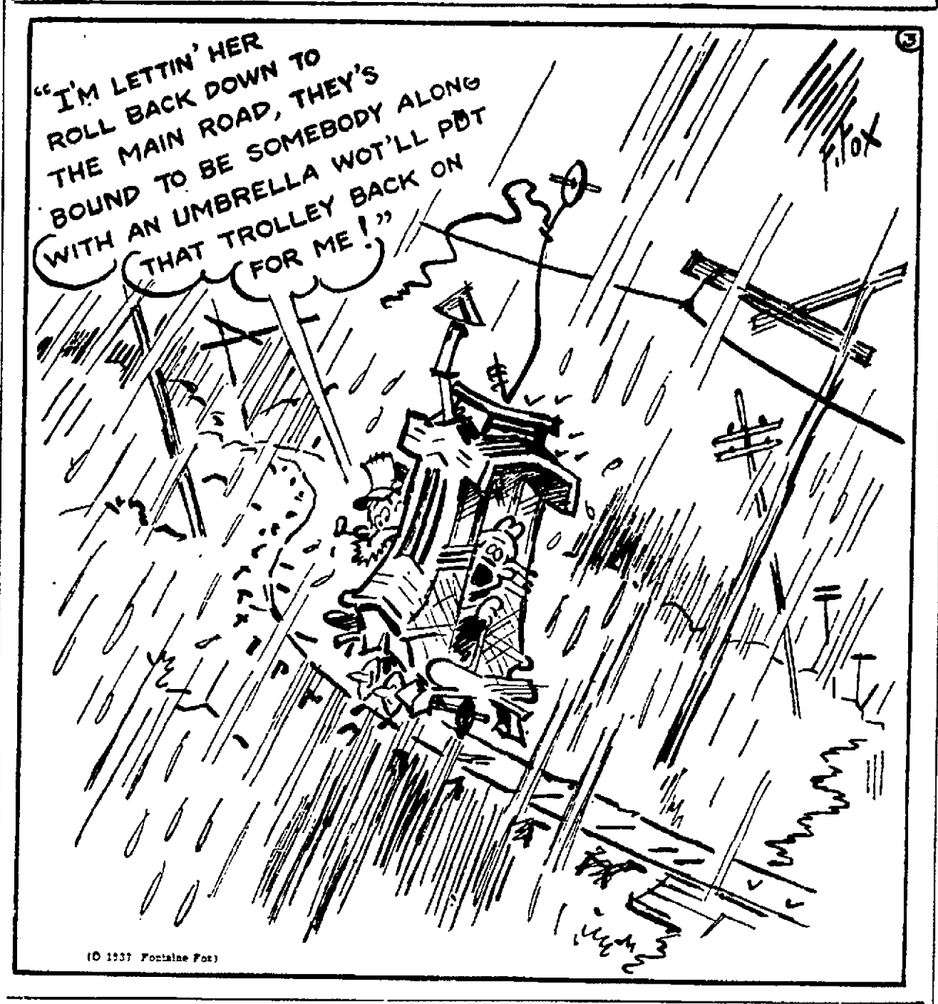

Cooperatives Will Act

Another effect of advances in the price of fuel oil will be increased activity among cooperatives. Statistics show that the American cooperatives have had better luck with gasoline and oil than any other product. If fuel oil is offered to consumers by the cooperatives on as attractive terms as gasoline, this movement should make increased headway. Wasteful competition keeps oil distributing expenses at a high level despite the huge gain in petroleum consumption. The four gasoline stations at your nearest intersection are not paid for by the oil executives. You readers pay for this ridiculous duplication in your gasoline and fuel oil prices.

I am not, however, bearish on the future of the petroleum business or its securities. In fact, I feel that oil is one of the most attractive industries for investment today. But I am afraid of the regulatory angle. Public regulation does not always add to the savings of the consumer nor to the profits of the company. There may come a time when it will be absolutely necessary for companies to boost their prices to match higher operating costs. I am thinking of an inflationary period. Oil stocks have been widely heralded as an ideal hedge against inflation. If, however, oil or gasoline is declared a "public utility," and its price fixed by a public commission, oil companies may be no safer "hedges" than railroad, telephone, or electric company stock.

Cost of Vets on Relief Is Less Than Last Year

Although two more veterans were receiving aid during August than in the corresponding month last year, the cost was about $35 less than last year, according to a report of E. E. Lutz, county service officer. There were 16 veterans receiving aid, costing $261.45 in August of 1936, while last month there were 20 costing $227.11, Lutz reported. There were two applications for hospitalization, with one on the waiting list. Thirteen veterans are hospitalized. The office report shows 87 telephone calls, 40 letters, 44 calls and 74 office callers. The service officer also traveled 1,590 miles during the month.

90 Per Cent of All Kimberly-Clark Mill Workers are Members of Union

Kimberly—The Kimberly local of the employes independent union of the Kimberly-Clark corporation held an open meeting at the village hall Wednesday evening. President Harold G. Fird gave a summary of the organization of each local of the independent union.

Mr. Fird said that the Kimberly local has a total signed membership of 780 out of a potential of 811, approximately 96 per cent. The Niagara, Wis., local has a membership of 410 out of 447 employes; the Badger Globe mill at Neenah has a membership of 407 out of a potential 440; the Lakeview mill, Neenah, has 300 members out of 385 employes. The last report from the Niagara Falls, N. Y., mill showed approximately that 1,150 employes have joined the union of 1,380 workers. The total membership in the central independent union 3,155 out of a potential membership of 3,532 or 90 per cent.

All locals are fully organized, Mr. Fird continued, having completed all nominations and elections, including permanent officers. The central union is contemplating a meeting with the management of the Kimberly-Clark corporation within the near future. The date is being left open until it is convenient for all locals to meet at Neenah to draft the final contract the union will ask of the corporation.

The Kimberly local at its meeting Wednesday evening decided to have the second Tuesday of each month as its regular meeting date. Treasurer Bernard Spaay will be in his office to collect dues on that day from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening.

A fine for delinquent members in dues for one month was considered by the committee. This issue will be discussed at three consecutive meetings before a decision is made. Membership fees are due on the second Tuesday of each month.

After the meeting Wednesday evening the executive committee gathered for the purpose of considering the routine business and grievances brought to the attention of the union.

Miss Eva Franz was reappointed librarian at a library board meeting held this week. A resolution was passed to instruct the secretary to ask the village board for $700 for library appropriation. Mrs. Oscar Ehlke and John Gerritts are on the purchasing committee.

It was agreed that magazines, newspapers and periodical subscriptions be renewed. These publications are sent to the clubhouse. The library board consist of Dr. C. G. Maes, Mrs. Oscar Ehlke, Lloyd Lang, Joseph Kuborn and John Gerritts.

County to Build Highway Garage For Seymour Area

Trucks, Plows and Grader To be Housed in New Structure

Seymour — The Outagamie highway department will build a garage on property between the railroad and the Johnson Burt Lumber Co. The building to be purchased from Tom Duffey will be of fireproof construction and will house three trucks and plows, two power graders and a caterpillar with snowplow. About 11 men will be employed on the trucks and in the garage.

The lot was deeded to the county by the city through the efforts of the local civic club. The placing of the machinery in Seymour will assure this part of the county better road maintenance, especially snow removal.

The first meeting of the Seymour Woman's club of the current year will consist of a trip to Whispering Pines at Chain-o'-Lakes, Waupaca, on Friday, Sept. 10. Further plans will be made later. The club has invited those wishing to become members to do so before Sept. 6.

Mrs. John Beamesderfer, H. P. Muehl, and Philip Muehl attended the funeral Tuesday of Mrs. Louis Sievert, who died Sunday at Waukesha. Mrs. Sievert, the aunt of the former, was the wife of the Rev. Louis Sievert, a former pastor of the Seymour Evangelical church for eight years.

Legislators to Represent State At Expositions

Five Will Go to Philadelphia for Constitution Anniversary Event

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The first of a series of trips which those who do not participate call "junkets" and which the legislators who do not participate are fond of terming journeys to "stimulate Wisconsin trade and bring new capital into the state" will be launched September 15 when a committee of five senators and assemblymen will go to Philadelphia for the sesqui-centennial celebration of the signing of the constitution.

With the sum of $1,000 granted by the legislature last session to take care of their carfare and hotel expenses, Senator Oscar Paulson of IsCrosse, A. J. Biemiller of Milwaukee, John E. Cashman of Denmark, all Progressives, and Assemblyman James T. Cavanaugh and Assemblywoman Mary Kryszak, of Milwaukee, both Democrats, will officially represent Wisconsin at the event.

While this committee will have only $1,000 to spend, legislators were less parsimonious in appropriating funds for other traveling legislative committees, giving three others $2500 apiece.

To Visit Fair

A committee of five legislators, and five citizens yet to be appointed by the governor, will do the honors for Wisconsin at the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939, while another group of five will go to the World's Fair of 1939 as representatives of the Badger commonwealth.

Legislators to go to the Golden Gate Exposition are Senators Panzer and Zimny, and Assemblyman Sigman, Young and R. W. Peterson. Five private citizens will also be chosen by the governor.

To the New York World's fair will go Senators Nelson and Rowlands, Assemblyman Grobschmidt, Murray and Tehan, while Senators Risser, and Ingram, and Assemblymen M. H. Hall, McDowell and Halvorsen will participate as Wisconsin's delegates at the Wisconsin Northwest Territory Celebration commission.

They will be aided by five citizens, already named by the governor, including Stanley Slagg of Edgerton, H. J. Levi of Stevens Point, Herbert Helble of Appleton, Nevin S. James of Oshkosh and Frank Bixby of New Richmond.

Farewell Party Given At Darboy Residence

Darboy—Mr. and Mrs. George Bloomer and the Rev. Robert Kemp, Milwaukee, were guests at the Mr. and Mrs. George Wittman home on Saturday, enroute from Antigo where they spent several days.

John Fischer, Jr., entertained a number of relatives at a farewell party for Dick and Bud Fischer, who spent the summer with him and for Miss Mary Fischer, who will leave for St. Francis convent Sept. 6. Cards were played. Guests included: Mrs. Richard Fischer and family, Mayville; Mr. Ed Fischer and family, Wrightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Schmalz and family, Mrs. Henry Schwalbach, Mrs. Hannah Fischer and daughters, Mary and Margaret.

Miss Marion Emmers, who for the last ten days has been visiting friends at Minneapolis, returned to her home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hopfensperger and daughter Patsy Ann, Neenah, moved into the Reynold Hopfensperger home Thursday.

The Misses Margaret, Hildegard, Rita and Mary Wittmann and Henry Emmers motored to Milwaukee on Sunday where they visited with friends. Edmund Schrieber who for the last two weeks was a guest at the Wittmann home accompanied them to Milwaukee, from where he will return to his home at Chicago.

Misses Margaret and Marie Dargan, Chicago, spent several days here the guests of the Misses Marie and Anna Schmit.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Simon and son Kenneth of Binghamton, N. Y., are guests at the Anton Simon home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Girsch of Chicago were guests of the Rev. E. J. Schmit and sisters, Marie and Anna, on Sunday.

SOMETHING EVERY HOSTESS SHOULD KNOW

A HALF-FULL cup of coffee left by a dinner guest is a sign of dissatisfaction, and is embarrassing to you! But you will only see a cup drained to the final drop, when you serve our Quality Cup. It goes further, too! Because you get a delicious cup full from every tablespoon!

Quality Cup is always Fresh because it is never ground until you order and then it is ground to suit your particular method of coffee making.

COME A HUMPING

TOMORROW IS THE LAST DAY TO GET FREE COAL WITH THE GENUINE ESTATE HEATROLA

OPPORTUNITY knocks at your coal bin for the last time—tomorrow. So hurry. Reserve your Estate Heatrola—get Free Coal for your foresight. 500 to 2,000 pounds of good coal* that won't cost you a penny. Just a small deposit now. Nothing more until Fall. And then your Heatrola starts paying for itself with the savings in fuel. Come in—or phone. There's still time—if you hurry.

FREE OIL, TOO

Yes, it's Free FUEL for everybody who buys a genuine Estate Heatrola in this campaign. If your choice is one of the new oil-burning heaters, you get 50 to 100 gallons of Free Oil (depending upon the model you select).

FLAME TRAIL

SYNOPSIS: Fire destroys Kay Crandon's ranch house and barn. Neighbor Josh Hastings tries to buy her ranch and court Kay, but she hates him and is determined to rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. Shooting it out, they wound each other. Hastings finds them unconscious and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl (Marion) nurses him. The gun puts Sheriff Farley on Ted's trail. Kay sees Ted and Marion together in the cabin, and later, delirious after a fall, babbles all. The sheriff breaks into Marion's cabin at dawn.

CHAPTER 34

TAKEN PRISONER

THE sheriff's eye travelled swiftly over Marion. Convinced of the truth of her statement that she hadn't a gun, he motioned her to one side

"You keep out of this now," he ordered. "I'll be wanting you to answer some questions later."

Striding past her, Zeke Farley crossed over to Ted's bunk, just as one of his posse was making a rope fast about Ted's wrists and ankles

"Thought you'd given us the slip, didn't you?" he gloated. "Well, it ain't so easy in these parts to get past the law."

Ted, who had been so rudely awakened from a sound sleep, took rapid measure of the situation. He struggled to a sitting position and faced the sheriff with steady eyes

"I don't know what this is all about," he declared. "If you're looking for murderers, the man to find is Scrap Johnson He did his best to murder me, and darn near succeeded."

"We've found him," the shreiff answered grimly, "with a bullet through his temple."

From what Ted had overheard from the first searching party that had passed the shack, he was prepared for this answer, but his expression of intense surprise couldn't have been more natural, if it had been real It was up to him, he felt, to tell a straight and convincing story of what had happened, and not complicate it by anything he had overheard

"Never from any shot of mine," Ted explained "I was taking a drink of water, and turned around to see him stealing up on me and pulling his gun. He got the drop, and my shot went wild It might have nipped him, but it never hit a bull's eye like a shot in the temple. But even if it had, it was a plain case of self defense He——"

"You can tell that at the trial." Zeke Farley broke in gruffly. "Sam Cutter'll be up here any time now, and he'll take you in charge Scrap Johnson was murdered just over the Idaho state line, so that means you'll be tried in Clear Water Basin

"You may as well know, though," he added, "that your story's full of holes The bullet that killed Scrap Johnson came from your gun. "We've got both the gun and the bullet, and the report just came in yesterday"

Ted's surprise at this statement was genuine and mixed with incredulous dismay.

"Must be some mistake there!" He caught Marion's eyes on him, with a mute warning in their brown depths, and the angry retort he was about to make died on his lips.

She was right about going slow! Anything he said now might be twisted to count against him. The only thing to do was to go peaceably, and trust justice and fairness to acquit him at the trial.

A Whispered Word

New London Grid Coach Begins Work With Green Squad

Stacy Has Few Veterans And One of Those Is Hurt in Accident

New London— With fully 50 candidates for the 1937 football squad expected to make an appearance by next week, prospects for the season looked black to Coach D. N. Stacy yesterday as only four lettermen reported for practice and the unusually warm weather interfered with the preliminary workouts. A handful of boys came out for the season's second practice last evening after a short limbering up session Wednesday afternoon.

While 50 boys have signified their intentions to report only half that number had turned in physician's certificates and parents' signatures yesterday. Equipment is being handed out only as the required records are turned in by prospective players.

Only five of last year's lettermen are back this year and three of them are backfield men Phil Clark, flashy half-back, hasn't reported at school from his vacation job yet and he received injuries in an accident yesterday which may keep him from practice too long to be ready for the season's opener with Neenah here in two weeks.

Line Will Be Light

There are actually only three seasoned lettermen around which Stacy will be required to build an entirely new team. Evan Stern was a dependable reserve guard last year but he had the opoprtunity to win his letter only because of the injury to Glock near the end of the season. He will be in the front line defense this year.

Ike Poepke, chunky halfback of last year, is the only outstanding regular to return but as Stacy says, "contrary to what most folks imagine, one man doesn't make a ball team." With Ike are Henry "Hank" McDaniel, scrappy back who acquitted himself well last fall, and Harold Hayward, rangy center. Incidentally, Hayward will rate as the heaviest man on the squad and he probably would be considered light on most lines.

Drawing further on the rather inexperienced ranks of last year's reserves bring up Francis Meinhardt, Leland Dobberstein, John Restle, Paul Knapstein and Stewart Hammerberg, all of whom will have to be worked up into regular positions. Meinhardt probably saw more action than any in the group.

What few reserves there were last year apparently will hardly fill the bill this year and opportunities for a berth on the regular string appear plentiful for many young hopefuls. More will be known after all physical permits are in and everyone has a suit to show in Ben Huzzar, a promising young lineman last year, was looked for as the best probable candidate for one berth but indications are he will not return to school this fall.

Following is the full schedule, three home games and three away: Saturday, Sept. 18, Neenah here; Friday, Sept. 24, West De Pere here; Saturday, Oct. 2, Kaukauna there; Friday, Oct. 8, Menasha here; Saturday, Oct. 16, Shawano there; Saturday, Oct. 23, Clintonville there.

New London Society

New London — Mrs. Ed Steingraber was elected president of the Dorcas society of the Methodist church at the meeting yesterday afternoon. She succeeds Mrs. Ernest Wells. Mrs. W. T. Maxted was chosen first vice president; Mrs Ernest Wells, second vice president; and Mrs. L. C. Lowell, third vice president. Mrs. G. A. Wells will succeed Mrs. Fred Rogers as treasurer and Mrs. William Dent was reelected secretary. Mrs. W. J. McKee will continue in charge of the Sunshine fund. The officers will be installed at the next meeting in two weeks.

Mrs. G. E. Lutsey, Mrs. Carrie Hooper and Mrs John Kuebler were guests of the Old Settlers club at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elwood hotel yesterday afternoon. Bridge followed and the prizes were won by Mrs. Hooper and Mrs E. C. Jost.

The Del Monte club met at the home of Mrs. August Meshke Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Herman Roloff and Mrs. John Ezzert won prizes. Mrs. Ed Kleinbrook was a guest. In two weeks Mrs. William Myers will entertain.

FRACTURES HIP

New London— Andrew Klatt, 80, route 2, New London, was admitted to Community hospital yesterday with a fractured hip. He suffered the injury when he fell at his home.

New London Office

News and circulation departments of the Appleton Post-Crescent are represented in New London by Alvin J. Brault, 103 E. Cook street. COMMITTEE MAPS LABOR DAY PROGRAM FOR NEW LONDON

New London—Above is the Labor day committee, representing New London labor organizations, who have been working out the many details of the big, second annual labor day celebration which will be held at the Hatten Memorial park Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Left to right are Walter Fredricks, in charge of parade; Arthur Warnecke, tickets and advertising; Ben Schmidt, general chairman; Edgar Wirt, secretary; and William Sohrweide, Jr., music and entertainment. Not on the picture are John Rosenberger, treasurer; Arthur Schmidt, Sohrweide's co-worker; and August Beckert, advertising solicitor.

4,700 Used Swim Pool in August

Total for Month Shows Decrease From July Record of 5,000

New London— A total of 4,715 persons used the Hatten Memorial park swimming pool during the month of August, about half that number being paid admissions, according to R. M. Shortell, city recreational director in charge.

The total is less than the 5,042 during July when more even temperatures and steadier patronage was experienced. Over 1,000 bathers have availed themselves of the pool already the first four days of this week during the unusually warm weather. A combined total of 640 was recorded in two days. Yesterday 150 girls enjoyed the pool free in the afternoon while 73 boys paid their dimes. A mixed group of 85 more were admitted last night.

Fifty-five thousand gallons of water were added to the 100,000 gallons in the pool during the month of August. Filters operated a total of 367½ hours. Chlorine in the amount of 163 75 pounds were added to the water with two pounds of copper sulphate and some soda ash and alum.

While gross receipts of more than $200 were turned over the city treasurer for the month, Shortell reported that total running expenses of the pool amount to about $300 monthly. Nearly half the cost is labor with electric power and lighting the next larger item. Coal, germicidal chemicals and other incidentals add to the figure.

Tentative plans are to work out a system of reduced overhead and running expenses next year on the experiences of this first season so the pool may be operated on a self-sustaining basis and still satisfy the needs and desires of the community.

Catholic Church Will Resume Winter Schedule

New London—The winter schedule of masses will go into effect at the Most Precious Blood Catholic church Sunday, it was announced by the Rev. Paul E. Herb. Starting Sunday, masses will be at 7:30, 9:00 and 10:30 in the morning, the first a high mass, 9 o'clock a children's mass, and the last a low mass.

The Rev. A. W. Sneesby of the Congregational church announces reopening of services after vacation during the month of August. The reopening service will be held at 8:30 Sunday morning with Sunday school at 9:30. The fall schedule will go into effect the following Sunday, Sept. 12, when the regular service will be conducted at 11 o'clock.

Women Golfers Defeat Clintonville Players

New London — The New London women golfers continued victorious in their trip to Clintonville yesterday afternoon and defeated their hosts, 7 to 6. About 14 New London women attended the tournament. The game was interrupted by heavy thunder showers which caught many players on the course early in the afternoon but play was resumed and the match was finished.

Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald earned low score for the New London ladies with a tally of 56. Mrs. G. F. Wernberg also won a prize at golf. The bridge prize was taken by Mrs. George Demming.

Library Plans Child Story Hour Saturday

New London — Children's story hour at the New London Public library will be held Saturday afternoons at 1:30 starting this week, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lucille Freiburger, assistant librarian. During vacation the hour was conducted on Thursdays. After Labor Day the children's room will be open from 3 o'clock until 5:30 each afternoon.

New London Personals

New London — Agnes Walbruck, route 3, New London, and Earl Schneider, Hortonville, submitted to operations at Community hospital yesterday.

H. M. Freeman of Battle Creek, Mich., is visiting relatives and friends in the city.

Schools, Mills Shorten Hours as Mercury Climbs

New London—"It wasn't the heat so much as the humidity" townspeople of this community repeated in explanation of yesterday's continued heat wave as the thermometer hit the maximum of 99 degrees, schools quit classes in mid-afternoon, factories shortened hours, downtown office girls were sent home early and, the younger population at least, sought relief from the 4-day affliction in record numbers at the Hatten park swimming pool while their elders chose other ways with less exertion.

The 99-degree high followed three days of continued 97-degree heat Temporary relief which appeared Tuesday and Wednesday evening disappeared as the sun regained a foothold each day. The coolest temperatures recorded at midnight by A. L. Haase, official weather observer, were 67 and 68 degrees on the respective nights.

A sprinkling of .05 inches of rain at midnight Wednesday failed to lower the mercury more than 20 degrees. Heavy thunder showers skirted the city yesterday afternoon and left the community sweltering while some neighboring towns were drenched in comforting rains.

Hot at School

The efficient ventilation system at Washington High school proved insufficient on the second day of the school term as room temperatures in the afternoon mounted over 90 degrees on the south side of the building with some rooms running much higher. Superintendent H. H. Helms ordered classes shortened to half-time and school was dismissed at 2:15, an hour earlier. The grade schools followed the example. The day crew at the American Plywood corporation was dismissed at 4 o'clock instead of 5 o'clock the past several days and workmen in some departments were excused for longer periods.

Attendance at the Hatten Memorial park swimming pool shattered the first season's records this week as 338 persons used the pool Tuesday and another 305 yesterday. Tuesday's attendance is the highest this summer, only 254 being registered on Aug. 16 when the summer's highest temperature of 101 degrees was recorded. About 200 were in the pool at one time yesterday afternoon.

The Wolf river was reported at its lowest stage of the season yesterday by observer A. L. Haase. It stood .1 foot below the zego reading on the government scale with normal low stage set at .7 feet above zero. Last year the maximum low dropped to minus .3 feet.

Holy Angels School Has Total of 104 Pupils

Darboy — Holy Angels school opened on Monday with an enrollment of 104. The upper grades, with Sister M. Thomasine in charge, have an enrollment of 36; the intermediate grades, with Sister M. Immaculata as teacher, have 28, and the primary grades, with Sister M. Alberta as teacher, have 40 enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Simon entertained at their home on Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Herman Simon and son Kenneth, Binghamton, N. Y. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. John Simon, Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. Christ Christiansen and daughter, Dorothy, and son, Walter, Neenah

Holy Angels parish will have a public bingo party on the church grounds Sunday afternoon and evening, Sept. 12.

COMPLETE FARM INSPECTIONS

Waupaca — Forty-one farmers have about completed the first inspection and measuring of farms in the Waupaca county program of soil conservation Alma Larson, Waupaca, is chairman of the county committee.

High School Athlete Injured When Horse, Automobile Collide

New London—Phil Clark, high school senior who is slated to play a stellar role in 1937 football, escaped with a pair of skinned arms yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from Andy Doyle's riding horse in a collision with a car on the north approach to Dorr street bridge about 4 o'clock. Phil expects to be kept from football practice at least a week with the opening game just two weeks away. His right arm was badly skinned on the pavement and his left arm was scratched and bruised in several places.

The unusual accident involved a car driven by James Reuss, 1003 S. Mason street, Appleton, who was accompanied by his brother, Clarence, and Boyle Murdock.

Clark was riding the horse bare back, without a bridle, north on Dorr street enroute to his father's blacksmith shop. Becoming frightened near the new Bricco oil station for no apparent reason, the horse bolted down the street and across the bridge at a gallop. Reuss was driving south towards the bridge when the horse appeared on the wrong side of the road and crashed into the right side of the car as the driver drew away from the curb.

Clark was thrown clear as horse and rider spilled Both right fenders of the car were damaged and the horse received multiple abrasions about the legs with no disastrous results. The runaway was fitted with only a halter.

Kensington Club Meets At Weyauwega Hotel

Weyauwega— With Mrs. William Nienhaus as hostess, the Kensington club of Weyauwega enjoyed a 1 o'clock luncheon at the new hotel Thursday. Covers were laid for 25. The luncheon was followed by five tables of contract.

The Matinee club met with Mrs Minnie Olson Thursday afternoon. Two tables of auction preceeded a 5 o'clock dinner. Winners at cards were Mrs. Andrew Mickeljohn, Mrs. Guy Micklejohn and Mrs. Emil Reek.

Myron Testin, who has been employed in A. R. Zuehlke's barber shop for the last five years, has accepted a position in the Midway barber shop at Waupaca and will begin work on Monday. The vacancy will be filled by Clarence Zuehlke, son of A. R. Zuehlke.

Miss Louise Knowles of Neenah opened her beauty parlor, "The Modern," over Tripp's barber shop Friday.

The "Powder Puff," conducted by Miss Sylvia Moll, formerly over Tripp's shop, has moved into the new hotel on the first floor.

A large number of friends and relatives attended the celebration of the silver wedding anniversary at Gerold's hall on Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gehrke.

Students Register for Intramural Activities

New London — Registration for membership in the Boys Intramural Athletic association at Washington High school was started yesterday with secretary - treasurer George Demming in charge of the enrolling. Registrations will close Friday, Sept. 10, activities starting with speed ball the following Monday.

FLAME TRAIL

ing up the steps and crowded into the shack.

In the confusion, while Zeke Farley was explaining the situation to the new arrivals, Marion slipped around beside Ted.

"Try to get them to leave you here a few days longer," she whispered, "and don't mention Dad whatever you do!"

She shrank back, as Sam Cutter came over toward them. He was a powerful man with a bull dog jaw and a shrewd glint in his squinted gray eyes.

He took both Ted and Marion in for a minute without speaking. Then he said, with heavy sarcasm, "I'm sorry to break up your little outing, but your boy friend will have to come along with me."

Marion flushed at his tone, and an angry oath escaped Ted in spite of his resolve to keep cool.

"But for this young lady, I'd be dead now," he declared. "She has nursed me through this crisis, and anyone who insults her will have me to reckon with later." He glared at the men crowded around him.

"He isn't strong enough to be moved yet," Marion broke in, but Sam Cutter interrupted with a hoarse laugh.

"I reckon he'll stand the trip," he jeered. "And if he doesn't, that'll save us just so much trouble." He motioned to his men to get Ted outside.

"I can ride, all right, if you'll untie my ankles," Ted protested. "You needn't worry about my trying to make a break. I'm as anxious as you are to get this thing cleared up."

"I ain't worryin' about his making a break," he remarked, "and it'll be a whole lot easier going." He turned to Zeke Farley. "Thanks for the tip about this bird. I'll try to do as much for you some day. I reckon the girl friend comes in your territory." He gave Marion a boldly admiring look, and added, facetiously, "Some guys have all the luck!"

Zeke Is More Gentle

She waited, resolved to have him break the silence. With every nerve tense, she was determined not to say anything that could be used against Ted, or that would involve her father. She was thankful that she had Zeke Farley to deal with instead of Sam Cutter, whom she put down as a bully and a brute.

"Let's hear your story, now," Zeke Farley said finally. His voice was more gentle, but none the less firm.

"There's not much to tell," Marion answered. "I came out early one morning to find Ted Gaynor crawling across the clearing delirious and apparently dying from loss of blood. How he ever got as far as this, I don't know. I got him in just before the storm broke, and naturally did what I could for him. He pulled through, but it was a narrow squeak."

"Had you known Gaynor before?" the sheriff asked.

"I never saw him in my life before," Marion answered, looking straight into Zeke Farley's eyes.

"Humph!" was his only comment, but his eyes held an unwilling admiration for Marion's straightforward manner.

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York— (AP) —Stocks pulled themselves up hand-over-hand in today's market and at the best registered recoveries of 1 to more than 3 points.

Dealings were exceptionally slow on the comeback, however, and the lack of vigor encouraged sufficient selling in the final hour to cut down top marks substantially in many cases. A few losers also were in evidence at the close.

Conspicuous on the topside the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Crucible, National Steel, American steel Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, St. Joseph Lead, Eastman Kodak, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Oliver Farm, International Harvester, Newport Industries, Canada Dry, American Telephone, Western Rubber, Marshall Field, Zenith Radio, Seaboard Oil, Phillips Petroleum.

Dividends

Milwaukee —(AP)— Directors of the Outboard, Marine and Manufacturing company elected six new vice presidents yesterday and declared a dividend of $1 a share payable Sept. 25 to stock of record Sept. 14. The dividend increases current fiscal year payments to $2.50 a share.

New vice presidents include Hugo Biersach, Milwaukee; F. T. Irgens, Milwaukee; and E. H. Millet, W. C. Clousen, J. G. Rayniak and P. A. Tanner, all of Waukegan, Ill.

Today's Market At a Glance

New York — (AP) — Stocks firm; steels lead quiet rally.

Bonds mixed; U. S. loans drag.

Chicago — Wheat easy; better Australian prospects.

Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Votes Stock Splitup

Milwaukee —(AP)—Stockholders of Cutler-Hammer, Inc., manufacturers of electrical control equipment, voted today to split the corporation's common stock two for one and to issue $2,500,000 in converitble cumulative preferred stock.

Proceeds from the preferred stock issue will be used for working capital and the repayment of $600,000 in outstanding bank loans.

The registration statement will be filed with the S. E. C. in Washingto nnext week. The rate is to be determined later, probably late this month.

Company officials siad the splitup was for the purpose of giving the stock a broader market. There are now 300,000 shares of common outstanding. It closed yesterday at 76.

Earnings

Racine—(AP)—P. H. Batten, president of the Twin Disc Clutch company, said today net income of the company for the fiscal year ending June 30 totaled $354,454, compared with $259,244 for the previous year. Earnings equaled $5.91 a share of stock.

Government Bonds are Easier in New York

New York—(AP)—After a show of early resistance, federal loans suffered in a dragging bond market today and as trading went into the final hour losses ranging as high as 8-32 of a point were numeraus.

Choice and Good Hogs are Firmer

Other Classes Steady to 10 Cents Lower in Chicago Trading

Chicago—(AP)— Choice and good hogs, weighing from 230 lbs. downward, met with a steady demand today and sold in instances a dime higher than yesterday's price.

With but 1,000 head of cattle and 500 calves received here today the market was strictly a pre-holiday cleanup. Trade was at catch-bid prices.

Spring lambs sold mostly steady and sheep about steady.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago—(AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 5,000, including 2,000 direct; uneven good and choice 230 lbs down steady to 10 cents up; good sows steady; other steady to 10 cents lower; top 11.75; bulk good and choice 180-230 lb. 11.50-75; bulk 240-300 lbs. 10.65-11.40; bulk good packing sows 9.50-90.

Wheat Prices Dip After Small Gain In Early Trading

Reports on Conditions in Australia and Argentina are Bearish

The market was narrow and trading was quiet and confined mostly to small lots. Crop news from the southern hemisphere was interpreted as being bearish. A private estimate placed Australia's probable production at around 175,000,000 bushels compared with 134,000,000 last season. Another report indicated the wheat acreage now standing in Argentina is considered in favorable condition.

Wheat closed ¼-¾ lower compared with yesterday's finish, September 1.05¼-¼, December 1.07¼-¼, and corn was ¼ down to ⅛ up, September 96-96¼, December 62⅞-63. Oats were ⅛ off to ¼ up.

CPA Meeting to be Held At Menominee Sept. 18

Notice of a meeting of the Northern Wisconsin chapter of the Wisconsin Society of Certified Public Accountants was received today by Carl J. Becher, city clerk. The meeting is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 18, at the Riverside Country club at Menominee, Mich.

Golf will precede a dinner beginning at 5:30 in the evening where the general topic will be "General Insurance Coverage." F. J. Asell, Menominee, is the program chairman. Members of the Upper Michigan Public Accountants association have been invited to attend.

362 Garments Made by WPA Workers in August

A total of 362 garments were made in the WPA sewing room at the old postoffice building during August, according to a report prepared by Mrs. H. J. Dresely, supervisor. The garments consisted of children's dresses, boys' pants and shirt and layettes. Seventeen bean bags were made for the recreational program and 54 pairs of shoes were mended.

Farmers to View Results of Seed Tests in County

University of Wisconsin Experts to Discuss Varieties and Diseases

Two cabbage demonstrations have been scheduled in Outagamie county next week, according to R. C. Swanson, county agricultural adjustment agent. Demonstrations will be given Thursday afternoon, Sept. 9, at the Outagamie county asylum farm plot, and Friday afternoon, Sept. 10, at the experimental plot on the George Lonke farm at Shiocton.

Varieties and diseases of about 50 different kinds of cabbage will be discussed and the plants in the experimental plots will be used to show seed resistance to disease. R. E. Vaughn and J. C. Walker, plant pathologists from the agricultural school at the University of Wisconsin, will conduct the discussions.

Resistance to yellows can be seen in the two experimental plots, Swanson said, because some of the rows of cabbage show the effect of yellows, while the next row is not affected. Representatives of seed companies also will be on hand to see results of the test. The seeds were first planted at the University of Wisconsin greenhouse and later were brought here for replanting.

Farmers from Brown and Waupaca counties have been invited to attend the demonstrations, the county agent said.

Register Now, Helble Advises New Students

New students at Appleton High school who have not registered should do so at once, Herbert H. Helble, principal, said today. Students who were in school last spring but are not returning should notify the high school by next Tuesday.

Present registration at the high school is 1,040, but the actual figure will probably be lower. The present figure includes those who enrolled last spring and some of them will not return.

College Avenue Curb And Gutter Finished

Installation of curb and gutter on College avenue has been completed in preparation for the resurfacing project scheduled to begin soon. WPA crews began work Thursday on Washington street removing old curb and gutter from Oneida street to Superior street.
